CLAIMANT'S OPENING BRIEF REGARDING CLAIM AND ISSUE PRECLUSION PER ORDER OF 7/7/09

I
INTRODUCTION

California Case Law On Attorney's Authority To Cash A Restricted Settlement Check & Dispose Of The Check Proceeds To Herself For her Own Use & Purposes

The California Court of Appeal, Thrd District, held in Johnson v California Department of Correction (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1700, at page 1710, that:

"Whitfield, Plaintiff's attorney, sought a Court order authorizing him to negotiate the Check on behalf of Plaintiff, deduct fees in the amount of $30,104.266, and place the remaining proceed in a client's trust account. The Court entered an order authorizing Whitfield to negotiate and endorse Plaintiff's name to the settlement draft on Plaintiff's behalf 'due to Plaintiff refusal to cooperate.' However, the Court did not permit Whitfield to withdraw his fees. Instead, the Court ordered that Whitfield was 'authorized to deposit the said settlement check into his client's trust account, until the said dispute between Plaintiff and Attorney Whitfield is resolved through arbitration or otherwise.'"

II
Issues Presented

1. Whether there is a decision of any Court in the entire State of California, be it in the form of an order or a final judgment on the merit, which authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam to cash a check, issued by the Home Insurance Company, in the amount of Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000), made payable into the "Trust Account of Ganong & Michell, as Trustees for Wale O. Osijo, in Full Payment and Final Settlement," without the Claimant's knowledge or consent, on Tuesday, July 30, 1991, in the Liquidator's Case File?

2. Whether there is a decision of any Court in the entire State of California, be it in the form of an order or a final judgment on its merits, which authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, to dispose of the proceeds of the aforementioned settlement check, to herself, for her own immediate use and purposes, on Tuesday, July 30, 1991, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent, in the Liquidator's Case File?

3. Whether there is a decision of any Court in the entire State of California, which is res judicata, or collaterally estopped the Claimant from asserting, in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding that, Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam settled his personal injury action in the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, titled: Osijo v Housing Resources Management, Inc., Prostaff Security Service, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd., Case No. C-649881, on Tuesday, July 30, 1991, without his knowledge or consent, or an express authorization on the record, in the Liquidator's Case File?

III

Standards Of Review Of Issues of Res Juridicata & Collateral Estoppel In The State Of California

a. Holding Of The United States Supreme Court On The Issue Of Collateral Estoppel

"Collateral estoppel cannot apply when a party did not have a full and fair opportunity to litigate an issue." Allen v McCurry, 499 U.S. 90, 95 (1980). Thus, the issue before this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding is whether the Claimant ever had a full and fair opportunity to litigate the issue of Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam's authority to settle of his personal injury case, in the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, without his knowledge or consent, on Tuesday, July 30, 1991?

b. Holding Of The California Supreme Court On The Issue Of Collateral Estoppel

The California Supreme Court held in Hernandez v City of Pomona (May 28, 2009) ___ Cal.4th ___ that: "Collateral estoppel precludes relitigation of issues argued and decided in prior proceedings. Traditionally, we have applied the doctrine only if several thresholds are fulfilled. First, the issue sought to be precluded from litigation must be identical to that decided in the former proceeding. Second, this issue must have been actually litigated in the former proceeding. Third, it must have been necessarily decided in the former proceeding. Fourth, the decision in the former proceeding must be final and on the merits. Finally, the party against whom preclusion is sought must be the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding. For purposes of collateral estoppel, an issue was actually litigated, if it was properly raised, submitted for determination, and determined in that proceeding. In considering whether these criteria has been met, Courts look at the entire record from the prior proceeding, including the pleadings, the evidence, the jury instructions, and the special jury finds or verdicts. The identical issue requirement addresses whether 'identical factual allegations' are at stake in the two proceedings, not whether issues or disposition are at same."

c. Holding Of The California Appellate Court The Issue That Was Actually Litigated

The California Court of Appeals, Second District, Division VII, held in Schaefer/Karpf Productions v CNA Insurance Companies (1998) 64 Cal.App.4th 1306, 1314 that: "To determine whether an issue was actually litigated, the court in the subsequent action cannot rely exclusively on the findings in the underlying action but must carefully scrutinize the pleading and proof. This scrutiny includes looking behind the findings at the evidence presented to determine what was actually decided. The party asserting collateral estoppel must prove the issue was raised, actually submitted for determination and determined and that contrary evidence on the issue was not restricted."

d. Decisions Where The Court Lacked Jurisdiction

There is a difference between a dismissal on the merit and a dismissal where the Court lacked jurisdiction. The California Court of Appeal, Second District, Division IV, held in Lockwood v Sheppard, Mullin, Richter & Hampton, et al (April 30, 2009) _____ Cal.App.4th _____, that: "A dismissal on the merit has res judicata effect (Goddard v Security Title Insurance & Guarantee Company (1939) 14 Cal.2d 47); a dismissal for lack of subject matter jurisdiction does not (Nichols v Canoga Industries, (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 956, 967). Moreover, a dismissal on the merits cannot be affirmed on appeal if the Trial Court did not have jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action; instead, the judgment of dismissal must be vacated. Chromy v Lawrence (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 1521. The dismissal of the instant action was on the merit. Hence, if Lockwood is correct that his claims should have been dismissed for lack of jurisdiction, he was prejudiced by the dismissal on the merit, and we must vacate that dismissal, and direct the Trial Court to enter a dismissal for lack of subject matter jurisdiction."

e. Restatement (Second) of Judgment, Section 28(5) (c)

The State of California and all other jurisdictions in the United States of America, subscribe to the Restatement (Second) of Judgment, 1982. Section 28(5) (b) stated that preclusion will not apply if "The party sought to be precluded was deprived of the due process of law"; Section 28(5) (c) stated that preclusion does not apply if "The party sought to be precluded, as a result of the conduct of his adversary or other special circumstances, did not have an adequate opportunity or incentive to obtain a full and fair adjudication in the initial action."

f. What Constitute A Violation of Due Process?

The United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, held in Torres-Chavez v Holder (9th Cir. June 5, 2009) ____ F.3d. ____ that a client's right to the due process of law is violated by an attorney's egregious, which threatened the fairness of the proceeding. The proper focus of the Court's inquiry is whether the proceeding was so fundamentally unfair that it prevented the client from reasonably presenting his or her claim. "To establish due process violation, the petitioner must make two showings: 1) the proceeding was so fundamentally unfair that he or she was reasonably prevented from presenting his or her claim, and 2) substantial prejudices, which is essentially a demonstration that the alleged violation affected the outcome of the proceeding." Lata v INS (9th Circuit, 2000) 204 F.3d 1241, 1246.

IV.
Statement Of The Case

A. Procedural Status

i. The Proof of Claim In this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding was filed on January 15, 2007, and assigned Claim Number: CLMN 711647. Please see the Liquidator's Case File, Page CF2. It is noteworthy that Claimant was not served with a notice, and provided with a Claim Form, by the Home Insurance Company In Liquidation.

ii. On October 29, 2008, one George Ertle, an attorney, for and on behalf of the Home Insurance Company in Liquidation, called the Claimant, with suggestions that he (Claimant) should withdraw his claim in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding, on the ground that he has exhausted his appellate rights in vain, and that the Home Insurance Company has satisfied the judgment of the personal injury action. (Please see the Liquidator's Case file, page CF 16).

iii. On October 30, 2008, Claimant responded to the foregoing requests and suggestions, that if he (Mr. Ertle) can: "(a) Produce a copy of the check or checks, issued by The Home Insurance Company to satisfy the judgment of the action, with my signature on it; or (b) produce a copy of any document, in which I authorized Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to cash the aforementioned check, and dispose of the settlement check proceeds to herself, for her own immediate use and purposes, without my knowledge or consent, or; (c) produce a copy of an Order, issued by the Alameda County Superior Court, which authorized Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to cash the settlement check and dispose of the settlement check proceeds to herself for her own use and purposes, without my knowledge or consent, or; (d) produce a copy of a lien, filed in the aforementioned personal injury action by Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, and adjudicated by the Alameda County Superior Court, in a separate and independent action, I will gladly withdraw the above entitled claim, and walk out of this claim, without looking back." There is no response to the Claimant's offer, by the Liquidator, up till today. (Please see the Liquidator's Case File, CF16).

iv. On February 28, 2009, Claimant requested that the Liquidator provide him with the following itemized documents: d) "The Liquidator's copy of any document, wherein I, Adebowale O. Osljo, as the Plaintiff in the aforementioned personal injury action, authorized Georgia Ann Mitchell to negotiate and cash on my behalf, any check, particularly the aforementioned Bank of America check, issued by the Home Insurance Companies for $250,000, in 'Full and Final Settlement of the aforementioned personal injury action"; e) The Liquidator's copy of any Order issued by the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, in the aforementioned personal injury action, which authorized Georgia Mitchell to negotiate and cash the aforementioned check, and dispose of the proceeds of the check to herself, for her own use and purposes, without my knowledge or consent"; and f) "The Liquidator's copy of any document filed as a lien by Georgia Ann Mitchell in the aforementioned personal injury action, at any time, and adjudicated by the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, in any action.” Please see a copy of this request in the Claimant’s Motion to Compel, Exhibit 2, page 2. This request remained unanswered, up till today, despite the motion to compel. Please see the Claimant’s Motion to Compel, filed on March 30, 2009, Exhibit 2.

v. The Liquidator served and filed the Notice of Decision, on March 25, 2009, wherein he denied Claimant’s claim in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding, on the ground that “Home paid $250,000 into the trust account of your then attorney,” to settle the action. (Please see the Liquidator Case File, Page CF18).

vi. The “Notice of Disputed Claim” was filed on April 8, 2009. (Please see the Liquidator’s Case File, page CF1).

vii. On May 13, 2009, the Court Appointed Referee in this matter ordered the production of very limited documents, by the Liquidator.

viii. On July 7, 2009, the Court Appointed Referee ordered briefing on the issue of whether the decision(s) of any Court in the entire State of California precludes the Claimant’s claim in this Liquidation Proceeding, with a later clarification on July 21, 2009, that the issue to be briefed is either on res judicata and/or collateral estoppel.

B. Statement of Facts

i. The Claimant is and was the Plaintiff, in the aforementioned personal injury action, filed in the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, titled: Dsijo v Housing Resources Management, Inc., Prostaff Security Service, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd., Case No. C-649881. (Please see the Liquidator’s Case File, page CF49). He sought damages for the injuries he sustained from sixteen rounds of gunshots in his lower abdomen, and lower extremities. He was shot repeatedly with high velocity rifles by assailants, who were residents, and/or friends of residents of the Acorn Apartments, a low income housing project, in the City of Oakland, Alameda County, California. The Second Amended Complaint alleged causes of action for Negligence and Conscious Disregard for Claimant’s Safety, in the course of his employment as a security guard, at Acorn Apartments. The shooting incident happened on Friday, October 7, 1988. The personal injury action was filed on April 6, 1989.

ii. Defendants Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd., owned the Acorn Apartments. They created and formed Defendant Housing Resources Management, Inc., to manage the Acorn Apartments. Housing Resources Management, Inc., hired Defendant Prostaff Security Service, Inc., to provide security guard services at Acorn Apartments. Prostaff Security Service, Inc., hired Claimant as a security guard in July or August, 1988.

iii. The Home Insurance Company insured Housing Resources Management, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd., for liabilities arising out of their ownership and management of Acorn Apartments. The Home Insurance Company hired the then law firm of Larson & Burnham to represent Housing Resources Management, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd. The law firm assigned the defense of the case to: Gregory D. Brown, David Raymond Pinelli (now deceased) and Nancy McDonald. (Please see the Liquidator's Case File, page CF25 and CF58).

iv. Claimant hired Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, on April 12, 1990, to represent him as the personal injury Plaintiff's attorney. (Please see Exhibit 7, of the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, in its entirety). Claimant was not informed by Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, as of this date, and throughout the course of the said personal injury action that the Home Insurance Company was her insurer for her malpractice and malfeasance of the said personal injury action, nor did she obtain Claimant's informed written consent. Claimant was not informed by Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, as of April 12, 1990, and at all times thereafter, that the personal injury Defendants' attorneys, the then law firm of Larson & Burnham, were her legal malpractice attorneys, hired by the Home Insurance Company.

v. On Thursday, July 25, 1991, Claimant signed a settlement agreement with the personal injury Defendants' attorneys. (Please see the Liquidator's Case File, page CF65).

vi. On Friday, July 26, 1991, and at all times thereafter, Claimant called and wrote Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, stating his wish to disavow the settlement agreement. This letter was copied to all the parties, through their attorneys of record; most important of all was David Pinelli, by certified mails. The letter stated in relevant part, on page 1, paragraph 1, last sentence, that: "I am putting a stop order on the payment of the cheque you thought you have." (Please see Exhibit 3, of Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, and the Stipulation in Lieu of Discipline of the California State Bar, pages 8 through 10, attached to the Supplement to Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure).

vii. On Monday, July 29, 1991, David Pinelli called the then law firm of Ganong & Michell, now defunct, to confirm if the settlement agreement is still on, and to arrange the delivery of the settlement check. He was told by the secretary, Ms. Judy Stover that Claimant has disavowed the settlement agreement in writing, which was copied to him (Pinelli). Thereafter, David Pinelli asked Georgia Mitchell to cash the check on her own and try to give Claimant $75,000, in cash, as part of the settlement, to "sooth and pacify" him, with the hope that this will make Claimant ratify the disavowed settlement agreement. Georgia Mitchell, in turn, sent an African-American attorney, Charles Samuel Baker, to Claimant in Fresno, California, sometime in early August, 1991, to try and persuade the Claimant into recanting his wish to disavow the settlement agreement. Charles Baker failed, and he went back, empty handed, without ever disclosing that Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam had cashed a settlement check, issued by the Home Insurance Company, to settle the personal injury action, and had disposed of the settlement proceeds to herself, for her own use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent. (Please see Exhibit 4 of the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure).

viii. On Tuesday, July 30, 1991, David Pinelli caused the followings to be hand-delivered to Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam: a) a Bank of America check, No.: 521990219, issued by the Home Insurance Companies, in the amount of $250,000, and made payable into the trust Account of Ganong & Michell, as Trustees for Wale O. Osgo, in Full Payment and Final Settlement." (Please see Exhibit 1 of the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, and the Liquidator's Case File, page CF68); b) a covering letter, authored by David Pinelli, dated July 29, 1991. (Please see Exhibit 2 of the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, in its entirety); c) a document titled: "Request for Dismissal with Prejudice"; and d) a document titled: "Full Release and Satisfaction of All Claims and Demand."

ix. The said covering letter stated in relevant part that: "Please be advised that you and Mr. Osijo are authorized to negotiate this check only after you have deposited in the U. S. Mail the fully-executed Release and Dismissal."

x. On the same day and date of delivery, Tuesday, July 30, 1991, with the ink on the settlement check hardly dry, Georgia Michell cashed the settlement check, on her own, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent, or an express authorization on the record, to effect the conclusion of the aforementioned personal injury action. (Please see Exhibit 1 of the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure). She instantly disposed of the check proceeds to herself, for her own immediate use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent, despite the Claimant's written instruction that she should not collect any money on his behalf from the personal injury Defendants' attorneys, and despite David Pinelli's written restrictions on the negotiation of the settlement check. (Please see Exhibit 2, page 1, last sentence; and Exhibit 3, of the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure).

xi. On August 15, 1991, David Pinelli filed and served the Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement on Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, as the personal injury Plaintiff's attorney, with a full knowledge, and awareness that she had settled the aforementioned personal injury action on July 30, 1991, in collaboration with him, and on his advice. Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam not only did not oppose the motion, she filed two declarations in support of the motion, without ever disclosing that she had cashed a settlement check to conclude the case, and had disposed of the check proceeds to herself and for her own use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent. (Please see the Stipulation in Lieu of Discipline, filed in the State Bar Court, pages 8 through 10, attached to the Supplement to the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure). The enforcement order did not state a word in it that Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam had settled the personal injury action on July 30, 1991. The Liquidator has failed to provide a copy of the Transcript of Hearing, to prove what was discussed and decided. (Please see the Liquidator's Case File, page CF69). The appellate decision which affirmed the enforcement order did not state a word, either that Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam had settled the personal injury action, to effect the conclusion of the case on July 30, 1991. (Please see the Liquidator's Case File, page CF71, in the entirety).

xii. Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam was terminated as the Claimant's personal injury attorney, effective September 5, 1991, when it became obvious, in the open Courtroom of the Alameda County Superior Court that she was siding with personal injury the Defendants' attorneys, and against him, the Claimant. Claimant had no knowledge that Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam had cashed a settlement check issued by the Home Insurance, to settle the case, and had disposed of the proceeds to herself, for her own use and purposes, until after he had exhausted his appellate rights, in March 1993. (Please see Exhibit 5 of the Amended Mandatory Disclosure; and page 10 of the Stipulation In Lieu of Discipline attached the Supplement to Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure).

xiii. Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam signed the Alameda County Superior Court's enforcement order, approving it as to form and content, on September 23, 1991, despite her termination as the Plaintiff's attorney, on September 5, 1991, and on the advice of David Raymond Pinelli. (Please see the Liquidator's Case File, page CF70).

V.
Arguments

- A. Where Is The Decision Of Any Court In The Entire State Of California That Authorized Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam To Cash The Settlement Check And Disposed Of The Proceeds To Herself, For Her Own Use And Purposes, Without The Claimant's Knowledge Or Consent, On July 30, 1991, From The Litany Of Decisions In The Liquidator's Case File?

The tests for the application of the doctrine of collateral estoppel are as follow:

- 1) The Issue presented is identical to the one decided in the former proceeding;
- 2) The Issue was actually litigated in the prior proceeding;
- 3) The Issue was necessarily decided in the prior proceeding;
- 4) The decision in the prior proceeding was final and on the merit; and
- 5) The person subject to preclusion was a party to the prior proceeding. Please see People v

Garcia (2006) 39 Cal.4th 1070, 1077.

For the purpose of collateral estoppel, an Issue was actually litigated in a prior proceeding, if it was properly raised, submitted for determination, and determined in that proceeding. Please see People v Sims (1982) 32 Cal.3d. 468, 484.

All the five prerequisites for the application of res judicata or collateral estoppel were not satisfied because:

- a. There is simply no decision in the Liquidator's Case File, in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding, be it in the form of an order or a judgment on the merit, issued by any Court in the entire State of California, which authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam to settle the aforementioned personal injury action on July 30, 1991, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent. She settled Claimant's personal injury action by cashing the aforementioned settlement draft on July 30, 1991, without his knowledge or consent, or an express authorization on the record, in collaboration with David Raymond Pinelli, and at a time when Claimant was disputing the validity of the purported settlement agreement. (Please see Exhibits 1 through 3 of the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure).

2. There is no decision in the Liquidator's Case File in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding, be it in the form of an order or a judgment on the merit, issued by any Court in the entire State of California, which authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to dispose of the settlement check proceeds to herself, for her own immediate use and purposes, on July 30, 1991, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent, on the advice of, and in collaboration with David Pinell, and at a time when the Claimant was disputing the validity of the purported settlement agreement. (Please see Exhibit 4 of the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure).

3. Claimant does not have any agreement with Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, either by implication or expression that granted her special power of attorney, which authorized her to execute any document on his behalf, to effect the conclusion of the aforementioned personal injury action, more specifically, checks and drafts, issued by the Home Insurance Company. Claimant did not, has not, and, will not ratify Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam's settlement of his personal injury action, in collaboration with the personal injury Defendants' attorneys. (Please see Exhibit G, of the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure; and the Liquidator's Case File, pages CF61 & CF71). The Settlement Agreement did not authorize her to cash the settlement check and dispose of the proceeds to herself, for her own use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent.

B. Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam's Egregious Conduct Of Settling The Personal Injury Action On July 30, 1991, Without The Claimant's Knowledge Or Consent Rendered The Enforcement Proceeding Fundamentally Unfair, Which Precludes The Application Of Res Juridicata & Res Juridicata

The due process of law is a federal right that is guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of The United States of America. The due process of law is also a state right in the State of California that is guaranteed by the California Constitution, Article 1, Section 7(a). Please see Blander-Tongue Laboratories, Inc. v University of Illinois Foundation 402 U.S. 313.

The United States Court of Appeal for the Ninth Circuit, held in Torres-Chavez v Holder (9th Cir. June 5, 2009) _____ F.3d. _____ that in any civil proceeding, an attorney's egregious conduct, which rendered the proceeding so fundamentally unfair, such that a party was prevented from reasonably presenting his or her case, is a due process violation.

The findings of facts and conclusion of law of The State Bar of California, is a prime facie evidence of attorney's egregious conduct, which undermined the fairness of the entire personal injury proceeding.

An attorney's settlement of an action, without an express authorization of the client on the record, is an egregious conduct, which prejudiced the client's rights in the proceeding, and violates the client's to the due process of law. Please see Johnson v California Department of Corrections (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1700, 1710

Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam stipulated with The State Bar of California, based on the Claimant's complaint that she did not oppose the personal injury Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement, which is a conflict of interest, in violation of the California Rules of Professional Conduct, Rule 3-310(a). She not only did not oppose the Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement, she filed two declarations in support of the motion. She even went to the California Court of Appeals, First District, Division II, to challenge Claimant's appeal of the enforcement order, purporting to file a Friend of the Court brief. (Please see the Stipulation in Lieu of Discipline, pages 8 through 10, attached to the Supplement to the Amended Claimant's Amended Mandatory Disclosure).

Furthermore, she signed the Order Enforcing Settlement Agreement, approving it as to form and content, on July 23, 1991, with a full knowledge and awareness that she had been terminated as the Claimant's attorney on September 5, 1991. (Please see the Liquidator's Case File, page CF70).

Claimant was prejudiced by the outcome of the personal injury Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement because, it was not disclosed to the Claimant that Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-

Langsam has settled the personal injury action on July 30, 1991, until after the Supreme Court had denied the Petition for Review, in October 1992. A disclosure to the Claimant, the Trial Court, Appellate Court and the California Supreme Court that Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam had settled the personal injury action, on July 30, 1991, will make a difference. Claimant was irreparably prejudice, and prevented from defending the Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement.

The Liquidator argued at the hearing of Claimant's Motion to Compel Responses to Interrogatories and Production of Documents, held on May 13, 2009, that all that is required to satisfy the due process requirement is a notice. So, where is the entire record of the personal injury Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement, in the Liquidator's Case File? The burden is on the Liquidator to provide a copy of the entire case file, to prove that it met the minimum notice requirement. The Liquidator has not satisfied the requirements for the application of res judicata or collateral estoppel, in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding.

The law in the State of California is that to determine whether an issue was actually litigated, "The Court in the subsequent action cannot rely exclusively on the findings in the underlying action but must carefully scrutinize the pleading and proof. This scrutiny includes looking behind the findings at the evidence presented to determine what was actually decided. The party asserting collateral estoppel must prove the issue was raised, actually submitted for determination and determined and that contrary evidence on the issue was not restricted." Please Schofer/Karpf Productions v CAN Insurance Company (1998) 64 Cal.App.4th 1306, 1314

There is still no decision of any Court, in the entire State of California, be it in the form of an order or a final judgment on its merit, which authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to cash the aforementioned check, and disposed of the check proceeds to herself, for her own use and purposes, on July 30, 1991, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent, come to talk of satisfying the minimum notice requirement of the due process of law that is guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of The United States of America, and the California Constitution, Article 1, Section 7(a). Please see Ross v Red (2005) 130 Cal.App.4th 870.

C. Decision Of A Court In Want Of Subject Matter Jurisdiction Has No Res Juridicata Or Collateral Estoppel Effect.

On June 11, 2003, the Superior Court In the State of New Hampshire, Merrimack County, issued an order, which abates all pending lawsuits against the Home Insurance Company, its insureds and the Liquidator, in any and all Courts In The United States of America, in favor of such proceedings to be adjudicated In this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding, in the State of New Hampshire, Merrimack County Superior Court. Please see The Matter of the Rehabilitation of The Home Insurance Company, Case No.: 03-E-0106.

Thus, effective July 11, 2003, the Merrimack County Superior Court's order, simply and practically stripped all Courts in the United States of America, of subject matter jurisdiction to hear and adjudicate any lawsuit against the Home Insurance Company, Risk Enterprise Management, Inc., Insureds of the Home Insurance and the Liquidator.

The dismissal of an action for lack of subject matter jurisdiction is not res juridicata. Please see Lockwood v Sheppard, Mullin, Richter & Hampton, et al (2009) _____ Cal.App.4th _____ and Nichols v Canoga Industries (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 956, 967.

The subject matter jurisdiction of any Court In the State of California cannot be conferred by the parties' consent, or by waiver. The parties can raise the Court's lack of subject matter jurisdiction, anywhere, and at any time, including the appellate proceedings, and this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding. Please see Lockwood v Sheppard, Mullin, Richter & Hampton, et al (2009) _____ Cal.App.4th _____

Claimant's actions against the Home Insurance Company, Risk Enterprise Management, Inc., and Roger Sevigney, the Liquidator, in the Superior Court of California, Fresno County, were dismissed by the California Court of Appeals, Fifth District, for want of subject matter jurisdiction based on the aforementioned Merrimack County Superior Court's order. (Please see the Liquidator's Claim File, pages CF104 to CF144). Thus, these decisions have no res judicata or collateral estoppel effect.

If the California Court of Appeal, Fifth District, ruled in 2004 and 2006 that, California Courts have no subject matter jurisdiction to hear and decide any issue against the Home Insurance and its Insured, based on the aforementioned Merrimack County Superior Court's order, where did the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, and California Court of Appeal, First District, Division II, obtain their subject matter jurisdiction to rule on the Claimant's Motion to Set Aside Judgment, and affirm the Trial Court's decision on appeal, in 2007 and 2008, respectively? (Please see the Liquidator's Case File, pages CF145 to 163).

These Courts have no subject matter jurisdiction to decide any claim against the Home Insurance and its Insureds, namely: Housing Resources Management, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd and Acorn II, Ltd, effective June 11, 2003, based on comity. A decision based on the merits, when the Court is in want of subject-matter jurisdiction is of no consequence, and prejudicial. Please see Chromy v Lawrence (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 1521. It has no res judicata or collateral estoppel effect. Moreover the decisions did not authorize Georgia Michell to settle Claimant's personal injury action, on July 30, 1991.

Finally, the United States Supreme Court held in Blonder-Tongue v University of Illinois Foundation (1971) 402 U.S. 313, 333, and Parklane Hosiery Company v Shaw (1979) 439 U.S. 322, 331 that, res judicata and collateral estoppel are inapplicable, when the procedure employed in the two actions between the same parties are not the same, more so where it gave the party asserting res judicata and collateral estoppel a procedural advantage. The action in the Superior Court of California, Alameda County is and was for personal injury. The action in the Superior Court of California, Contra Costa County, is and was for legal malpractice. Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam was not a party in the personal injury action. She was in fact terminated as the Claimant's attorney. Personal injury action and legal malpractice action, require different facts and procedures. More importantly, Contra Costa County Superior Court is not even the forum court for the personal injury action.

The decisions of the Superior Court of California, Contra Costa County, and the California Court of Appeal, First District, Division V, did not, and cannot authorize Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to settle the personal injury action on July 30, 1991, because Contra Costa County Superior Court is not the forum court, with an exclusive subject matter jurisdiction over the aforementioned personal injury action. (Please see the Liquidator's Case File, pages CF81 through CF96).

There is still no decision, issued by any court in the entire State of California, which authorized Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to cash a check issued by the Home Insurance Company, in the amount of $250,000, and made payable into the Trust Account of Ganong & Mitchell, as Trustees for Wale O. Osijo, in full payment and final settlement of the personal injury action, on Tuesday, July 30, 1991. There is still no decision, issued by any court in the entire State of California, which authorized Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to dispose of the proceeds of settlement check to herself, for her own use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent.

D. The Restatement (Second) of Judgment (1982), Sections 28(5)(c) Provides That Res Juridicata & Collateral Estoppel Are Inapplicable When There Is A Due Process Violation & When The Conduct of The Adversaries Prevented A Party From Obtaining A Full & Fair Proceeding.

The State of California subscribes to the Restatement 2nd of Judgment, (1982). Please see California Supreme Court's holding in People v Barragan (2004) 32 Cal.4th 236, 253, and Lucido v Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d. 335,341.

The Restatement 2nd of Judgment, Section 28(5) (c), states that issue preclusion does not apply if "The party sought to be precluded, as a result of the conduct of his adversary or other special circumstances did not have an adequate opportunity or incentive to obtain a full and fair adjudication in the initial action." Specifically, there are various factors which should enter into a determination of whether a party has had his day in Court. Please see Smith v ExxonMobil Oil Corporation (2007) 153 Cal.App.4th 1407.

It is a tradition in the insurance industries, and a common knowledge in the State of California that insurance companies' checks issued to pay judgments and settlements, are never issued into the trust account of an attorney, without an express authorization of the client on the record. Their checks are issued in the names of the client and the attorney, for joint negotiation. The purpose is to make it impossible for either the client or the attorney to cash the check, without each other, and to avoid the possibility of prejudice to either party in the action, at the peril of the insurer.

The law in the State of California is that an attorney must ask for the Court's permission, before he or she can cash a settlement check, in the absence of the client's consent. A Court cannot make such a decision, without a notice to the client by the attorney. Please see Johnson v California Department of Corrections (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1700, 1710.

In this case, the Home Insurance Company issued its check, on July 26, 1991, made payable into the "Trust Account of Ganong & Mitchell, as Trustees for Wale O. Oslgo, in Full Payment and Final Settlement" of the aforementioned personal injury action." (Please see Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, Exhibit 1) Thereafter, David Pinelli authored a covering letter on July 29, 1991, which reads in relevant part that: "Please be advised that only you and Mr. Osijo are authorized to negotiate this check, only after you have deposited in the U. S. Mail the fully-executed Release and Dismissal." (Please see Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, Exhibit 2, page 1, last sentence.)

So, where is a copy of the "Full Release & Satisfaction of All Claims & Demand," with Mr. Osijo's executing signature on it, in the Liquidator's Case File?

So, where is Mr. Osijo's authorizing signature on the settlement check, in the Liquidator's Case File, per the instructions of David Pinelli, in the aforementioned covering letter of July 29, 1991? (Please see the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, Exhibit 1 and Liquidator's Case File, page CF68).

"A nigger will accept $50,000 in cash, before he will ever accept a $2.5 million check," from the movie, "Made in America," by Don King. It was the personal Injury Defendants' attorney David Pinelli who collaborated with, and advised the personal Injury Plaintiff's attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, to cash the settlement check, so that she can have $75,000, in cash to give the Claimant, as part of the settlement, with the hope that Claimant will be gullible to the large amount of cash. Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, in turn sent an African American attorney, Charles Samuel Baker to deliver the cash to Claimant in Fresno, California. If Claimant had collected the cash, without asking for the source, they would have claimed that Claimant waived his rights to challenge the validity of the settlement agreement. (Please see the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, Exhibit 4, in its entirety).

When this strategy did not work, they (Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam and David Raymond Pinelli), motioned the Alameda County Superior Court to enforce the settlement agreement, on August 15, 1991, without ever disclosing to the Claimant and the Court that the case had been settled by Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam on Tuesday, July 30, 1991. They did not disclose in the subsequent appellate proceeding that Georgia Michell had settled the personal Injury action. She did not even disclose in her purported "Petition to File Amicus Curia Brief," in support of the personal Injury Defendants that she had settled the personal Injury action on July 30, 1991. (Please see Supplement to Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, Exhibit 1, pages 8 through 10).

"The horse goes before the cart." A decision must come before Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam can do anything with the settlement check, not after she had squandered the moneys to herself, for her own use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent, to avoid prejudice to either party. Please see Johnson v California Department of Correction (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1700, 1710. Where is the decision issued on or before July 30, 1991, in the Liquidator's Case File?

VI. Conclusion

This Court has now asked for any order or judgment on the merit, which is res judicata, or collaterally estopped the Claimant from asserting, in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding that, Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, settled his personal Injury action, on Tuesday, July 30, 1991 without his knowledge or consent, or an express authorization on the record, and in collaboration with the personal Injury Defendants' attorney, David Raymond Pinelli.

Claimant has asked for the same thing from the Liquidator, before the Notice of Decision was issued, on March 25, 2009. He even motioned this Court to compel the Liquidator to provide this document, if it exists. He has offered to walk away from this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding, without looking back, if the Liquidator can produce a copy of an order or a judgment on the merit, which authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to cash the settlement check, and dispose of the proceeds of settlement to herself, for her own use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent.

In his response to the Claimant's Motion for Clarification of the Referee's July 7th Order, the Liquidator simply referred Claimant to the "Liquidator's Consolidated Responses to Claimant's Motions to Compel and for Production of Documents," for the order that authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to settle the aforementioned personal injury action

Well, where is the decision of any Court in the entire State of California, be it in the form of an order or a judgment on its merits, which authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to settle Claimant's personal injury action in the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, on July 30, 1991, from the litany of decisions in the Liquidator's Case File? Where is it?

LIQUIDATOR'S SECTION 15 SUBMISSION

Roger A. Sevigny, Insurance Commissioner, as Liquidator ("Liquidator") of The Home Insurance Company ("Home"), submits this brief pursuant to Section 15 of the Restated and Revised Order Establishing Procedures Regarding Claims Filed With The Home Insurance Company In Liquidation entered January 19, 2005 ("Claims Procedures Order") and in accordance with the Structuring Conference Order issued July 7, 2009.

In this matter, Adebowale O. Osijo, MBA ("Claimant") seeks to recover damages for personal injury from a shooting in 1988. Claimant filed a lawsuit against Home's insured Housing Resources Management ("HRM") in 1989, and that action was settled in July 1991 with Home paying the $250,000 settlement sum. Claimant essentially seeks to reject the settlement and litigate the personal injury action as a third-party claim in the Home liquidation. However, the California courts have twice rejected Claimant's attempts to avoid the settlement, once by enforcing the settlement and later by denying Claimant's attempt to vacate that order. These decisions, and the appellate decisions affirming them, preclude Claimant from proceeding against Home. The enforceability of the settlement has already been exhaustively litigated by the Claimant in the California courts. Claimant cannot raise new challenges to the settlement now, whether or not the specific basis for the challenge has been previously raised.

A. Issue to be decided

Whether decisions of the California courts preclude Claimant's third-party claim in the Home liquidation proceeding under the Home policy issued to HRM.

Background

This disputed claim proceeding arises from the Liquidator's determination of the Claimant's third-party claim in the Home liquidation. The Claimant seeks to recover for bodily injury he suffered allegedly because of the negligence of Home's insured Housing Resources Management, Inc. ("HRM"). The Claimant brought a personal injury action against HRM entitled Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., et al., No. C649881 (Superior Court of California, Alameda County) (the "HRM Action"). See Exhibits E and F (complaint and answer).

Claimant now seeks to assert a "third party" claim pursuant to RSA 402-C:40, I, against Home as insurer of the alleged tortfeasor. Home insured HRM under a policy issued to National Investment Development Corporation. See Exhibit D (policy) at pg. 4 (named insured endorsement). The Claimant's proof of claim ("POC", Exhibit A), states that his claim is a third party claim (item 5) for personal injury (Item 10) and provides the conditional release of Home's insured HRM (Item 14) required of third-party claimants. The injuries at issue are those underlying the HRM Action. See Exhibit A (POC attachment (Proposed Second Amended Complaint in Equity) ¶ 1 and pg. 6).

The HRM Action was settled in July, 1991, and Home paid $250,000 under the IIRM policy to the trust account of Claimant's then attorney. See Exhibit A (POC attachment, ¶¶ 1-2, 7); Exhibit H (cancelled check). The Settlement Agreement signed by Claimant released Home's insured HRM. Exhibit G.

Although the Claimant signed the settlement agreement at a mediation on July 25, 1991, he immediately became dissatisfied, and he has challenged the settlement repeatedly since 1991. As he states, he "has and had obdurately refused to accept the purported 'Voluntary Settlement Agreement,' as valid since July 25, 1991, and until eternity." Exhibit A (POC attachment, ¶ 4) (emphasis in original).

The Defendants in the HRM Action moved to enforce the settlement. The motion was heard on September 5, 1991, Claimant presented oral argument, but the court granted the motion for enforcement of the settlement. A copy of the Alameda Superior Court's order dated October 10, 1991 is attached as Exhibit I. Claimant appealed from the enforcement order, and the California Court of Appeal affirmed the enforcement order in a decision dated July 16, 1992. Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., No. A055045 (Exhibit J), review denied, No. S028364 (Cal. Sept. 30, 1992). The Alameda County Superior Court entered a final judgment "enforcing the settlement provisions set forth in the settlement agreement" on November 3, 1992. Exhibit K. Those provisions included release and dismissal with prejudice of the defendants, including HRM. Exhibit G, ¶ 1.

Subsequently, Claimant brought suit against various other persons (including his attorney and Home) and litigated with them over various aspects of the settlement. This litigation resulted in at least four decisions by the California Court of Appeal: Osijo v. Ganong and Michell, No. A098661 (Cal. Ct. App. April 12, 1996); Osijo v. Ganong and Michell, No. A077882 (Cal. Ct. App. February 2, 1998); Osijo v. The Home Insurance Company, F042329 (Cal Ct. App. September 7, 2004); and Osijo v. Sevigny, No. F049063 (Cal. Ct. App. December 12, 2006). Exhibits L, M, N and O. This litigation is summarized in the later decision discussed below. See Exhibit O at 2-5.

On May 18, 2007, Claimant again sought to reopen the settlement by filing a Motion to Set Aside Enforcement Order and to Nullify Settlement Agreement in the IIRM action. Exhibit P. The Alameda County Superior Court denied the motion on June 21, 2007. Exhibit Z. Claimant appealed, and on July 8, 2008, the California Court of Appeal affirmed the denial of the motion. Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., No. A118833 (Exhibit R), review denied, No. S165837 (Cal. Sept. 17, 2008), cert. denied, 129 S. Ct. 1341 (U.S. Feb. 23, 2009).

As the California courts have enforced the settlement between Claimant and Home's insured IIRM, the Liquidator determined in the Notice of Determination that Claimant has no third-party claim under the IIRM policy in the Home liquidation. See Exhibit C (Notice of Determination).

ARGUMENT

Claimant's claim was properly denied because Home's insured HRM has no liability to Claimant where the HRM Action was settled in 1991. Any Home obligation to Claimant depends upon HRM's liability to Claimant.¹ The 1991 settlement of the HRM Action accordingly eliminated any third party claim the Claimant might later assert against Home. Claimant seeks to avoid this result by arguing that the settlement is invalid. However, he has already attempted to have the settlement set aside in the California courts, and the preclusive effect of the California decisions enforcing the settlement and denying Claimant's motion to vacate the settlement prevents Claimant from challenging the settlement in this proceeding.

I. THE THIRD PARTY CLAIM IS PRECLUDED BY THE RES JUDICATA EFFECT OF THE JUDGMENT IN THE HRM ACTION.

The disputed issue in this matter is whether the Claimant can disregard the fully performed settlement and reopen his claim against HRM as a claim against Home. The doctrine of res judicata prevents this. The judgment enforcing the settlement agreement resolved the HRM Action, and Claimant cannot now reassert his claim against HRM in the Home liquidation.

"Res judicata" describes the preclusive effect of a final judgment on the merits. Res judicata, or claim preclusion, prevents relitigation of the same cause of action in a second suit between the same parties or parties in privity with them." Mycogen Corp. v. Monsanto Co., 51 P.3d 297, 301 (Cal. 2002). "Under the doctrine of res judicata, if a plaintiff prevails in an action, the cause is merged into the judgment and may not be asserted in a subsequent lawsuit; a judgment for the defendant serves as a bar to further litigation of the same cause of action." Id. at 301-02. "The California Supreme Court has defined the doctrine of claim preclusion as follows: "a final judgment, rendered upon the merits by a court having jurisdiction of the cause, is conclusive of the rights of the parties and those in privity with them, and is a complete bar to new suit between them on the same cause of action.'" Burdette v. Carrier Corp., 71 Cal. Rptr. 3d 185, 195 (Cal. Ct. App. 2008) (quoting Godard v. Security Title Ins. & Guar. Co., 92 P.2d 804 (Cal. 1939)). Each of the elements for res judicata is present in this matter.²

First, the 1992 judgment of the Alameda County Superior Court (Exhibit K) enforcing the settlement is final. The judgment was preceded by Claimant's appeal of the enforcement order to the California Court of Appeal, which affirmed the order, and to the California Supreme Court, which denied review. Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., No. A055045 (Cal. Ct. App. First Dist. Jul. 16, 1992) (Exhibit J), review denied, No. S028364 (Cal. Sept. 30, 1992).³ The Claimant sought to reopen the judgment by motion in 2007, but the Alameda Court Superior Court denied the motion. The California Court of Appeal affirmed in an extensive decision, and the California Supreme Court and the United States Supreme Court denied review. Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., No. A118833 (Cal. Ct. App. First Dist. Jul. 8, 2008) (Exhibit R), review denied, No. S165837 (Cal. Sept. 17, 2008), cert. denied, 129 S. Ct. 1341 (U.S. Feb. 23, 2009). Accordingly the 1991 judgment is final.⁴

Second, the judgment is on the merits. It resolved the Claimant's tort claim against HRM by enforcing the settlement between Claimant and HRM. The substance of the HRM Action was thus determined. There need not be a trial for a judgment to be on the merits. See Consumer

² The law of California governs the preclusive effect of the California judgments in New Hampshire. See In re Estate of Rubert, 139 N.H. 273, 275 (1994).

³ The appellate decisions in these matters are unpublished. However, the Liquidator properly may rely on them for purposes of establishing preclusion. See Cal. Rules of Court, Rule 8.1115(b) (formerly Rule 977) ("An unpublished opinion may be cited or relied on: (1) When the opinion is relevant under the doctrines of law of the case, res judicata, or collateral estoppel; . . .").

Advocacy Group, Inc. v. Exxon Mobil Corp., 86 Cal.Rptr.3d 39, 54 (Cal. Ct. App. 2008) (“A judgment entered by consent or stipulation is as conclusive a bar as a judgment rendered after trial.”) (punctuation omitted) (quoting 4 Witkin, CAL. PROCEDURE (2d ed. 1971) Judgment § 170 at 3312).

Third, the parties to the HRM Action and the third party claim in the Home liquidation are the same or in privity. “In order for res judicata to apply, the party against whom the defense is asserted must have been a party or was in privity with a party to the prior adjudication.” Consumer Advocacy Group, 86 Cal.Rptr.3d at 51. Claimant is party to both matters. Since the validity of Claimants’ third party claim against Home depends upon Claimant’s claim against HRM, Home may assert any defenses HRM would have, such as the judgment enforcing the settlement.

Fourth, the cause of action asserted in the HRM Action and in the Claimant’s third party claim are the same. “To define a cause of action, California follows the primary right theory.” Consumer Advocacy Group, 86 Cal.Rptr.3d at 48. The primary right theory looks to the “‘primary right’ of the plaintiff, a corresponding ‘primary duty’ of the defendant, and a wrongful act by the defendant constituting a breach of that duty.” Mycogen Corp., 51 P.3d at 306. Under the primary right theory, “the ‘cause of action’ is based upon the harm suffered, as opposed to the particular theory asserted by the litigant” and “[e]ven when there are multiple legal theories upon which recovery might be predicated, one injury gives rise to only one claim for relief.” Slater v. Blackwood, 543 P.2d 593, 594-95 (Cal. 1975). Thus, the right to be free from personal injury is a ‘primary right’ and “there is but one cause of action for one personal injury which is incurred by reason of one wrongful act.” Id. (quotation omitted). Here, the HRM Action was based on Claimant’s “primary right” to be free of personal injury in the 1988 shooting incident, Home's insured's alleged duty to prevent injury and the alleged breach of that duty, which resulted in one cause of action for his injuries. The third party claim is based on the same primary right, so the cause of action in the HRM Action and the present POC are the same. Compare Exhibit E (the second amended complaint in the HRM action) and Exhibit A (the POC).

The requirements for res judicata are satisfied. The judgment in the HRM Action is a final judgment on the merits that resolves the same cause of action between the same parties as is asserted in the third party claim. The Liquidator thus properly denied Claimant's third party claim.

II. CLAIMANT'S CHALLENGE TO THE SETTLEMENT IS PRECLUDED BY THE RES JUDICATA AND COLLATERAL ESTOPPEL EFFECT OF THE JUDGMENT IN THE HRM ACTION.

Claimant appears to contend that he should be able to set aside the settlement because of his attorney's misconduct, in particular her alleged unauthorized action in cashing the settlement check on July 30, 1991. See Claimant Br. at 3, 12-16, 18; Exhibit A (POC attachment at 1 (Proposed Second Amended Complaint in Equity, First Cause of Action seeking to "Nullify Settlement Agreement & Set Aside Enforcement Order Based on Wholly Unauthorized Acts of Attorney")). These challenges are precluded by the California decisions rejecting his earlier challenges to the settlement. Even if Claimant's third party claim itself were not precluded by the judgment as set forth above, the judgment precludes him from attacking the settlement, whether based on new or previously advanced arguments. Under the California decisions, the settlement is valid and thus prevents assertion of a claim against Home based on HRM's alleged liability.

As an initial matter, the Liquidator notes that Claimant's argument presents an irrelevant point. Whether or not Claimant's counsel had authority to cash the settlement check on July 30, 1991, the settlement was in fact subsequently enforced by the California courts. Since the settlement was enforced, the question of authority at the time when counsel allegedly cashed the check does not matter. The settlement proceeds were properly received by counsel and subject to distribution under the agreement between Claimant and counsel. Claimant has also received his portion of the settlement.⁵

A. Res Judicata Bars New Attacks On The 1991 Settlement.

As described in Part I, there are two decisions in the HIRM Action itself that enforce the settlement and refuse to vacate the enforcement order. First, the Alameda County Superior Court enforced the settlement – over Claimant's objections – and that decision was affirmed by the California Court of Appeal. Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., No. A055045 (Cal. Ct. App. First Dist. Jul. 16, 1992) (Exhibit J), review denied, No. S028364 (Cal. Sept. 30, 1992). Second, Claimant filed a motion to set aside the enforcement order and nullify the settlement agreement, which the Alameda County Superior Court denied; the Court of Appeal affirmed on July 8, 2008, and both the California Supreme Court and the United States Supreme Court denied review. Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., No. A118833 (Cal. Ct. App. First Dist. Jul. 8, 2008) (Exhibit R), review denied, No. S165837 (Cal. Sept. 17, 2008), cert. denied, 129 S. Ct. 1341 (U.S. Feb. 23, 2009). The Court of Appeal noted that “[t]he parties have fully performed under the terms of the settlement agreement,” and it concluded that “[i]t would be unjust and inequitable to allow appellant [the Claimant] to unwind more than a decade of decisions in the circumstances presented by this case.” Id. at 13.

The judgment satisfies the requirements for res judicata as described in Part I. It is a final judgment, and the party against which it is to be enforced – the Claimant – was a party to both the IIRM Action and this proceeding. The judgment is also clearly a judgment “on the merits” of the settlement as it provides that the settlement shall be enforced. Exhibit K.

Finally, the judgment is on the same cause of action or “primary right” as Claimant’s present attempt to undo the settlement through the proof of claim. See Exhibit A (POC, proposed second amended complaint). The alleged invalidity of the settlement is a “primary right” addressed by the judgment. See Exhibit K. The judgment enforced the very settlement that Claimant now seeks to nullify.

The Claimant seeks to present as new his argument that the settlement is invalid due to his counsel’s allegedly unauthorized cashing of the settlement check on July 30, 1991. Assuming that were the case (which it is not since the settlement was enforced), the argument is still barred. Res judicata applies even where arguments that are the subject of the present challenge were not previously raised. “Res judicata precludes piecemeal litigation by splitting a single cause of action or relitigation of the same cause of action on a different legal theory or for different relief.” Mycogen, 51 P.3d at 302 (quotation omitted). Thus, whatever grounds Claimant may have for contending that the settlement should not be enforced had to be raised in opposition to the motion to enforce. Here, of course, claimant not only attacked (and lost) the validity of the settlement at that time, but he also made a second attack on the settlement in his motion to vacate. He is thus twice barred and may not raise further arguments, even if they are new. At some point, litigation must cease.

The California Court of Appeal recognized this point in Osijo v. Sevigny, Exhibit O at 5-12, when it affirmed a judgment in favor of the Burnham Brown firm. Claimant had already sued Burnham Brown contending that the JIRM Action settlement was obtained improperly through fraud by his counsel and opposing counsel, and the court held that judgment for Burnham Brown on that claim precluded Claimant from challenging the settlement based on conflict of interest, even though that legal theory had not been previously raised. Id.

Application of res judicata here would promote the purposes underlying the doctrine – finality and respite from ceaseless litigation. “Public policy and the interest of litigants alike require that there be an end to litigation.” Nein v. HostPro, Inc., 95 Cal. Rptr. 3d 34, 44 (Cal. Ct. App. 2009) (quoting Panos v. Great W. Packing Co., 134 P.2d 242 (Cal. 1943)). As the California Supreme Court has stated: “A predictable doctrine of res judicata benefits both the parties and the courts because it seeks to curtail multiple litigation causing vexation and expense to the parties and wasted effort and expense in judicial administration.” Mycogen Corp., 51 P.3d at 302. “The consistent application of the traditional principal that final judgments, even erroneous ones, are a bar to further proceedings based on the same cause of action is necessary to the well-ordered functioning of the judicial process. It should not be impaired for the benefit of particular plaintiffs, regardless of the sympathy their plight might arouse in an individual case.” Slater, 543 P.3d at 596. Granting exceptions to the application of res judicata “would call ‘into question the finality of any judgment and thus is bound to cause infinitely more injustice in the long run than it can conceivably avert in this case.’” Id. (quoting Greenfield v. Mather, 194 P.2d 1, 9 (Traynor J., dissenting)).

Despite Claimant's assertions, these purposes apply here. Claimant has had two opportunities to directly challenge the settlement – in opposing enforcement of the settlement in 1991 and in moving to nullify it in 2007. In each case, he appealed and received extensive consideration by the Court of Appeal. Having vigorously pursued litigation regarding the enforceability of the settlement in the trial and appellate courts twice, Claimant cannot reasonably contend that he has not had a full and fair opportunity to oppose enforcement of the settlement. Accordingly, there is no injustice in application of the res judicata doctrine to preclude renewed litigation in the Home liquidation proceeding. Any “public interest” exception to res judicata is “an extremely narrow one... it is the exception not the rule, and is only to be applied in exceptional circumstances.” Consumer Advocacy Group, 86 Cal.Rptr.3d at 55 (quoting Arcadia Unified School Dist. v. State Dep’t of Educ., 825 P.2d 438 (Cal. 1992)). There are no grounds to invoke it here. Having litigated over the settlement twice (in addition to the other related litigations), Claimant is not entitled to a third try.

B. Claimant's Attempts To Present Slightly Varied Challenges To The Settlement Based On Alleged Malfeasance Of His Attorney Are Also Precluded By Collateral Estoppel.

Claimant's attack on the settlement is also barred by collateral estoppel. Claimant contends that he has not had a full and fair opportunity to litigate the issue of his attorney's authority to settle the HRM Action by cashing the settlement check on July 30, 1991. See Claimant Br. at 3, 12-16, 18. However, this is merely an attempt to recharacterize the issue that was decided – the enforceability of the settlement – so as to avoid the preclusive effect of the various judgments adverse to Claimant.

“Issue preclusion by collateral estoppel prevents relitigation of issues argued and decided in prior proceedings.” Nein, 95 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 44. California courts apply the doctrine only if several threshold requirements are fulfilled:

First, the issue sought to be precluded from relitigation must be identical to that decided in a former proceeding. Second, the issue must have been actually litigated in the former proceeding. Third, it must have been necessarily decided in the former proceeding. Fourth, the decision in the former proceeding must be final and on the merits. Finally, the party against whom preclusion is sought must be the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding.

Hernandez v. Pomona, 207 P.3d 506, 513 (Cal. 2009). “In addition to these factors... the courts consider whether the party against whom the earlier decision is asserted had a ‘full and fair’ opportunity to litigate the issue.” Nein, 95 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 44.

The question here is whether the earlier decisions involved identical litigated issues to those now being raised by Claimant.⁶ They did. First, and most prominently, in the appeal from the granting of the motion to enforce, the Court of Appeal held that the judgment “was in accord with the terms of the written settlement agreement, which was knowingly entered into and signed by appellant [Claimant]; and entry of judgment was, therefore, proper despite the fact that appellant afterward had second thoughts about the deal.” Osijo v. Housing Resource Management, Exhibit J at 4. The court thus held that the settlement was authorized by Claimant’s signing the settlement. The authority issue was thus clearly presented to and necessarily decided by the court in enforcing the settlement. (If the settlement had not been authorized, then it would not have been enforced.)

Claimant’s present argument that his attorney somehow “settled” the case without authority by cashing the check on July 30, 1991 is merely an attempt to present a new spin on the authority issue already presented to the court. It seeks to disregard the court’s conclusion that ⁶ The various rulings discussed below are all final, and Claimant was a party to all of them.

Claimant had knowingly settled his claim against HRM by asserting that his attorney “settled” the case.⁷ However, “issues” may not be subdivided and split apart in this manner. The authority issue of concern was resolved adversely to Claimant. He may not now raise it again in a varied guise.

Second, the question of whether the Alameda County Superior Court had subject matter jurisdiction was already raised and decided against Claimant. In Claimant’s appeal of the motion to vacate, the California Court of Appeal rejected the argument that the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement was void for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Osijo v. Housing Resource Management, Inc., Exhibit R at 9-13. The issue was clearly necessary to the decision because if the lower court had lacked jurisdiction, the Court of Appeal would have vacated the judgment. Accordingly, Claimant may not raise that issue in the Home liquidation proceeding.

Other lesser points that may arise are also precluded. The Claimant also brought a number of actions outside the HRM action against his attorneys, Home and others. These subsequent attacks concerning the settlement itself have also been rejected. For instance, in Osijo v. Ganong and Michell, No. A068661 (Cal. Ct. App. First Dist. April 12, 1996) (Exhibit L at 8-9), review denied, No. S053782 (Cal. June 26, 1996), the California Court of Appeal affirmed judgment against Claimant on his claims that his attorney, Michell, had an undisclosed conflict of interest in representing him. In Osijo v. Home Ins. Co., Nos. F042329, F043325 (Cal. Ct. App. Fifth Dist. Sept. 7, 2004) (Exhibit N at 11-14), the court affirmed judgments against Claimant and for his attorney Michell and other law firms on claims of fraud, including fraud in asserting that the settlement was legally binding. Finally, in Osijo v. Sevigny, No. F049063 (Cal. Ct. App. Fifth Dist. Dec. 12, 2006) (Exhibit O at 9), the court affirmed judgment against ⁷ Where Claimant settled the case, his attorney’s cashing the check is irrelevant to the enforcement of the settlement by the defendant HRM, although it may give rise to issues between Claimant and the attorney. Claimant litigated the appropriate allocation of the settlement payment with his attorney in Osijo v. Ganong and Michell, Exhibit L.

Claimant and for Burnham Brown on claims that the settlement was obtained improperly through fraud and conflicts of interest.⁸

These decisions have collateral estoppel effect. Indeed, the California Court of Appeal itself anticipated the preclusive effect of its rulings in the Sevigny decision, where the court expressly noted that “[i]ssue preclusion bars relitigation of the conflict of interest claim here [against the Liquidator] just as it bars relitigation of that claim against Burnham Brown.”

Exhibit O at 13. Claimant cannot circumvent these rulings by slightly varying his argument against the settlement to say that his attorney was not authorized to cash the settlement check.

Nor does application of collateral estoppel deprive Claimant of due process. See Roos v. Red, 30 Cal. Rptr. 3d 446, 452 (Cal. Ct. App. 2005).⁹ Claimant clearly had a full and fair opportunity to present his claim. He had the opportunity and incentive to oppose the motion to enforce, and he did so. He not only opposed it and appealed it in 1991, he sought to reopen the issue and challenge the court’s jurisdiction and appealed that issue in 2007. He was aware that counsel had cashed the settlement check when he received the initial part of the settlement funds. Even if this was not before the hearing on September 5, 1991, it was certainly long before he filed the motion to vacate in 2007.¹⁰ Thus, Claimant has had ample opportunity to raise the issue

⁹ “[T]he courts have recognized that certain circumstances exist that so undermine the confidence in the validity of the prior proceeding that the application of collateral estoppel would be ‘unfair’ to the defendant as a matter of law. Such ‘unfair’ circumstances include a situation where the defendant had no incentive to vigorously litigate the issue in the prior action, particularly if the second action is not foreseeable. Another such circumstances occurs when the judgment in the prior action is inconsistent with previous judgments for the defendant on the matter. Finally, application of collateral estoppel is unfair where the second action affords the defendant procedural opportunities unavailable in the first action that could readily cause a different result.” Roos, 30 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 452 (quoting Kremer v. Chemical Const. Corp., 456 U.S. 461, 481 (1982); Parklane Hosiery, 439 U.S. at 330; SEC v. Monarch Funding Corp., 192 F.3d 295, 304 (2d. Cir. 1999)).

in the California courts. There is no "unfairness" that would warrant not applying collateral estoppel in this matter.

25 (Nullify Settlement Agreement & Set Aside Enforcement Order Based On Wholly Unauthorized Acts Of Attorney)

1. Plaintiff Adebowale O. Osijo, MBA., complains and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein, Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, the personal injury attorney in a matter before the Alameda County Superior Court, titled: Osijo v Housing

1 Resources Management, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., Acorn II, Ltd and Prostaff Security Services,
2 Inc., Case No. 649881-6, without Plaintiff's informed knowledge and written
3 authorization, initiated and stipulated with the Defendants' attorneys in the same
4 personal injury case, (David Raymond Pinelli, deceased, and the then Law Offices of 5 Larson & Burnham, now Burnham Brown), subject to the said Defendants' counsel's
6 choice and payment of a private judge that the Alameda County Superior Court
7 ordered the personal injury action to a private judge, (Judge Victor Mario Campilongo, 8 retired) in a binding private mediation, at a place in San Francisco, California, called 9 Judicial Arbitration and Mediation Services, (JAMS). Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam did
10 not obtain Plaintiff's authorization before she stipulated his (Plaintiff's) substantive 11 rights to a judicial trial, in accordance with the provisions of the California Constitution, 12 Article 1, Section 16, be submitted to a private judge in a binding private mediation. If 13 Plaintiff was informed and apprised by Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam of the stipulated 14 order for the removal of his personal injury case to a private mediation in San Francisco, 15 he will never ever have gone, and she will have been fired immediately.

16 2 Plaintiff complains and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein, 17 the stipulated order of the Alameda County Superior Court for the removal of the 18 aforementioned personal injury case to a private judge, for a binding private mediation
19 is invalid for an indefinite period of time because Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam 20 wholly lacked authority to initiate and stipulate that the personal injury action be 21 removed to private mediation, without the Plaintiff's knowledge or consent. The 22 resulting "Voluntary Settlement Agreement," is invalid for an indefinite period of time
23 because Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam wholly lacked authority to initiate and stipulate 24 that the personal injury matter be removed to the authority a private judge, in a binding 25 arbitration, without the Plaintiff's knowledge or consent. The order/judgment of the

1 Alameda County Superior Court, which enforced the purported "Settlement
2 Agreement," as the final judgment of the said personal injury action is also invalid, and 3 remains invalid, indefinitely, because it was based on the wholly unauthorized actions
4 of Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam in the said personal injury case.

5 3. Plaintiff complains and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein,
6 that as a client, his informed knowledge and written authorization, were required and 7 mandatory as a matter of constitutional right in the State of California before Georgia
8 Ann Mitchell-Langsam, as an attorney, can initiate a stipulated order for the removal of 9 his action from the competent jurisdiction in the Alameda County Superior Court to the 10 jurisdiction of a private judge, in a private mediation proceeding. Plaintiff was 11 completely kept in the dark throughout the entire stipulation process by Georgia Ann 12 Mitchell-Langsam.

13 4. Plaintiff complains, and, thereafter alleges that at all time material herein 14 that he, either by implication or expression, did not, has not, and, will not ratify, the 15 removal of his substantive rights in the aforementioned personal injury action from the 16 jurisdiction of the Superior Court of Alameda County to that of a private judge in a 17 private mediation. Plaintiff has and had obdurately refused to accept the purported 18 "Voluntary Settlement Agreement," as valid, since July 25, 1991, and until eternity. He 19 fired Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam as the Plaintiff's attorney in the personal injury 20 action on September 13, 1991, when it became obvious that she had exceeded, and was 21 exceeding her authority as the Plaintiff's attorney.

22 5. Plaintiff further complains, and, thereafter alleges that at all times material
23 herein, that he, either by implication or expression, did not waive, has never waived, 24 and will not waive his constitutional right to the judicial trial of his causes in the

1 personal injury action, in a competent jurisdiction in the State of California, and 2 according to the California laws.

3 7. Plaintiff complains, and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein,
4 Georgia Ann ~~Michell-Langsam~~ consummated the purported the "Voluntary Settlement
5 Agreement," in a conscious disregard of the Plaintiff's challenge to the validity of the 6 purported "Voluntary Settlement Agreement," and his request that the personal injury
7 matter be taken to a jury trial. She, on Monday, July 30, 1991, collected a check issued by 8 The Home Insurance Companies, in the value of $250,000, from David Raymond Pinelli
9 and the Burnham Brown, without his knowledge or consent. She cashed the check,
10 without the Plaintiff's knowledge and consent, and immediately misappropriated
11 $127,500 to herself and for her own use and purposes, again, without the Plaintiff's 12 knowledge or consent. She kept the balance of $122,500 for another two and a half 13 years, again, without the Plaintiff's knowledge or consent, and in an apparent attempt 14 to ruse Plaintiff into ratifying her unauthorized conduct. The exact words of David 15 Pinelli to Georgia Ann ~~Michell-Langsam~~ in writing was " maybe we can pacify ~~Wale~~ 16 with an immediate cash of $75,000."

17 8. Plaintiff complains and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein,
18 that he terminated Georgia Ann ~~Michell-Langsam~~ on September 13, 1991, when it 19 became obvious that she has usurped all his substantive rights in the said personal 20 injury action in favor of enforcing the purported "Voluntary Settlement Agreement," to 21 the express knowledge of David Raymond Pinelli and David Kizer, and in the open
22 courtroom of the Alameda County Superior Court, Department 17. She simply ignored
23 her termination as the Plaintiff's attorney. She, on September 23, 1991, executed a 24 stipulated judgment with David Raymond Pinelli and David Kizer, which the Alameda 25 County Superior Court executed and filed on October 10, 1991.

1 9. Plaintiff complains and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein,
2 he is and was a tax accountant, in the City and County of Fresno, California, with a 3 mailing address at 2015 East Pontiac Way, Suite 203, Fresno, California 93726-3978.

4 10. Plaintiff complains and alleges thereafter that at all times material herein, 5 Defendant Roger A. Seigney is the current Insurance Commissioner in and for the 6 State of New Hampshire, with his mailing address at 56 Old Suncook Road, Concord, 7 New Hampshire 03301. He is sued in place of The Home Insurance Companies, which 8 is in a receivership process in the State of New Hampshire, and Risk Enterprise
9 Management, Ltd. Plaintiff has not been statutorily notified of The Home Insurance being 10 being placed into a receivership, nor was he served with the statutory claim form by the 11 State of New Hampshire Insurance Commissioner, to use in filing claims with it and the 12 California Insurance Guarantee Association.

13 11. Plaintiff complains, and thereafter alleges that at all times material
14 herein, Defendant Burnham Brown is and was a successor-in-interest to Larson &
15 Burnham, a professional corporation, duly licensed in the State of California. Its 16 registered office and address is at 1901 Harrison Street, 11th Floor, Oakland, California
17 94604. Its mailing address is Post Office Box 119, Oakland, California 94604-0119.
18 Burnham Brown was hired by The Home Insurance Companies, to represent 19 Defendants Housing Resources Management, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd., in 20 the aforementioned personal injury action. It is sued in place of David Raymond Finelli.

21 12. Plaintiff complains, and therefore alleges that at all times material herein, 22 Defendant Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam is and was an attorney, duly licensed to 23 practice law in the State of California. She is now a sole legal practitioner, with her law 24 office located at 1850 Mount Diablo Boulevard, Suite 605, Walnut Creek, California. She 25 was hired on April 12, 1990, to represent the Plaintiff in the aforementioned personal

1 injury action, on a contingency fee basis. She is sued in her individual capacity and as 2 an attorney.

3 13. Plaintiff complains and thereafter alleges that he does not know the true
4 names and identities of Does 1 through 10, and therefore, reserves the right to amend
5 this complaint to include them as Defendants, when their true names and identities are 6 known.

7 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for the followings:

8 A. That the purported "Voluntary Settlement Agreement" entered as the 9 final judgment of the underlying, be declared a nullity and void, on the ground that 10 Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam did not have authority to bind Plaintiff to the private 11 mediation proceeding.

12 B. That the order which enforced the purported "Voluntary Settlement 13 Agreement," be declared a nullity and void, on the ground that the Court lacked 14 authority to bind Plaintiff with the unauthorized acts of an attorney;

15 C. That the Court assesses and awards the Plaintiff's damages from the 16 personal injury case according to proof, against all the Defendants herein, jointly and or 17 severally;

18 D. That the Court awards the Plaintiff punitive damages, subject to proof, 19 against all the Defendants herein, jointly and or severally;

20 E. That the Court assesses and awards the Plaintiff damages and relief that it 21 deems fit and just, against all the Defendants herein, jointly and or severally.

2 SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
3 (Nullify Attorney Fee Retainer Based On Unauthorized Acts Of Attorney & For An 4 Order Of Disgorgement Of Client's Misappropriated Funds)

5 14. Plaintiff incorporates the allegations of the First Cause of Action into this 6 Second Cause of Action as if plead, separately and independently.

7 15. Plaintiff complains, and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein
8 that Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, without the Plaintiff's authority, consummated the 9 purported "Voluntary Settlement Agreement," aforementioned personal injury case, by 10 collecting a check issued by The Home Insurance Companies, in the amount of 11 $250,000, from David Raymond Pinelli, on Monday, July 30, 1991. She executed a 12 Compromise and Release that was provided by David Raymond Pinelli, for and on 13 behalf of the Plaintiff. She executed a dismissal with prejudice of the personal injury 14 action and submitted these documents to David Raymond Pinelli. She thereafter cashed 15 the check and over a period of two years misappropriated $127,500 to herself and for 16 her own use and purposes, without the Plaintiff's knowledge or consent. The remaining 17 $122,500 was ordered released to the Plaintiff by the Contra Costa County Superior 18 Court, on her application, approximately two and a half years later.

19 16. Plaintiff complains and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein,
20 his authority as a client is required and mandatory, as a matter of constitutional right
21 before an attorney can consummate his personal injury action. Plaintiff did not ratify, 22 has not ratified and will not ratify Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam's consummation of 23 the aforementioned personal injury case. Plaintiff did not waive, has not waived and 24 will not waive Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam's consummation of the aforementioned 25 personal injury action.

1 17. Plaintiff complains and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein,
2 Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam represented him with an actual conflict, in the personal 3 injury action, which she stipulated with the State Bar of California, upon the his 4 complaint against her, in In the Matter of Georgia A. Michell-Langsam, Case No. 92-0-
5 11751-JG

6 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for the followings:

7 A. That the Court declares the attorney fee retainer agreement between 8 Plaintiff and Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam be declared a nullity and void, on the 9 ground that violated the professional ethical requirements of the California State Bar, 10 Rule 3-310 (A&B).

11 B. That the Court issues an order for the disgorgement of $127,500, together 12 with interest, compounded at 10 percent annual interest rate, from June 30, 1991, that 13 Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam misappropriated to herself and for her own use, without 14 authority of the Plaintiff.

16 THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
 (To Set Aside Judgment)

18 18. Plaintiff incorporates the complaints and allegations of the First and 19 Second Causes of Action into this Third Cause of Action as if separately and 20 independently pled.

21 19. Plaintiff, has, since 1991, knocked every legal door in the State of 22 California, including but not limited to the State Bar of California, Alameda County
23 Superior Court, Contra Costa County Superior Court, the Fresno County Superior 24 Court, the First District Court of Appeals, the Fifth District Court of Appeals, the 25 Federal District Court in Los Angeles, the Federal District Court in Fresno, the Federal Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, the California Supreme Court and the United

1 States Supreme Court, under any possible legal theory, all in an effort to show that
2 Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, without authority, usurped his substantive
3 rights to a jury trial and consummated the personal injury action. Georgia Ann Mitchell-
4 Langsam, in turn used the malicious prosecution lawsuits to try and dissuade the 5 Plaintiff from challenging the Alameda County Superior Court's authority to order the 6 personal injury action to a private judge in a binding private arbitration, under the aegis
7 of the JAMS. The first judgment for malicious prosecution by the Contra Costa County
8 Superior Court was vacated by the First District Court of Appeal on the ground that it
9 will be unjust to find that Plaintiff prosecuted a malicious prosecution action, after the 10 same Court found that Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam "wrongfully misappropriated"
11 his funds in her trust. Undaunted by the appellate ruling, Georgia Ann Mitchell-12 Langsam, again, successfully prosecuted another malicious prosecution case in the 13 Fresno County Superior Court, titled: Mitchell-Langsam v Adebowale O. Osijo, Case No.
14 02-CEOG-00002, again, in a conscious attempt to "dissuade" the Plaintiff from 15 challenging her authority to stipulate to the removal of the aforementioned personal 16 injury action to a private judge in a binding private arbitration at JAMS.

17 20. Plaintiff complains and thereafter alleges that at all times material herein, 18 the Fresno County Superior Court does not have the authority to issue a judgment or 19 order with the intention of dissuading the Plaintiff from challenging Georgia Ann 20 Mitchell-Langsam's authority to usurp Plaintiff's substantive rights and consummate the 21 aforementioned personal injury case.

22 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays that the judgment of the Fresno County Superior
23 Court in the matter of Mitchell-Langsam v Adebowale O. Osijo, Case No. 02-CEOG-
24 00002, be declared void and a nullity, on the ground that the Fresno County Superior
25 Court does not have the authority to issue a judgment, with the sole intention of trying

1 to dissuade Plaintiff from challenging Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam's authority to 2 usurp Plaintiff's substantive rights and consummate the aforementioned personal 3 injury case.

 - A. My Discussions With Mr. Ertle On October 29, 2008
Mr. George Ertle, an attorney from The Home Insurance Company in Liquidation, called me on October 29, 2008, at approximately 11:15 a.m., (Pacific Time), to suggest that I should withdraw my claim in the above entitled matter because I have exhausted my appellate rights in vain, and that The Home Insurance Company had satisfied the judgment of $250,000, in the matter of Osijo v Housing Resources Management, Inc., et al., Case No. C-649881, in the Alameda County Superior Court, in the State of California. My responses were that: 1) If can produce a copy of the check or checks, issued by The Home Insurance Company, to satisfy the judgment of this action, with my signature on it; or 2) if can produce a copy of any document, in which I authorized Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam to cash the aforementioned check, and dispose of the settlement proceeds to herself, for her own immediate use and purposes, without my knowledge or consent or; 3) if he can produce a copy of an Order, issued by the Alameda County Superior Court, which authorized Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam to cash the settlement check and dispose of the settlement proceeds to herself, for her own use and purposes, without my knowledge or consent, or; 4) if he can produce the copy of a lien, filed in the aforementioned personal injury action by Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, and adjudicated by the Alameda County Superior Court, in a separate and independent action, I will gladly withdraw the above entitled claim and walk out of this claim, without looking back. My counter offer still stands and I am still awaiting his responses.

B. My Discussions With Ms. Mary Actor

Ms. Mary Actor, a Senior Claims Manager, The Home Insurance Company in Liquidation, called me on November 14, 2008, in response to my repeated calls to The Home Insurance Company In Liquidation in Concord, New Hampshire, and to Mr. Erile. She suggested that because the Fresno County Superior Court, in the State of California, had dismissed a case titled: Osijo v California Insurance Guarantee Association, Case No. 07-CECG-000693, I therefore, do not have a viable claim against The Home Insurance Company in Liquidation. My responses were that the Presiding Judge, Alameda County Superior Court, California, authorized the aforementioned personal injury matter to continue unencumbered by my being later declared a vexatious litigant. My claim against The Home Insurance Company in Liquidation is in this personal injury action. Its insured is Housing Resources Management, Inc. I certainly and positively did not file any claim against Ganong & Michell, in The Home Insurance Company in Liquidation, jointly and or severally, with anyone or entity.

4. Unavailability & Conclusion

I will not be available for this claim proceeding between December 15, 2008 and January 15, 2009, for personal reasons. I therefore look forward to your Notice of Determination in this matter in the very near future. I will respond accordingly, and the Court will adjudicate, for the due process to complete its course. Please acknowledge receipt of this letter.

Very Truly Yours,

Adebisi O. Osijo, MBA.

RE: NOTICE OF DETERMINATION
Proof of Claim No.: CLMN711647-01

Determination Summary

Gross Amount of Claim	: $ 3,000,000.00
Amount Allowed by Liquidation	: $ 0

Explanation: Your proof of claim as a third party claimant relates to a personal injury action against Home Insurance Company insured Housing Resources Management, Ltd., Inc and others. This claim, arising out of a 1988 incident in which you were shot by assailants, was settled at a voluntary settlement conference on July 25, 1991 before Judicial Arbitration and Mediation Services. Home paid $250,000 to the trust account of your then attorney. The Alameda County Superior Court enforced this settlement by Order signed October 10, 1991 and the California First District Court of Appeal affirmed July 16, 1992. In May 2007 you filed a motion to set aside the enforcement order and nullify the settlement agreement which the Alameda County Superior Court denied on June 21, 2007. The Court of Appeal affirmed the Court's Order on July 8, 2008 and the California Supreme Court denied your Petition for Review on September 17, 2008. As the 1991 settlement of your action against Housing Resources has been upheld, there will be no allowance on your proof of claim.

Dear Claimant :

The purpose of this letter is to provide you with a determination set forth above of claims you have presented to The Home Insurance Company in Liquidation ("The Home"), under the Proof(s) of Claim specified above. The Home expects to present notice of this determination to the Superior Court for Merrimack County, New Hampshire (the "Court") for approval in accordance with New Hampshire Revised Statute, RSA 402-C:45. Read this Notice of Determination carefully as it sets forth your rights and obligations in detail.

The Home has now made a Determination on the claims as set forth above in accordance with The Home Claim Procedures (the "Procedures") approved by the Court. If the claim has been allowed, in whole or in part, it has been assigned a Class II priority as a "policy related claim" pursuant to the Order of Distribution set forth in RSA 402-C:44 and will be placed in line for payment as directed by the Court from the assets of The Home. The first $50 of the amount allowed on each claim in this class shall be deducted from the amount distributed as specified in RSA 402-C:44.

You may have other claims against The Home for which you may receive other Notices of Determination. You will have a separate right to dispute each Notice of Determination. If your claim has been allowed in whole or in part, this Notice of Determination does not mean that your claim will immediately be paid, or that it will be paid in full or at all. Pursuant to order of the Court, The Home may make distributions of its assets as a percentage of all allowed claims in a particular priority class in The Home estate as approved by the Court. The amount of the final payment for allowed claims will be determined by the final ratio of assets to liabilities and the applicable priority. Please be advised that the final percentage of payment you receive from The Home, at the time The Home estate is finally closed, is the total payment amount that you will be entitled to for this claim.

The Liquidator does not expect there to be assets sufficient to make a distribution to creditors in classes below Class II.

Any and all distributions of assets may be affected and/or reduced by any payments you have received on this claim from any other sources not listed on the Notice of Distribution. Any such distributions by The Home are based on The Home's knowledge and/or understanding of the amounts you have received in settlement and/or reimbursement of this claim from all other sources at the time of the allowance or thereafter. Should The Home subsequently become aware of prior recoveries from other sources The Home has the right to reduce its future distribution payments to you to the extent of such other recoveries or to seek and obtain repayment from you with respect to any previous distributions that were made to you.

Further, if you seek or receive any future payment from any other source on this claim after you receive a distribution payment from The Home you must notify The Home at the address below and The Home has the right to recover from you the distribution payments in whole or in part, to the extent of any such other future recoveries.

As a condition to receipt of any distributions, The Home shall be entitled to any rights to subrogation you may have against any third party and you shall be deemed to have assigned to The Home such rights upon receipt of any distributions. You shall also be obliged to reimburse The Home for any legal fees or other costs associated with The Home recovering from you any distribution payments to which you are not entitled.

*A copy of the January 19, 2005 Restated and Revised Order Establishing Procedures Regarding Claims Filed With The Home Insurance Company in Liquidation may be obtained from the website of the Office of the Liquidation Clerk for The Home Insurance Company in Liquidation and US International Reinsurance Company in Liquidation, www.hicilclerk.org

The Request for Review must be received by The Home within thirty (30) days from the date of this Notice of Determination.

REQUEST FOR REVIEW FILING REQUIREMENTS:

- (a) Sign and return the attached Acknowledgment of Receipt form.

IF A REQUEST FOR REVIEW IS NOT FILED WITH THE HOME WITHIN THE THIRTY (30) DAY PERIOD, YOU MAY NONETHELESS DIRECTLY FILE AN OBJECTION WITH THE COURT WITHIN SIXTY (60) DAYS FROM THE MAILING OF THIS NOTICE. You do not have to file the Request for Review as a prerequisite to dispute the Notice of Determination. Please see Section 2B (below) for the Objections to Denial of Claims.

- B. If your claim is disallowed in whole or in part, you may file an Objection with the Court at

Office of the Clerk, Merrimack County Superior Court
163 N. Main Street, P.O. Box 2880

If the Request for Review is timely filed, as outlined in Section 2A, the Liquidator will inform you of the outcome of the review and issue to you a Notice of Redetermination. If the redetermination is to disallow the claim, you may still file an Objection with the Court. You have sixty (60) days from the mailing of the Notice of Redetermination to file your Objection. Please also sign and return the Acknowledgment of Receipt form and mail a copy of the Objection to the Liquidator.

IF YOU DO NOT FILE AN OBJECTION WITH THE COURT WITHIN EITHER SIXTY (60) DAYS FROM THE MAILING OF THIS NOTICE OF DETERMINATION OR SIXTY (60) DAYS FROM THE MAILING OF ANY NOTICE OF REDETERMINATION, YOU MAY NOT FURTHER OBJECT TO THE DETERMINATION.

A timely filed Objection will be treated as a Disputed Claim and will be referred to the Liquidation Clerk's Office for adjudication by a Referee in accordance with the Procedures.

3. You must notify The Home of any changes in your mailing address. This will ensure your participation in future distributions, as applicable. For purposes of keeping The Home informed of your current address, please notify us at the address given on the letterhead above.

Peter Bengelsdorf, Special Deputy Liquidator

(b) premiums on appeal bonds required in any such suit and premiums or bonds to release attachments for an amount not in excess of the applicable limit of liability of this policy, but without any obligation to apply or furnish any such bonds;

If the earned premium thus computed exceeds the estimated premium paid, the insured shall pay the excess to this Company; if less, this Company shall return to the Insured the unearned portion paid by such Insured.

4. Insured's Duties in no Event of Occurrence, Claim or Suit:

(a) In the event of an occurrence which may result in a claim, written notice containing particulars sufficient to identify the Insured and also reasonably obtainable information with respect to the time, place and circumstances thereof, shall be given by or for the Insured to this Company or any of its authorized agents as soon as practicable.

(b) If claim is made or suit is brought against the Insured, the Insured shall immediately forward to this Company every demand, notice, summons or other process received by him or his representative.

(c) The Insured shall cooperate with this Company and, upon this Company's request, shall attend hearings and trials, assist in making settlements, in the conduct of suits, in securing and giving evidence and obtaining the attendance of witnesses. The Insured shall not, except at his own cost, voluntarily make any payment, assume any obligation or incur any expense.

5. Deductible: The deductible amount indicated in the Additional Declarations shall be subtracted from the total amount of all sums which this Company is obligated to pay or incur on behalf of the Insured on account of each claim. This Company shall be liable only for the difference between such deductible amount and the limit of this Company's liability for each claim as stated in the Additional Declarations. The terms of this endorsement including those with respect to notice of claim or suit and this Company's right to investigate and negotiate any such claim or suit, apply irrespective of the application of the deductible amount.

6. Action Against Company: No action shall lie against this Company, unless, as a condition precedent thereto, the Insured shall have fully complied with all of the terms of this endorsement, nor until the amount of the Insured's obligation to pay shall have been finally determined either by judgment against the Insured after actual trial or by written agreement of the Insured, the claimant and the Company.

Any person or organization or the legal representative thereof who has secured such judgment or written agreement shall thereafter be entitled to recover under this endorsement to the extent of the insurance afforded by this endorsement. No person or organization shall have any right under this endorsement to join this Company as a party to any action against the Insured to determine the Insured's liability, nor shall this Company be impleaded by the Insured or his legal representative. Bankruptcy or insolvency of the Insured or of the Insured's estate shall not relieve this Company of any of its obligations hereunder.

7. Subrogation: In the event of any payment under this endorsement, this Company shall be subrogated to all the Insured's rights of recovery therefor against any person or organization and the Insured shall execute and deliver instruments and papers and do whatever else is necessary to secure such rights. The Insured shall do nothing after loss to prejudice such rights.

8. Changes: Notice to any agent or knowledge possessed by an agent or by another person shall not affect a waiver or a change in any part of this endorsement or estop this Company from asserting any right under the terms of this endorsement; nor shall the terms stated herein be waived or changed, except by endorsement issued to effect such change.

9. Assignment: Assignment of interest under this endorsement shall not bind this Company until its consent is endorsed hereon; if, however, the Named Insured shall die, this endorsement shall cover the Named Insured's legal representative as Named Insured; provided that notice of cancellation addressed to the Insured named in the Additional Declarations and mailed to the address shown in this endorsement shall be sufficient notice to effect cancellation of this endorsement.

10. Other Insurance: If the Insured has other insurance against a loss covered by this endorsement, this Company shall not be liable under this endorsement for a greater proportion of such loss than the limit of liability stated in the Additional Declarations bears to the total limit of liability of all valid and collectible insurance against such loss. However, with respect to negligent acts, errors or omissions which occur prior to the effective date of this endorsement, the insurance hereunder shall apply only as excess insurance over any other valid and collectible insurance and shall then apply only in the amount by which the applicable limit of liability of this endorsement exceeds the sum of the applicable limits of liability of all such other insurance.

11. Additional Declarations: By acceptance of this endorsement the Insured agrees that the statements in the Additional Declarations are his agreements and representations, that this endorsement is issued in reliance upon the truth of such representations and that this endorsement embodies all agreements existing between himself and this Company or any of its agents relating to this insurance.

12. Conformity with Statutes: Terms of this endorsement which are in conflict with the statutes of the State wherein this endorsement is issued are hereby amended to conform to such statutes.
13. Cancellation: This endorsement may be cancelled by the Named Insured by surrender thereof to this Company or any of its authorized agents or by mailing to this Company written notice stating when thereafter the cancellation shall be effective. This endorsement may be cancelled by this Company by mailing to the Named Insured at the address shown in the Additional Declaration written notice stating when not less than ten days thereafter such cancellation shall be effective. The mailing of notice as aforesaid shall be sufficient proof of notice. The time of the surrender or the effective date and hour of cancellation stated in the notice shall become the end of the endorsement period. Delivery of such written notice either by the Named Insured or by this Company shall be equivalent to mailing.

(The Attaching Clause need be completed only when this endorsement is issued subsequent to preparation of the policy.)

The company may pay for the loss in money or may repair or replace the property and may settle any claim for loss of property either with the named insured or the owner thereof. Any property so paid for or replaced shall, at the option of the company, become the property of the company. The above limit of liability applies separately to each elevator designated in the declaration or schedule for this insurance.

III. ADDITIONAL DEFINITIONS

"Elevator collision" means the collision of any part of an elevator designated in the schedule for this insurance, or of anything carried thereon, with another part of such elevator or with another object.

"Loss" means direct and accidental injury or destruction.

IV. APPLICATION OF INSURANCE

This insurance applies only to collisions which occur during the policy period.

V. NAMED INSURED'S DUTIES WHEN LOSS OCCURS; ACTION AGAINST COMPANY

The conditions of the policy designated "Insured's Duties in the Event of Occurrence, Claim or Suit" and "Action Against Company" are replaced by the following:

4. Named Insured's Duties When Loss Occurs

Upon knowledge of loss which may give rise to a claim for loss, the named insured shall:

- (a) give notice thereof as soon as practicable to the company or any of its authorized agents, and
- (b) file detailed proof of loss, duly sworn to, with the company within 60 days after the occurrence of loss.

Upon the company's request, the named insured and every claimant hereunder shall submit to examination by the company, subscribe to the same, under oath if required, and produce for the company's examination all pertinent records, all at such reasonable times and places as the company shall designate, and shall cooperate with the company in all matters pertaining to loss or claims with respect thereto.

The named insured shall not, except at his own cost, voluntarily make any payment, assume any obligation or incur any expense. The company agrees to reimburse the named insured for any expense incurred at its request.

5. Action Against Company

No action shall lie against the company unless, as a condition precedent thereto, there shall have been full compliance with all the terms of this policy nor until 60 days after the required proofs of loss have been filed with the company, nor at all unless commenced within two years from the date when the named insured has first knowledge of the loss. If any limitation of time for notice of loss or any legal proceeding herein contained is shorter than that permitted to be fixed by agreement under any statute controlling the construction of this insurance, the shortest permissible statutory limitation of time shall govern and shall supersede the time limitation herein stated.

VI. APPRAISAL

If the named insured and the company fail to agree as to the amount of loss, each shall, on the written demand of either made within 60 days after receipt of proof of loss by the company, select a competent and disinterested appraiser and the appraisal shall be made at a reasonable time and place. The appraisers shall first select a competent and disinterested umpire, and failing for fifteen days to agree upon such umpire, on the request of the named insured or the company such umpire shall be selected by a judge of a court of record in the county and state in which the appraisal is pending. The appraisers shall then appraise the loss, stating separately the actual cash value at time of loss and the amount of the loss, and failing to agree shall submit their differences to the umpire. An award in writing by the umpire and any or both appraisers, or by both appraisers, shall determine the amount of loss. The named insured and the company shall each pay his or its chosen appraiser and shall bear equitably the expenses of the umpire and the other expenses of appraisal.

The company shall not be held to have waived any of its rights by any act relating to appraisal.

AMENDED DEFINITION

It is agreed that when used in reference to this insurance "elevator" means any hoisting or lowering device to connect floors or landings, whether or not in service, and all appliances thereof including any car, platform, shaft, hoistway, stairway, runway, power equipment and machinery, or any hydraulic or mechanical hoist used for raising or lowering automobiles for lubricating and servicing or for dumping material from trucks; but does not include a hoist without a platform outside a building if without mechanical power or if not attached to building walls, or a hoist or material hoist used in alteration, construction or demolition operations, or an inclined conveyor used exclusively for carrying property or a dumbwaiter used exclusively for carrying property and having a compartment height not exceeding four feet.

SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT

13 v.

14 HOUSING RESOURCES MANAGEMENT,
15 INC., a California Corporation;
16 PROSTAFF SECURITY SERVICE, INC.,
a California Corporation; ACORN
17 I LIMITED, a California Limited
Partnership; ACORN II LIMITED, a
California Limited Partnership;
18 and DOES 1 through 30, inclusive,

19 Defendants.

20 Plaintiff alleges and complains as follows:

21 FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
22 (Negligence)

23 1. Defendant HOUSING RESOURCES MANAGEMENT, INC.
24 (hereinafter referred to as "HRM"), is and at all times herein 25 mentioned was a corporation duly organized and existing under 26 the laws of the State of California with its principal place of 27 business in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, California.

28 2. Defendant PROSTAFF SECURITY SERVICE, INC. (hereinafter

1 referred to as "PROSTAFF"), is and at all times herein mentioned
2 was a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of 3 the State of California with its principal place of business in 4 the City and County of San Francisco, California.

5 3. Defendant ACORN I LIMITED (hereinafter referred to as 6 "ACORN I") is and at all times herein mentioned was a California
7 limited partnership duly organized and existing under the laws
8 of the State of California with its principal place of business
9 in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, California.

10 4. Defendant ACORN II LIMITED (hereinafter referred to as 11 "ACORN II") is and at all times herein mentioned was a 12 California limited partnership duly organized and existing under 13 the laws of the State of California with its principal place of 14 business in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, California.

15 5. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities
16 of the defendants sued herein as DOES 1 through 30, inclusive, 17 and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names.
18 Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names 19 and capacities when ascertained. Plaintiff is informed and 20 believes and based thereon, alleges that each of the 21 fictitiously named defendants is negligently responsible in some 22 manner for the occurrences herein alleged and that plaintiff's 23 injuries as herein alleged were proximately caused by such 24 negligence.

25 6. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges 26 that at all times herein mentioned each of the defendants was 27 the agent and employee of each of the remaining defendants and 28 in the course of doing the things herein alleged was acting

1 within the course and scope of such agency and employment.

2 7. At all times mentioned herein, defendants ACORN I and 3 ACORN II and each of them owned, maintained, controlled,
4 managed, and operated the premises known as ACORN APARTMENTS
5 (hereinafter referred to as "ACORN"), located at 834 Adeline
6 Street, Oakland, California.

7 8. At all times mentioned herein, defendant HRM was a 8 management company which maintained, controlled, and managed the 9 premises known as ACORN, located at 834 Adeline Street, Oakland, 10 California.

11 9. On or about July 23, 1987, defendant PROSTAFF and 12 defendants ACORN I and ACORN II entered into a contract whereby
13 defendant PROSTAFF was to provide security services at the ACORN
14 premises. This contract was entered into by ACORN I and ACORN 15 II, through its authorized agent, defendant HRM and was in 16 effect on October 7, 1988.

17 10. Prior to entering into said contract, defendants ACORN
18 I, ACORN II, and HRM negligently failed to investigate and/or 19 ascertain the reputation, competence, and responsibility level
20 of defendant PROSTAFF SECURITY SERVICE, INC. with respect to 21 providing security services.

22 11. At all times mentioned herein, defendant PROSTAFF was 23 a security guard company hired by defendants ACORN I, ACORN II, 24 and HRM to provide security services at ACORN and under the 25 control and supervision of defendants and each of them.

26 12. At all times herein mentioned, defendants, and each of 27 them, negligently failed to train, supervise, and control
28 employees of PROSTAFF to prevent them from verbally and

1 physically assaulting residents and visitors at ACORN.
2 Furthermore, defendants, and each of them, failed to train,
3 supervise, and monitor employees of PROSTAFF to assure that they
4 would not verbally and physically assault residents and visitors
5 at ACORN. That defendants, and each of them, took no steps to 6 prevent employees of PROSTAFF to prevent them from stealing the 7 personal property of residents and of other persons present at 8 ACORN prior to and during plaintiff's hiring on August 9, 1988.

9 13. From August 9, 1988 through October 7, 1988 plaintiff
10 worked as a security guard in the employ of defendants, and each
11 of them, at ACORN.

12 14. At the aforementioned time and place, defendants, and 13 each of them, negligently failed to train, supervise, control, 14 and hire security guards for PROSTAFF in that during the 15 aforementioned time, employees of PROSTAFF, other than 16 plaintiff, physically and verbally assaulted residents and other 17 persons at ACORN; stole personal property from residents and 18 other persons at ACORN which defendants, and each of them, knew,
19 or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known,
20 constituted a dangerous condition and unreasonable risk of harm
21 to plaintiff in that plaintiff as an employee of defendant
22 PROSTAFF was subject to violent reprisals at the hands of those 23 who had been assaulted by employees of PROSTAFF, and all of the 24 defendants herein. That on numerous occasions prior to 25 October 7, 1988 employees of PROSTAFF physically beat several 26 residents or visitors to ACORN and/or stole money from them.
27 That on October 7, 1988 at approximately 11:00 a.m., one Sean 28 Garth was taken into the security office and severely beaten by

1 employees of PROSTAFF. That thereafter that same day, employees
2 of PROSTAFF proceeded to beat Sean Garth's automobile with a
3 baseball bat, whereupon Sean Garth told said employees of said
4 PROSTAFF, "I am going to come back and shoot up the place."
5 That when plaintiff reported to work at ACORN that day,
6 October 7, 1988, at 4:00 p.m. he was not informed by any 7 defendant or agent or employee of any defendant of this
8 altercation, nor of the threat made by Sean Garth to come back
9 and shoot up the place. That contrary to PROSTAFF'S rules and 10 regulations, plaintiff was working alone in the security office
11 for a number of hours before Sean Garth actually did return.
12 That at approximately 8:00 p.m. on October 7, 1988, Sean Garth
13 did return as promised and proceeded to fire approximately 50
14 rounds from a high velocity assault rifle into the ACORN
15 security office, at least 14 of which struck plaintiff WALE O.
16 OSIJO causing him serious injury.

17 15. Defendants, and each of them, negligently failed to 18 take steps to make the working conditions at ACORN safe for 19 plaintiff or to warn plaintiff of the impending assault which 20 Sean Garth had advised PROSTAFF of earlier in the day, all of 21 which caused plaintiff to be shot 14 times and to suffer the 22 injuries and damages herein described.

23 16. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendants
24 and each of them, plaintiff was hurt and injured in his health,
25 strength, activities, sustaining injury to his nervous system
26 and person, all of which have caused and continue to cause
27 plaintiff great mental physical and nervous pain and suffering.
28 Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that such

1 injuries will result and have resulted in permanent disability
2 to him. As a result of such injuries, plaintiff has suffered
3 general damages in amount according to proof.

4 17. As a further proximate result of the negligence of 5 defendants, and each of them, plaintiff has incurred and will 6 continue incur medical and related expenses in an amount
7 according to proof.

8 18. As a further proximate result of the negligence of 9 defendants, and each of them, plaintiff's earning capacity has 10 been greatly impaired, both in the past and in the present, and 11 in an amount according to proof.

12 19. As a further proximate result of the negligence of 13 defendants, and each of them, plaintiff's personal property 14 including clothing was destroyed, all to plaintiff's damage in 15 an amount according to proof.

17 (Conscious Disregard)

18 20. Plaintiff realleges paragraphs 1 through 19, 19 inclusive, of the First Cause of Action and incorporates them by 20 reference as if fully set forth herein.

21 21. At all times herein, defendants, and each of them,
22 knew or should have known that Sean Garth had promised to return 23 and shoot up the place, and that the conditions then known to 24 them, and each of them, indicated a likelihood that Sean Garth 25 would follow through with his threat of attack and shoot up the 26 place, including employees of PROSTAFF such as plaintiff.
27 Notwithstanding this knowledge, defendants, and each of them, in 28 willful and conscious disregard of plaintiff's safety in not

1 advising him of the threatened attack by Sean Garth, gave 2 plaintiff to believe that the premises at which he worked were 3 safe at all times, and defendants did so in order to advance
4 their pecuniary interest in leasing and/or providing security
5 services at ACORN.

6 22. Defendants, and each of them, also knew, or in the 7 exercise of ordinary care should have known, that employees of 8 PROSTAFF, prior to the attack of October 7, 1988, were routinely 9 brutalizing residents and others on the premises of ACORN as 10 well as stealing personal property from residents and others on 11 the premises and that such acts thereby subjected innocent
12 employees of PROSTAFF such as plaintiff to violent reprisals.

13 23. Defendants, and each of them, acted or failed to act 14 with oppression, malice, and in conscious disregard for the 15 rights of plaintiff, thereby entitling plaintiff to exemplary
16 and punitive damages in an amount according to proof.

17 24. As a result of the acts and omissions of defendants,
18 and each of them, plaintiff sustained severe personal injury,
19 property damage, and severe emotional distress in an amount 20 according to proof, in excess of the jurisdictional minimum of 21 this court.

22 25. As a result of the acts and omissions of defendants
23 and each of them, plaintiff was hurt and injured in his health,
24 strength, activities, sustaining injury to his nervous system
25 and person, all of which have caused and continue to cause
26 plaintiff great mental physical and nervous pain and suffering.
27 Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that such 28 injuries will result and have resulted in permanent disability

1 to him. As a result of such injuries, plaintiff has suffered
2 general damages in amount according to proof.

3 26. As a result of the acts and omissions of defendants,
4 and each of them, plaintiff has incurred and will continue incur
5 medical and related expenses in an amount according to proof.

6 27. As a result of the acts and omissions of defendants,
7 and each of them, plaintiff's earning capacity has been greatly
8 impaired, both in the past and in the present, and in an amount
9 according to proof.

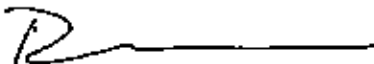

10 28. As a result of the acts and omissions of defendants,
11 and each of them, plaintiff's personal property including 12 clothing was destroyed, all to plaintiff's damage in an amount
13 according to proof.

14 WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays as follows:

- 15 1. For general and special damages in the amount of Three 16 Million Dollars ($3,000,000.00);
17 2. For punitive damages according to proof;
18 3. For costs of suit incurred herein; and 19 4. For such other and further relief as the court deems 20 just and proper.

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF ALAMEDA

WALE O. OSIJO,

NO. 649881-6

Plaintiff,

ANSWER TO SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT

vs.

HOUSING RESOURCES MANAGEMENT,
INC., a California corporation;
PROSTAFF SECURITY SERVICE, INC.,
a California corporation; ACORN I LIMITED, a California limited partnership; ACORN II LIMITED, a
California limited partnership;
and DOES 1 through 30, inclusive,

Defendants.

Defendant Housing Resources Management, Inc.,
answering the complaint of plaintiff Wale O. Osijo, denies generally and specifically, each and every, all and singular, the allegations of said complaint, and each cause of action thereof, and further denies that plaintiff has been damaged in any sum or sums or at all.

WHEREFORE, this answering defendant prays for judgment as hereinafter set forth.

1 the doctrine of comparative negligence.

2 SEVENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

3 Plaintiff, his agents, employees, servants and 4 representatives were partially, if not wholly, negligent or 5 otherwise at fault on their own part pursuant to the doctrine of 6 comparative negligence, and should be barred from recovery of 7 that portion of the damages directly attributable to their 8 proportionate share of the negligence or fault.

9 EIGHTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

10 The damages sustained by plaintiff, if any, were 11 caused, in whole or in part, by the negligence or fault of 12 others for which this defendant is not liable or responsible.

13 NINTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

14 This defendant alleges that plaintiff assumed whatever 15 risk or hazard, if any, that existed at the time and place of 16 the alleged accident set forth in plaintiff's complaint, and 17 said assumption of risk or hazard is imputed to said plaintiff.

18 TENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

19 At the time and place of the happening of the incident 20 alleged in the complaint, plaintiff was employed by various 21 employers, the names of which are presently unknown to the 22 defendant, and was working within the course and scope of his 23 employment and/or employments. Plaintiff and his employer
24 and/or employers were subject to provisions of the Worker's
25 Compensation Act of the State of California, and certain sums 26 have been or will be paid to or on behalf of plaintiff under the

1 applicable provisions of the Labor Code of the State of 2 California. Plaintiff's employer and/or employers and each of 3 them, were negligent or otherwise at fault and this negligence
4 or fault proximately contributed to or caused the injuries to 5 plaintiff, and, any award made to plaintiff herein must be 6 reduced by the payments to him made on behalf of his employer or 7 employer's worker's compensation insurance carrier.

8 ELEVENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

9 Plaintiff acknowledged, ratified, consented to and 10 acquiesced in the alleged acts or omission, if any, of this 11 defendant, thus barring plaintiff's recovery.

12 TWELFTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

13 Plaintiff's complaint, and each cause of action
14 therein, is barred by the doctrine of unclean hands.

15 THIRTEENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

16 Plaintiff failed to mitigate his damages.

17 FOURTEENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

18 Any and all conduct of which plaintiff complains was a 19 just and proper exercise of management discretion undertaken for 20 a fair and honest reason and regulated by good faith under the 21 conditions then existing.

22 FIFTEENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

23 Plaintiff, by his actions, knew of and appreciated the 24 risks involved, and voluntarily and reasonably assumed the risks 25 of said injuries, proximately causing or contributing to the 26 damages alleged.

23 that said motion shall be unopposed.

24 5. With respect to the potential lien of Highlands Hospital

THE COURT:*

The trial court entered judgment in this action pursuant to a settlement agreement signed by appellant and the other parties to the litigation. We affirm.

I. FACTS AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Appellant, who was working as a security guard, was seriously injured when he was shot repeatedly by an assailant armed with a semi-automatic weapon, while appellant was on duty in the security office at the Acorn housing projects in Oakland. He brought this action to recover for his injuries.

* Kline, P.J., Smith, J., and Peterson, J.

The assailant responsible for appellant's injuries is in prison and judgment proof. Appellant's employer, the security guard company, is insolvent and had no insurance. The only solvent bystander appellant could sue were the owners of the Acorn projects, on a type of premises liability theory. (Actually, the owners are insolvent, too; but they did have insurance which would be applicable.)

Appellant had special damages in the form of medical bills of about $40,000. He had lost wages for a nine-month period of about $20,000. He has some residual physical limitations--for instance, he cannot stand for prolonged periods. The nature of any other cognizable damages or future loss of income remained quite speculative. In fact, appellant's income, in his new career as an accountant, is much greater now than it was at the time of the injury. Appellant wanted between $500,000 and $2.5 million to settle his case.

Pursuant to an agreement of counsel, a settlement conference was held under the auspices of the Judicial Arbitration and Mediation Service (JAMS). The settlement conference was presided over by a retired judge of the San Francisco Superior Court who has a long record of distinguished service in the management of litigation.

The negotiations were difficult, apparently, because appellant's demands were unreasonable. The retired judge and appellant's counsel explained to appellant that the two most culpable defendants, the assailant and appellant's employer, had no money to pay any judgment appellant might receive. They also pointed out that, while appellant could expect to establish special damages of about $40,000 and lost wages of $20,000 at trial, the nature of any additional damages would be uncertain. Further, a jury was unlikely to think that the owner of the Acorn projects was liable in these circumstances, since there would be little an owner of property could have done which would have prevented the assailant's attack on appellant and his fellow security guards.

Ultimately, the case settled for $250,000, which appears to be a quite generous and fair settlement to appellant considering the problems with his claims. All parties, including appellant, executed the necessary settlement documents. Appellant and his counsel went out for a celebratory dinner at a lavish restaurant; appellant was in good spirits about the settlement and thanked his counsel for her help in achieving a favorable result. He repeatedly stated his satisfaction at the settlement.

The next day, appellant notified his counsel that he had decided he did not like the settlement after all, and wanted out of it. However, after hearing oral argument and considering the relevant evidence, the trial court entered judgment pursuant to the terms of the agreement.

II. DISCUSSION

We affirm. The trial court properly entered judgment pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 664.6.^{1/} Entry of such judgment was in accord with the terms of the written settlement agreement, which was knowingly entered into and signed by appellant; and entry of judgment was, therefore, proper despite the fact that appellant afterward had second thoughts about the deal: "In this case a binding enforceable settlement agreement was entered into by the parties." (Gallo v. Getz (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 329, 334.)

Appellant makes a number of arguments on appeal which are totally lacking in merit. His principal claim is that he can get out of the settlement agreement he signed, because the settlement negotiations were presided over by a retired judge who is no longer an active member of the State Bar. The person who presides over settlement negotiations, however, need not be a member of the State Bar and need not have any legal training. This function may be performed by any person, including a minister, a businessperson, an arbitrator, or a friend of the parties. Moreover, we fail to see any fault in the retired judge's handling of these difficult negotiations. Specifically, his advice to appellant to accept the $250,000 offer appears to be entirely sound. Further, another well-respected and active trial judge, Judge Sutter, heard evidence and entered judgment pursuant to the settlement agreement.

^{1/} Code of Civil Procedure section 664.6 provides: "If parties to pending litigation stipulate, in writing or orally before the court, for settlement of the case, or part thereof, the court, upon motion, may enter judgment pursuant to the terms of the settlement." All the prerequisites stated in the statute were met here.

Appellant makes a number of unsupported allegations regarding his counsel and opposing counsel, which we reject also. We agree that counsel for all parties were trying to achieve a settlement under trying circumstances, but that does not establish that the settlement was not fair or, more importantly, that appellant's will was so overborne that he can get out of the deal now.

Appellant makes other insinuations which lack support in the record and are frivolous. They do not merit discussion. We reject them.^{2/}

III. DISPOSITION

The judgment is affirmed.

^{2/} In reaching these conclusions, we do not find it necessary to consider any matter contained in the amicus brief which appellant's counsel in the settlement negotiations sought to file. We, therefore, decline to accept the document for filing.

GANONG AND MICHELL et al.,
Defendant/Appellant.

Contra Costa Superior

THE COURT:¹

Wale O. Osijo (Osijo) brought this malpractice action concerning the representation he received from his former attorney, Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam (Michell), and other attorney defendants. Osijo's malpractice action against Michell resulted from his dissatisfaction with her representation of him in connection with a settlement agreement he signed in previous litigation while he was represented by Michell.

The trial court (Hon. James R. Trembath) granted summary judgment against the bulk of Osijo's malpractice claims, but found that Michell had wrongly misappropriated more than $12,000 in settlement proceeds which should have gone to Osijo. Michell also alleged in an amended cross-complaint that the termination of appellant's initial malpractice claims against her, other than the misappropriation claim, entitled her to damages for malicious prosecution. The matter of the cross-complaint and Osijo's remaining claims for breach of fiduciary duty proceeded to trial. The Honorable Barbara Zuniga granted a motion for a judgment against Osijo at the close of his evidence on the claim of breach of fiduciary duty. Also at the time of trial, it was brought to the attention of Judge Zuniga that Osijo had not filed an answer to Michell's amended cross-complaint. The matter of the cross-complaint then proceeded as a default hearing, over appellant's objections. Judge Zuniga granted a judgment for prior litigation costs of more than $27,000 to Michell as damages for malicious prosecution. Osijo brought an appeal from this judgment; and Ganong and Michell, John F. Ganong (Ganong), and Michell brought a cross-appeal from the trial court's prior ruling that Michell had wrongly misappropriated more than $12,000 from Osijo's settlement proceeds.

We affirm Judge Trembath's ruling on summary adjudication, that Michell wrongly misappropriated more than $12,000 from Osijo's settlement proceeds. We also affirm his rulings granting summary adjudication against Osijo's other malpractice claims concerning his representation by Michell. We conclude we must reverse Judge Zuniga's ruling granting a motion for judgment against Osijo's claim of breach of fiduciary duty. We must also vacate the judgment for $27,000 against Osijo as damages for malicious prosecution. The record shows Osijo has already prevailed in part against Michell in this malpractice action, on the issue of misappropriation of settlement proceeds, although he did not prevail on other factual allegations of malpractice concerning the same settlement. More important, the action was and is still pending. This does not establish there was a previous action which was brought by Osijo without probable cause and which was finally terminated in Michell's favor, as is required for the separate tort of malicious prosecution. We, therefore, remand for further proceedings consistent with the views expressed in this opinion.

L. FACTS AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

We summarize the relevant facts as briefly as possible. In 1989, Osijo filed a previous action entitled Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc. (Super. Ct. Alameda County, No. 649881-6) (personal injury action). In this personal injury action, Osijo alleged he had been employed as a security guard at the Acorn Apartments, a housing project in Oakland, California when he was shot more than 15 times in his lower body by assailants armed with high velocity rifles. This attack was carried out by the assailants in retaliation for physical and verbal abuse they suffered at the hands of other security guards earlier in the day. The lawsuit alleged that Osijo's injuries and damages resulted from the negligent failure of the defendants to warn him of the danger. These defendants included Osijo's employer, a security company, and the managers and owners of the housing complex he was guarding.

All the defendants were apparently insolvent or judgment proof. However, there was an applicable insurance policy issued by the Home Insurance Companies (Home), and Home retained the law firm of Larson and Burnham (the Larson firm) to defend Osijo's action.

Osijo had more than one attorney representing him at various times in the personal injury action; eventually in 1990, he retained Michell to represent him, executing a written retainer agreement. Under the terms of this written agreement, Michell was to be paid 40 percent of any settlement or damages award at trial, and 45 percent of any recovery if she was required to defend the damages award on appeal.

The action was eventually settled by Michell, the Larson firm, and Osijo. However, Osijo contended the settlement was improperly secured. This court (Division Two) affirmed an order of the trial court enforcing the settlement, over Osijo's objections. Under the terms of the settlement, the settling defendants paid $250,000 to Osijo and his counsel, Michell. Michell, however, took for herself 45 percent of the settlement proceeds or $112,500, not the 40 percent or $100,000 authorized by the written agreement for any settlement.

Osijo brought this action against Michell for malpractice, contending she had intentionally concealed from him facts relating to the settlement. According to Osijo's theory in the trial court, Michell concealed from him the fact that his damages could be much greater than the settlement amount, and also that she had an undisclosed conflict of interest as a result of her ties to Home and its retained law firm, the Larson firm, which was by then defending Michell in another malpractice action. Osijo also contended Michell had committed malpractice and violated the terms of the written retainer agreement by taking too much of the settlement proceeds. Michell, in turn, filed a cross-complaint in the same action for malicious prosecution, contending Osijo wrongly sued her for malpractice.

Judge Trembath resolved certain matters on summary judgment or summary adjudication. He ruled Michell had violated the terms of the retainer agreement, because she "wrongfully appropriated" $12,500 too much from the recovery. He also granted summary judgment against Osijo's other claims of malpractice against Michell. Thereafter, Michell amended her cross-complaint to allege that the claims upon which summary adjudication were granted had been terminated in her favor, allowing her to pursue Osijo for malicious prosecution as a result of those claims.

We summarize the final state of Osijo's pleadings, as they stood at the time the matter went to trial, since the record before us is in a state of some confusion. Osijo, acting in propria persona, had brought a variety of malpractice claims and related claims of misconduct against his former attorney Michell, all relating to the same settlement. He had contended in this action that Michell's conduct in taking $12,500 from the settlement proceeds constituted a breach of contract and "misappropriation of . . . funds," a claim upon which he prevailed on summary adjudication before Judge Trembath. Osijo had also contended the same conduct constituted a breach of fiduciary duty; Judge Trembath did not make a dispositive ruling on this cause of action, which remained for trial.

In earlier pleadings, Osijo had also contended Michell's conduct constituted an undisclosed conflict of interest and "Antagonism and Refusal to Respect Discharge of Attorney," claims upon which Judge Trembath had granted summary adjudication against Osijo. Osijo had also previously complained to the State Bar about Michell's conduct; the State Bar initially declined to investigate, and instructed Osijo that he could only force the State Bar to begin an investigation by filing an original petition for such action with our Supreme Court, which Osijo did. Our Supreme Court denied Osijo's petition, but Osijo's efforts did apparently result in further action by the State Bar, which allegedly did later investigate Mitchell, thereby causing her damage as a result of Osijo's claims, according to Mitchell's cross-complaint (filed in this same underlying action) for malicious prosecution.

Osijo's remaining claim for breach of fiduciary duty and the cross-complaint filed by Mitchell against Osijo proceeded to trial before Judge Zuniga. Judge Zuniga granted a motion for a judgment under Code of Civil Procedure² section 631.8 at the close of Osijo's evidence. Judge Zuniga also held Osijo was in default for not filing an amended answer to Mitchell's amended cross-complaint, and the trial proceeded as a default hearing. Judge Zuniga held Osijo's proceedings were "legally untenable" and awarded costs of defense to Mitchell for malicious prosecution of $27,729.05.

Osijo filed a timely appeal, and Mitchell filed a partial appeal from the previous ruling that she had wrongly misappropriated $12,500 from Osijo's settlement proceeds. We will discuss certain facts in greater depth later in this opinion, as they become relevant to specific legal issues.

II. DISCUSSION

We affirm the ruling that Mitchell wrongfully appropriated $12,500 in Osijo's settlement proceeds, contrary to the terms of the written retainer agreement. We affirm the summary judgment against Osijo's other claims for legal malpractice. However, we conclude we must reverse the trial court's granting of a motion for judgment under section 631.8 at the close of his evidence. We must also vacate the ruling in Mitchell's favor for malicious prosecution, because there was no showing she prevailed in this action or that this proceeding was brought without probable cause so as to justify a malicious prosecution award.

A. Wrongfully Appropriated Settlement Proceeds

Unless otherwise indicated, all subsequent statutory references are to the Code of Civil Procedure.

The written retainer agreement between Michell and Osijo provided that if the matter were settled or resolved at trial, Michell would be entitled to recover 40 percent of the proceeds of the settlement or award. If the award were appealed by the defendants and successfully upheld, Michell would receive 45 percent of the proceeds. The precise wording of the relevant sentence in the fee clause of the written retainer agreement is as follows: "The fee shall consist of 40 % of the gross amount of recovery had by way of settlement or judgment and 45 % of the gross amount of recovery if the case is taken to appeal."

Osijo's case was resolved by settlement; and therefore, under the terms of the written retainer agreement, Michell's fee should have been 40 percent, or $100,000, of the $250,000 settlement, not the $112,500 which Michell subtracted from the settlement before turning the remainder over to Osijo. Michell does not contend otherwise, if the terms of the original written retainer agreement are applied.

However, Michell contends the terms of the original retainer agreement were later modified by the parties. At some point, Michell threatened to withdraw from the case unless Osijo rehired a worker's compensation attorney, Gary Snyder, whom she recommended he retain; and in a letter dated August 24, 1990, Osijo offered to pay Michell 45 percent of any recovery if she remained on the case without forcing him to rehire Snyder.

Significantly, Michell did not accept this offer that she would recover 45 percent of any proceeds if she did not force Osijo to rehire Snyder. By a letter dated September 13, 1990, she apparently rejected this offer: "This letter is to inform you that you must rehire Gary Snyder or I will get out of the case." There is also no other evidence in the record which shows the parties ever agreed on a 45 percent fee.

We apply de novo review to the trial court's orders granting summary judgment or summary adjudication, independently interpreting the language of the retainer agreement. (See Perkins v. Howard (1991) 232 Cal.App.4th 708, 712-713.) We find nothing in the retainer agreement or the record which supports Mitchell's claims that she was entitled to 45 percent of the proceeds of the settlement.

Mitchell implicitly concedes she has no such entitlement under the terms of the written retainer agreement, but she contends she accepted Osijo's later offer of a 45 percent share by her performance, because she did, in fact, continue to represent Osijo. However, this was something she was already obligated to do by the written terms of the retainer agreement, and the written retainer agreement which she had previously presented to Osijo for his signature was never modified in writing to increase her fee. The retainer agreement states as follows: "This agreement may be modified by subsequent agreement of the parties only by an instrument in writing signed by both of them or an oral agreement to the extent that the parties carry it out." Here there is obviously no "instrument in writing signed by both" Mitchell and Osijo, nor is there any evidence of "an oral agreement to the extent that the parties carry it out." Mitchell rejected Osijo's written offer by a letter in writing. There is also no evidence of an "oral agreement" on the new 45 percent fee which Mitchell and Osijo accepted by performance. The trial court properly granted summary adjudication on this point, finding that Mitchell's fee under the written retainer agreement was 40 percent, and that she "wrongfully appropriated" the additional $12,500 she subtracted from Osijo's settlement proceeds.

This case is governed by the provisions of Business and Professions Code section 6147, which provides in pertinent part: "(a) . . . The contract [for legal services] shall be in writing and shall include, but is not limited to, all of the following: [¶] (1) A statement of the contingency fee rate that the client and attorney have agreed upon." These provisions were enacted by the Legislature in order to protect clients and avoid fee disputes by having clear written agreements as to fees. (See Alderman v. Hamilton (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1033, 1036-1038 (Alderman)).

Here the original written fee agreement met the requirements of Business and Professions Code section 6147, but the subsequent exchange of letters between Osijo and Michell did not. The original fee agreement also contained restrictions on subsequent modifications which were not satisfied by the subsequent exchange of letters in this case. We agree with the trial court that Michell's attempt to create an entitlement to a 45 percent fee from these sources violated Business and Professions Code section 6147 and the provisions of the original fee agreement. (See Alderman, supra, 205 Cal.App.3d at p. 1037.)

The trial court properly granted summary adjudication on this issue, finding that Michell wrongfully appropriated $12,500 of the settlement proceeds when she attempted to disregard the provisions of the parties' written fee agreement.

B. Osijo's Other Malpractice Claims Against Michell

Judge Trembath granted summary judgment against Osijo's other claims of malpractice. We affirm.

1. Nondisclosure

Osijo contends Michell had an undisclosed conflict of interest in representing him, because the defense of his personal injury action was under the control of Home, by and through its attorneys, the Larson firm; and Michell herself was insured against malpractice by Home and was defended in a later malpractice action by the Larson firm. We agree these circumstances would reasonably excite suspicion; and in other contexts, very serious questions might be raised about the need for disclosure to a client of these facts. (See Jeffry v. Pounds (1977) 67 Cal.App.3d 6, 10-12; Stanley v. Richmond (1995) 35 Cal.App.4th 1070, 1087-1088 (opn. of Phelan, J.) (Stanley)). However, in the context of the present case, we are limited by the record made below, which shows without contradiction that Osijo's representation by Michell had concluded before she was sued by another party for malpractice and was defended by the Larson firm in that matter. Consequently, the record before us shows Michell would have had nothing to disclose to Osijo during the time of her representation of him concerning the Larson firm or any claims made against her Home policy.

Osijo urges that Michell nevertheless had a duty to disclose the fact that her malpractice insurer, Home, was also controlling the defense in Osijo's personal injury litigation. However, the evidence before us shows Michell did not know that the insurer controlling the defense of Osijo's personal injury action was Home until this was disclosed in discovery in March 1991, long after she assumed representation of Osijo. Further, we decline on this record to impose a duty upon counsel to disclose to clients the identity of counsel's insurer, when there are presently no claims made or pending against the policy in question which would create a conflict of interest. No such claims were filed until long after Michell ceased representing Osijo. Further, the subject matter of the Osijo personal injury action had nothing to do with any unasserted claims for malpractice against Michell, and our Supreme Court has recently observed that the rules against attorney conflicts of interest are directed to situations in which a link between the subject matters of two representations or financial ties would give an attorney an incentive to compromise a client's claim at a discount; and we see no such incentive on the facts of record here, prior to the assertion of a claim against Michell which might be covered by her Home policy and have some substantial relationship to Osijo's case. (See Santa Clara County Counsel Atty. Assn. v. Woodside (1994) 7 Cal.4th 525, 546-547; Flatt v. Superior Court (1994) 9 Cal.4th 275, 283 (Flatt).) Consequently, we agree with the trial court that summary judgment on this claim was proper.³

2. Summary Judgment Against Other Claims of Malpractice

Osijo also asserted Michell was liable to him on a cause of action which he described as "Antagonism and Refusal to Respect Discharge of Attorney." The trial court properly granted summary judgment against this cause of action based upon the applicable one-year statute of limitations.

³ The case would be different if the evidence showed there was an actual conflict between Michell's duty to Osijo and her own later defense by Home and the Larson firm. We affirm the summary judgment on the narrow ground that the evidence of record does not demonstrate that such an actual conflict existed during the period Michell represented Osijo.

The relevant statute of limitations is the one-year statute, section 340.6, which requires that such an action against an attorney be brought within one year of the date when the plaintiff discovers the facts constituting the wrongful act or omission. The evidence before the trial court showed Osijo did not assert this particular claim within the applicable one-year time period.

Osijo first asserted this cause of action in March 1993. All of the acts complained of, however, occurred during the period of Osijo's representation by Mitchell, which ended in February 1992; and he was necessarily aware of those facts and the "Antagonism" they caused to him at the time they occurred. For instance, Osijo complains that Mitchell attempted to file an amicus curiae brief in this court (Division Two) in January 1992 which sought to enforce the terms of the settlement he was trying to avoid. We agree with Osijo that the filing of a brief contrary to the interests of a former client raises very serious ethical questions; for this reason, this court refused to accept the brief in question for filing. In any event, Osijo necessarily learned of the attempted filing of the brief at the time it occurred, since a copy of the brief was served on him. For purposes of section 340.6, he knew of the acts complained of at the latest in January 1992, but did not bring this cause of action within one year as he was required to do.⁴

Osijo also contends the trial court erred in granting summary judgment to Ganong, who he alleged was Mitchell's law partner. However, no independent acts by Ganong were alleged, and his liability on these claims could only have been derivative as a result of Mitchell's actions. Since we affirm the summary judgment against Osijo on these claims, the trial court properly entered summary judgment in favor of Ganong as well. Further, it appears Ganong had retired some years previously and played no role in these events.

⁴ We affirm summary judgment against this cause of action solely on the basis of the statute of limitations, and not on any other ground. It is apparent that if not for the bar of the statute of limitations, very serious questions might be raised which would have precluded summary judgment. (See Flatt, supra, 9 Cal.4th at pp. 282-285.)

C. The Motion for Judgment on the Fiduciary Duty Claim

After Osijo presented evidence at the court trial in favor of his claim of breach of fiduciary duty, Judge Zuniga granted a motion for judgment on this claim under section 631.8. Michell contends we are required to affirm this action granting a judgment under section 631.8 at the close of evidence in a court trial if the judgment is supported by substantial evidence, citing Rodde v. Continental Ins. Companies (1979) 89 Cal.App.3d 420, 423-424. However, more recent authority from our Supreme Court makes clear that where, as here, the underlying facts concerning such matters as the appropriation of client funds are no longer subject to dispute, and the only question is the legal one of whether such action constitutes a breach of fiduciary duty, we exercise de novo review. (Locklin v. City of Lafayette (1994) 7 Cal.4th 327, 369-371 (Locklin).

We conclude we must reverse under either standard. Judge Trembath had previously found Michell had "wrongfully appropriated" to herself $12,500 in settlement proceeds which belonged to Osijo. The wrongful appropriation of client funds is a clear breach of the fiduciary duty owed by an attorney to a client. Judge Zuniga's ruling to the contrary is not supported by substantial evidence and was legally erroneous. (See Locklin supra, 7 Cal.4th at pp. 369-371.)

The misappropriation of client funds held in trust by an attorney clearly constitutes a "breach of trust" in violation of the attorney's fiduciary duties. (Copren v. State Bar (1944) 25 Cal.2d 129, 134-135; Baca v. State Bar (1990) 52 Cal.3d 294, 304-305; see also Mirabito v. Liccardo (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 41, 44-46 [Actions by an attorney which violate the rules of professional conduct may also constitute a breach of fiduciary duty.]) Here Michell cashed a settlement check without her client's knowledge or consent at a time when her right to any fee was still disputed, and used $100,000 for her own immediate purposes. She then later "wrongfully appropriated" an additional $12,500 held in trust for her client, again without her client's knowledge or consent, and apparently spent that money as well. We are, therefore, astounded by the trial court's ruling that

Michell did not violate any fiduciary duty owed to her client. This ruling is simply not supported by substantial evidence, and is legally erroneous. (See Locklin, supra, 7 Cal.4th at pp. 369-370.)

The trial court apparently reached this result because it observed that Osijo had not adduced any expert testimony that an attorney who has "wrongfully appropriated" client funds has breached a fiduciary duty. There is no need for expert testimony, however, as to obvious propositions. (See People v. Johnson (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 778, 789-790.) This is especially true as to a question of law in a court trial, where the trial court is, or should be, already an expert in the law. Expert testimony is not required to show attorney malfeasance where the facts are so clear as to obviate the need for expert testimony. (Stanley, supra, 35 Cal.App.4th at p. 1093 [A judgment for nonsuit based upon the absence of expert testimony regarding attorney duties was reversed.]; accord, Goebel v. Lauderdale (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 1502, 1508-1509.)

The judgment in favor of Michell on the cause of action for breach of fiduciary duties must be reversed.

D. Malicious Prosecution

Judge Zuniga also granted Michell damages for malicious prosecution, finding this action was not legally tenable. However, it is well established that a malicious prosecution action cannot be brought until a previous action has been terminated in favor of the defendant, and Michell obviously had not prevailed in this action, which was and is still pending. In fact, it appears Osijo has already prevailed in part in the action, and his other claims on which he did not prevail would not justify damages for malicious prosecution in any event. We, therefore, vacate the award of damages for malicious prosecution.

As our Supreme Court has repeatedly observed, it is "hornbook law" that damages may not be awarded for malicious prosecution of a prior action, unless the prior action is terminated in favor of the defendant. (See Babb v. Superior Court (1971) 3 Cal.2d 841, 845-847; Lochner v. LaCroix (1979) 25 Cal.3d 747, 749; Sheldon Appel Co. v. Albert & Oliker (1989) 47 Cal.3d 863, 871.) This court (Division Five) has also repeatedly observed that malicious prosecution actions may not be pursued unless the prior action has been favorably terminated. (Walsh v. Bronson (1988) 200 Cal.App.3d 259, 263-264 (opn. of Haning, J.); Green v. Uccelli (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 1112, 1121 (Green) (opn. of King, J.) ["Clearly there has been no favorable termination of the underlying . . . action . . . , since [an] appeal from the court's judgment is pending before this court."]) Here, the malpractice action Osijo brought against Mitchell has not even terminated; it is still pending; further, Osijo has prevailed in part in this malpractice action.

Judge Zuniga did not find, and could not have found, that this action had terminated in favor of Mitchell. We are, therefore, mystified by the award of damages to Mitchell for malicious prosecution; there is no legal basis for such an award in any action which is still pending and in which Mitchell has not prevailed. (See Jenkins v. Pope (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1292, 1297-1301; Eells v. Rosenblum (1995) 36 Cal.App.4th 1848, 1854 (Eells).)⁵

Mitchell apparently now concedes the damages for malicious prosecution could not be based on the fact that Osijo filed certain pleadings in an action which is still pending, even though this was the trial court's articulated basis for its damages award on the malicious prosecution action. At oral argument, Michell contended, instead, that the malicious prosecution damages could be based on the fact Osijo filed a complaint with the California Supreme Court regarding Michell, which the Supreme Court declined to hear. Michell now implies that the final disposition of that complaint could be used to uphold the damages award for malicious prosecution. However, the trial court did not base its damage calculation on the Supreme Court complaint alone, as Michell implies. The trial court clearly awarded damages for the "initial filings" in this action, which was improper.

Further, Michell apparently had no cognizable damages from the filing of the Supreme Court complaint, as review of the record makes clear. Osijo filed a complaint with the State Bar regarding Michell. The State Bar initially declined to investigate the matter, and told Osijo he would have to file a complaint with our Supreme Court in order to appeal the State Bar's decision not to investigate. Osijo did so. The Supreme Court in its discretion dismissed that complaint, which did not raise issues of statewide application; but this dismissal, while final, does not reflect on the merits of the dispute so as to allow us to conclude the matter had been favorably terminated or was brought without probable cause. (See Eells, supra, 36 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1854-1855.)

Moreover, even if as Michell suggests the filing of that complaint damaged her because it led to a renewed State Bar investigation, it is also well established that the filing of a State Bar complaint by a client does not result in cognizable damages to an attorney, because those damages simply result from the actions of the State Bar acting as an arm of the Supreme Court. (See Starwyck v. Horne (1983) 146 Cal.App.3d 450, 460-461.) Finally, this is a case in which Osijo prevailed on his claims that Michell did, in fact, wrongly misappropriate client funds. It would be unjust to award an attorney damages in an action for malicious prosecution brought in such circumstances.

The trial court's judgment in Michell's favor for malicious prosecution must be vacated.

III. DISPOSITION

The trial court's order of summary adjudication in favor of Osijo regarding wrongful appropriation of settlement proceeds is affirmed. The trial court's order granting summary judgment against Osijo's other claims for nondisclosure and "Antagonism" are also affirmed. The trial court's order granting judgment against Osijo on his cause of action for breach of fiduciary duty is reversed. The judgment against Osijo for malicious prosecution is vacated. The matter is remanded for further proceedings consistent with the views expressed in this opinion. Costs on appeal are awarded to Osijo.

Plaintiff/Appellant,

v.

GANONG AND MICHELL et al.,

Defendant/Respondent.

THE COURT:¹

After we remanded this case to the trial court for further proceedings, the trial court awarded appellant Wale O. Osijo damages of $12,500 plus interest on his claims against his former attorney, respondent Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam (Michell). Appellant now contends the trial court erred by not awarding him additional damages, as punitive damages or emotional distress damages, for Michell's wrongful appropriation of $12,500 in settlement proceeds. The trial court ruled that the evidence before it at the time of trial did not warrant an award of such damages. We find the trial court's rulings to be supported by substantial evidence, and affirm.

I. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

We have seen this case before. In Osijo v. Ganong and Michell (Apr. 12, 1996) A068661, we affirmed in part, reversed in part, and remanded this matter to the trial court for further proceedings. We discuss those prior proceedings in greater detail in the next part of this opinion.

The proceedings on remand included, in relevant part, an additional court trial on the question of Osijo's right to damages for Michell's wrongful appropriation of $12,500 in settlement proceeds, which she should have paid to Osijo. The trial court, after hearing the matter, entered an order awarding Osijo $12,500 plus interest. The trial court found no evidence in support of Osijo's claims for punitive damages or emotional distress damages and, therefore, declined to award such damages.

II. DISCUSSION

We affirm the trial court's rulings.

A. No Punitive Damages

The trial court awarded Osijo the $12,500 wrongfully appropriated by Michell, together with interest. Osijo contends the trial court should have awarded him punitive damages. However, the trial court ruled on this issue as follows: "Assuming the First Cause of Action contained in Plaintiff's Third Amended Complaint supports a claim for punitive damages, plaintiff failed to satisfy his burden of proof and establish by clear and convincing evidence that Georgia Ann Michell acted maliciously, oppressively, or fraudulently in the withdrawal of the disputed $12,500.[00] in attorney's fees from the plaintiff's portion of the settlement monies at issue. Plaintiff failed to establish any malice towards plaintiff by defendant, a malignant heart or a desire by defendant to hurt plaintiff. It is clear from the evidence presented to the court that defendant believed, albeit mistakenly, that she was entitled to a 45% attorney fee from the settlement."

This ruling is supported by substantial evidence and, therefore, is binding upon us on appeal. (See In re Marriage of Mix (1975) 14 Cal.3d 604, 614 (Mix); Bowers v. Bernards (1984) 150 Cal.App.3d 870, 873-874.)

The evidence of record in this and the prior litigation between the parties showed the following. In 1989, Osijo filed a previous action, Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc. (Super. Ct. Alameda County, No. 649881-6) (personal injury action). In the personal injury action, Osijo alleged he had been employed as a security guard at the Acom Apartments, a housing project in Oakland, California when he was shot more than 15 times in his lower body by assailants armed with high velocity rifles. This attack was carried out by the assailants in retaliation for physical and verbal abuse they suffered at the hands of other security guards earlier in the day. The lawsuit alleged that Osijo's injuries and damages resulted from the negligent failure of the defendants to warn him of the danger. These defendants included Osijo's employer, a security company, and the managers and owners of the housing complex he was guarding. All the defendants were apparently insolvent or judgment proof. However, there was an applicable insurance policy issued by Home Insurance Companies (Home), and Home retained the law firm of Larson and Burnham (the Larson firm) to defend Osijo's action.

Osijo had more than one attorney representing him at various times in the personal injury action. Eventually, in 1990, he retained Michell to represent him, executing a written retainer agreement. Under the terms of this written agreement, Michell was to be paid 40 percent of any settlement or damages award at trial, and 45 percent of any recovery if she was required to defend the damages award on appeal.

The action was eventually settled by Michell, the Larson firm, and Osijo. However, Osijo contended the settlement was improperly arrived at; on appeal, Division Two of the First Appellate District affirmed an order of the trial court enforcing the settlement, over Osijo's objections. Under the terms of the settlement, the settling defendants paid $250,000 to Osijo and his counsel, Michell. Michell, however, took for herself 45 percent of the settlement proceeds, or $112,500, not the 40 percent or $100,000 authorized by the written agreement for any settlement.

Osijo brought this action against Michell for malpractice, contending she had intentionally concealed from him facts relating to the settlement. According to Osijo's theory in the trial court, Michell concealed from him the fact that his damages could be much greater than the settlement amount, and that she also had an undisclosed conflict of interest as a result of her ties to Home's retained law firm, the Larson firm, which was by then defending Michell in another malpractice action. Osijo also contended Michell had committed malpractice and violated the terms of the written retainer agreement by taking an extra 5 percent of the settlement proceeds, or $12,500. Michell, in turn, filed a cross-complaint in the same action for malicious prosecution, contending Osijo wrongly sued her for malpractice.

Judge Trembath resolved certain matters on summary judgment or summary adjudication. He ruled Michell had violated the terms of the retainer agreement, because she "wrongfully appropriated" $12,500 too much from the recovery. He also granted summary judgment against Osijo's other claims of malpractice against Michell. Thereafter, Michell amended her cross-complaint to allege that the claims upon which summary adjudication were granted had been terminated in her favor, allowing her to pursue Osijo for malicious prosecution as a result of those claims. Osijo's remaining claim for breach of fiduciary duty and the cross-complaint filed by Michell against Osijo proceeded to trial before Judge Zuniga. Judge Zuniga granted a motion for a judgment under Code of Civil Procedure section 631.8 at the close of Osijo's evidence. Judge Zuniga also held Osijo was in default for not filing an amended answer to Michell's amended cross-complaint, and the trial proceeded as a default hearing. Judge Zuniga held Osijo's proceedings were "legally untenable" and awarded costs of defense to Michell for malicious prosecution of $27,729.05.

Osijo filed a timely appeal, and Michell filed a partial appeal from the previous ruling that she had wrongly misappropriated $12,500 from Osijo's settlement proceeds. We affirmed Judge Trembath's ruling that Michell had wrongly appropriated the $12,500, and affirmed his rulings in other respects. We also reversed the rulings by Judge Zuniga, and remanded the matter for further proceedings.

On remand, Michell testified she had committed an innocent mistake in paying herself the extra $12,500, based upon a letter from Osijo which seemed to offer her that extra fee if she stayed on the case without forcing him to rehire his separate worker's compensation attorney. Osijo argued that it could be inferred Michell acted with malice, although he did not present any specific evidence in this regard. The trial court ruled, based upon this evidence, that punitive damages were not warranted: "I think that Mr. Osijo, the plaintiff, has not carried his burden of proof in this case of showing by clear and convincing evidence that he is entitled to an award of punitive damages against the defendant because of her conduct. [¶] Now, her conduct under the rules applicable to attorneys was not appropriate conduct. I don't think anyone would disagree with that. The appellate court has ruled this was not appropriate, the manner in which she disbursed the funds. But to say that she has [acted] with malice . . . towards you, Mr. Osijo, in a desire to hurt you, that she has taken the money out I don't think reflects the state of the evidence."

This ruling is supported by substantial evidence. (Mix, supra, 14 Cal.3d at p. 614.) While the trial court could, perhaps, have inferred malice from these facts, it certainly was not required to do so. This is especially true because Osijo presented no specific evidence supporting his claim for punitive damages; the only evidence before the court was that Michell did not intend to violate Osijo's rights and simply acted negligently. We might have some doubts on this point, given the long animosity between Michell and Osijo documented in the record of the prior appeals, but we certainly cannot say the trial court's ruling was unsupported by substantial evidence. (Ibid.; see also Stevens v. Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. (1996) 49 Cal.App.4th 1645, 1658 ["Whether to award punitive damages and how much to award were issues for the . . . trial court All presumptions favor the correctness of the verdict and judgment."].) Punitive damages are not granted as a matter of right, and are reserved for a limited number of cases in which "it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that the defendant has been guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice . . ." (Civ. Code, § 3294, subd. (a).) The trial court in effect found these predicates had not been proven to its satisfaction by clear and convincing evidence. We cannot say the trial court abused its discretion, nor can we say its conclusion is not supported by substantial evidence of lack of oppression, fraud, or malice.

B. No Emotional Distress Damages

The trial court also ruled that Osijo had not proven any damages for emotional distress as a result of Michell's wrongful appropriation of the $12,500. Once again, the trial court's ruling is supported by substantial evidence. Osijo did not present any medical evidence, such as doctor or hospital bills, psychiatric testimony, and so on, to support his claimed $500,000 in emotional distress damages. As the trial court ruled: "Your request for $500,000 for emotional distress I don't believe is supported by the [pleadings]. . . . But even assuming that it is pled, this is not a case in which you are entitled to receive emotional distress damages. [¶] You do say here taking the money subjected you to humiliation, but I'm not sure what you mean by that. Humiliation before whom, by whom, or what you meant by that. [¶] . . . [¶] There will be no award of any additional moneys. The evidence is just not clear enough for me to award you other compensatory or other actual damages. You have not carried your burden of proof"

We can find no reversible error. Osijo presented no evidence as to any particular type or amount of emotional distress damages, beyond his clearly unsupportable claim in arguments or briefs that he should be paid $500,000 in emotional distress damages because of the delay in receiving the additional $12,500 due to him under the parties' contract. This delay in receiving money due under a contract, without more, was insufficient to support a claim for emotional distress. (See, e.g., Kruse v. Bank of America (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 38, 67-68 [There was an insufficient showing of emotional distress damages, where a bank merely asserted its contractual rights to foreclose on the plaintiff's property.]; Trerice v. Blue Cross of California (1989) 209 Cal.App.3d 878, 883-885 [There was insufficient evidence of emotional distress damages, where the plaintiff's termination benefits package was less favorable than the one she had been promised.]) We affirm the trial court's ruling on the grounds that Osijo did not carry his burden of proof as to emotional distress damages.²

C. Dismissal of John Ganong as a Party

During prior proceedings, Judge Trembath granted summary judgment in favor of Michell's former law partner John Ganong, who was apparently not personally involved in these events. We affirmed this ruling on appeal. This ruling constituted the law of the case; and it was binding during further proceedings, such as those in the trial court on remand. (See People v. Stanley (1995) 10 Cal.4th 764, 786-787.) Despite this, Osijo tried to proceed again against Ganong in the trial court on remand. The trial court properly refused to allow Osijo to proceed further against a party who had previously been dismissed by an order of summary judgment, which order was subsequently affirmed on appeal.³

D. Costs

Osijo contends the trial court abused its discretion in ruling that (1) Osijo was entitled to costs as a prevailing party, but (2) the unverified costs memorandum Osijo prepared was insufficient to show that the claimed costs of $131,500 were justified.

It is very doubtful, indeed, that we have proper appellate jurisdiction over this issue, since Osijo did not file a separate appeal from the trial court's order on costs. Nevertheless, in order to ensure that nothing is overlooked, we note that we would find no abuse of discretion by the trial court in any event. Osijo's request for claimed costs in the exorbitant sum of $131,500 was clearly insufficient under Code of Civil Procedure section

² We, therefore, need not address Michell's contentions that damages for emotional distress may not be awarded for a "negligent" breach of fiduciary duty. (See Flyer's Body Shop Profit Sharing Plan v. Ticor Tile Ins. Co. (1986) 185 Cal.App.3d 1149, 1154-1155.) The trial court correctly concluded no damages were proven in any event.

1033.5, which allows the recovery of such items as jury fees, expert witness fees, and so on, none of which costs were apparently incurred by Osijo in this court trial. We find no abuse of discretion in the trial court's order concerning costs, given Osijo's failure to properly claim and itemize his request for allowable costs. (See Hydratec, Inc. v. Sun Valley 260 Orchard & Vineyard Co. (1990) 223 Cal.App.3d 924, 927-929.)

Plaintiff and appellant Abedowale O. Osijo (plaintiff) settled a personal injury action in 1991. Since that time, plaintiff has filed numerous lawsuits against the insurers and attorneys involved in that case and subsequent litigation. In this action, plaintiff, in pro. per., filed suit against defendants and respondents The Home Insurance Company (Home); Risk Enterprise Management Ltd. (REM); Burnham Brown; Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam (Michell); and Murphy, Pearson, Bradley & Feeney (MPBF), James A. Murphy and Antoinette W. Farrell (collectively, the MPBF parties) for fraud and invasion of privacy.

In resolving the issues through several demurrers, motions for summary adjudication, and a bench trial, the court found the claims barred by the statute of limitations and the litigation privilege. We affirm.

PROCEDURAL AND FACTUAL HISTORIES

This case is a procedural and factual maze with litigation in both the state and federal trial and appellate courts spanning over 15 years. We do our best to summarize it here.

In 1988, plaintiff was shot several times while he was working as a security guard at a housing project in Oakland, California. In 1989, plaintiff filed a personal injury action against Housing Resources Management, Inc., and his employer, the security guard company, among others. (See Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., et al., Super. Ct. Alameda County, 1991, No. 649881-6.) Plaintiff retained Michell to represent him. All the defendants were apparently insolvent or judgment proof, but there was an applicable insurance policy—Housing Resources Management, Inc., was insured under a Home general commercial liability policy. Home retained the law firms of Larson & Burnham and MPBF to defend. In July 1991, the matter settled for $250,000. However, the following day, plaintiff notified his counsel that he wanted out of the agreement. The trial court nonetheless entered judgment pursuant to the terms of the settlement. Plaintiff appealed, and the First District Court of Appeal affirmed the judgment. The California Supreme Court denied plaintiff's petition for review. (See Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., et al. (July 16, 1992, A055045) [nonpub. opn.], review den. Sept. 30, 1992, S028364.)

Thereafter, plaintiff filed a legal malpractice action against Michell, her law firm and several other attorneys. Plaintiff alleged his attorneys failed to disclose a prior relationship with Home and Larson & Burnham—specifically that they were insured by Home for legal malpractice and that Larson & Burnham was representing them in another professional negligence action. Plaintiff alleged his attorneys set up a bogus settlement conference, "tricked" and "snookered" him into signing the settlement agreement, and took too much of the settlement proceeds. (See Osijo v. Ganong and Michell, et al., Super. Ct. Contra Costa County, 1994, No. C92-05352.) The defendants filed a cross-complaint against plaintiff for malicious prosecution and abuse of process. Michell was originally defended by Burnham Brown (the successor to Larson & Burnham), but was later defended by the MPBF parties. The malpractice claim went to trial in 1994 and was decided against plaintiff. The defendants were awarded in excess of $27,000 on the cross-complaint.

Plaintiff appealed, and the First District Court of Appeal affirmed the judgment with respect to the malpractice claim, but reversed and remanded on the breach of fiduciary duty claim. The court vacated the judgment on the malicious prosecution claim. (See Osijo v. Ganong and Michell, et al. (Apr. 12, 1996, A068661) [nonpub. opn.].) The trial court subsequently awarded plaintiff $12,500 against Michell. The First District Court of Appeal affirmed that judgment. (Osijo v. Ganong and Michell, et al. (Feb. 2, 1998, A077882) [nonpub. opn.].)

In March 1998, plaintiff filed suit in district court, alleging various claims for civil rights violations against Home; Home's successor and manager of its claims and liabilities, REM; Michell; several of Michell's associates; an attorney with Larson & Burnham; several attorneys with MPBF; and employees of the Internal Revenue Service. Plaintiff alleged that certain of the attorney defendants maliciously instituted a tax collection proceeding against plaintiff and submitted plaintiff's entire file to employees of the Internal Revenue Service. Among the myriad allegations, plaintiff also asserted that Michell conspired with Home's attorney to settle the original personal injury action. Plaintiff sought damages in excess of $3 million. The district court granted numerous motions to dismiss filed by the private parties and entered judgment in favor of the United States on plaintiff's civil rights claims.¹ (See Osijo v. United States of America, et al. (C.D.Cal. Mar. 5, 1999, No. CV 98-1880-CAS (BQR)) 1999 WL 358686.) The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed. (See Osijo v. Weiner, et al. (9th Cir. 2000) 232 F.3d 895, 2000 WL 1047109.) The United States Supreme Court denied plaintiff's petition for a writ of certiorari. (See Osijo v. Weiner, et al. (2001) 531 U.S. 1150.)

On April 12, 2001, plaintiff filed another action against Home; REM; Michell; Michell's law firm and several of its attorneys; Burnham Brown; the MPBF parties; and the federal employees in the district court action, along with two government attorneys. Plaintiff asserted claims for deprivation of access to court, invasion of privacy and fraud based on allegations that the defendant attorneys conspired to release his legal and medical files to the Internal Revenue Service, and Home conspired to obtain a fraudulent judgment in the personal injury action. This time, plaintiff sought damages in excess of $10 million. (See Osijo v. Robbins, et al., Super. Ct. Fresno County, 2001, No. 01CECG01279.) The case was removed to district court. Pursuant to plaintiff's request, the federal claims were dismissed with prejudice. The remaining claims were dismissed without prejudice to their being litigated in state court. (See Osijo v. Robbins, et al. (E.D.Cal. Sept. 4, 2001, No. CV F 01-5496 AWILJO).)

On January 25, 2002, plaintiff filed the instant action against Home; REM; Burnham Brown; Michell; Michell's law firm and former attorneys; and the MPBF parties. Plaintiff alleged two claims: 1) extrinsic fraud in his underlying personal injury action, and 2) deprivation of privacy rights and interests in legal and medical files.

On April 16, 2002, the trial court sustained without leave to amend the demurrer of the MPBF parties to the first cause of action, but overruled it as to the second cause of action. The court also sustained without leave to amend the demurrer of Michell, her firm and attorneys to the first cause of action, but overruled it as to the second cause of action. The court found that the first cause of action for fraud was barred by the litigation privilege. The court overruled the demurrers of REM and Burnham Brown in their entirety.

On October 7, 2002, the trial court granted Home's motion for summary judgment. The court found Home met its burden of establishing that the first cause of action was barred by the litigation privilege and both the first and second causes of action were barred by the applicable statute of limitations. The court denied REM's motion for summary judgment, finding it failed to show it did not exist during the time of the alleged disclosure of legal and medical records. REM did not move in the alternative for summary adjudication.

On November 15, 2002, the trial court granted the MPBF parties' summary adjudication as to the second cause of action, concluding it was barred by the applicable statute of limitations. The court also granted Burnham Brown's motion for summary adjudication as to the first cause of action, finding it was barred by the litigation privilege and the applicable statute of limitations. The court treated Burnham Brown's motion for summary adjudication of the second cause of action as a motion for judgment on the pleadings. The court reasoned that plaintiff's allegations against Burnham Brown failed to state a valid claim for invasion of privacy because, as defense counsel in the personal injury action, Burnham Brown had a right to obtain plaintiff's medical information. The motion for judgment on the pleadings was granted with 10 days' leave to amend. The court later sustained Burnham Brown's demurrer to the second cause of action without leave to amend, finding plaintiff failed to allege any new facts to cure the defect.

Following a court trial on the affirmative defenses, judgment was entered in favor of the remaining defendants, including REM and Michell. The court found that the evidence established that 1) plaintiff had actual knowledge in 1993 of facts upon which his suspicions of fraud were based and 2) plaintiff was aware that the defendants turned over his legal and medical files to the Internal Revenue Service in 1997. Thus, the court concluded that both the fraud and invasion of privacy claims were barred by the applicable statutes of limitation. The court denied plaintiff's motion for a new trial.

Plaintiff appealed. We granted Home and REM's motion to consolidate the two separate appeals filed by plaintiff.

DISCUSSION

Plaintiff claims error by the trial court in finding his fraud claim barred by the litigation privilege and both the fraud and invasion-of-privacy claims barred by the applicable statute of limitations. Before reaching the merits, we first address Home and REM's motions to dismiss the appeal.

I. Motions to dismiss

Home and REM filed motions to dismiss the appeal on the ground Home has been declared insolvent, pursuant to a New Hampshire liquidation order, and all actions and proceedings against Home and REM, arising from its actions on behalf of Home, must be abated. Home and REM maintain that California's recognition of the legal doctrines of full faith and credit and judicial comity support dismissal of the appeal.

Home and REM cite to an Order of Liquidation, issued on June 13, 2003, by the New Hampshire Superior Court in an action in which Home was declared insolvent.² The Commissioner of Insurance for the State of New Hampshire was appointed liquidator and was vested with the full powers and authority under New Hampshire's Insurers Rehabilitation and Liquidation Act (37 N.H. Rev. Stat. § 402-C). (See In the Matter of the Rehabilitation of The Home Insurance Company, Super. Ct. New Hampshire, 2003, No. 03-E-0106.) Pursuant to New Hampshire's Insurers Rehabilitation and Liquidation Act, the court's liquidation order further provided as follows:

"(m) All actions and all proceedings against ... Home whether in this state or elsewhere shall be abated in accordance with RSA 402-C:28 and RSA 402-C:5, except to the extent the Liquidator sees fit and obtains leave to intervene;

"(n) To the full extent of the jurisdiction of the Court and the comity to which the orders of the Court are entitled, all persons are hereby permanently enjoined and restrained from any of the following actions:

"(1) commencing or continuing any judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding against ... Home or the Liquidator;

"(2) commencing or continuing any judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding against ... Home's ... or the Liquidator's present or former directors, officers, employees, agents, representatives, or consultants, including, without limitation, [REM] and each of its officers, directors and employees, arising from their actions on behalf of ... Home ... or the Liquidator;

²Pursuant to Evidence Code sections 452 and 459, we grant Home and REM's requests for judicial notice filed in support of their motions to dismiss. Plaintiff filed a June 20, 2003, request for judicial notice in opposition to Home's motion to stay the proceedings. Because we denied Home's motion, it is not necessary to grant plaintiff's request. It is therefore denied.

“(3) enforcing any judgment against ... Home or its property”

The allegations in plaintiff's complaint against REM indisputably arise from REM's actions on behalf of Home. Plaintiff alleges that REM is Home's successor and manager of its claims and liabilities. According to plaintiff's complaint, “[REM] has and had managed the existing risks and liabilities of ... Home ... since January 1995.... Home ... funded, provided and controlled the defense of, and offered to settle the ... subsequent legal malpractice action through [REM]” All of the allegations against REM relate to its actions on behalf of or in connection with Home.

The federal constitutional mandate of full faith and credit does not apply here. (U.S. Const., art. IV, § 1 [full faith and credit must be given “in each State to the public Acts, Records, and Judicial Proceedings of every other State”]; 28 U.S.C. § 1738; Underwriters Assur. Co. v. N. C. Guaranty Assn. (1982) 455 U.S. 691, 704 [judgment of state court should hold same credit, validity and effect in every other court of United States]; Capital Trust, Inc. v. Tri-National Development Corp. (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 824, 826 [judgments of sister states given full faith and credit if rendering state had fundamental jurisdiction of matter and all parties were provided reasonable notice and opportunity to be heard].) First, plaintiff was not a party to the New Hampshire insolvency proceeding and thus had no notice of the action and no opportunity to be heard. (See Underwriters Assur. Co. v. N. C. Guaranty Assn., supra, 455 U.S. at p. 705 [if another state court had no jurisdiction over subject matter or relevant parties, full faith and credit need not be given]; accord Bank of America v. Jennett (1999) 77 Cal.App.4th 104, 113; see also 2 Witkin Cal. Procedure (4th ed. 1996) Jurisdiction, § 232 p. 793 [court with personal jurisdiction over defendant may enjoin him from instituting lawsuit elsewhere]; cf. Advanced Bionics Corp. v. Medtronic, Inc. (2002) 29 Cal.4th 697, 704-705 [forum court's power to restrain proceedings in sister state should be used sparingly].)

Second, the liquidation order was not a final adjudication of plaintiff's claim or a determination of his rights with regard to Home or REM. (See Underwriters Assur. Co. v. N. C. Guaranty Assn., supra, 455 U.S. at pp. 703-704 [concept of full faith and credit created in recognition of risk of relitigation of same issue]; Morris v. Jones (1947) 329 U.S. 545, 554 [holding petitioner's claim may not be relitigated in state proceeding where nature and amount of claim conclusively determined by judgment in another state].) The order simply declared Home insolvent and set up a plan for distributing the company's remaining assets. Plaintiff makes no challenge here to the validity of the insolvency finding or the appropriateness of the plan.

Thus, we are not required to give full faith and credit to the abatement provision of the liquidation order. We therefore examine the permissive doctrine of comity.

Comity is founded upon the principle of governmental reciprocity—recognizing that the laws of one state have no force beyond its territorial limits, but the laws of one state are frequently permitted by the courtesy of another to operate in the latter for the promotion of justice. (Advanced Bionics Corp. v. Medtronic, Inc., supra, 29 Cal.4th at p. 707.) "This courtesy, or comity, is established, not only from motives of respect for the laws and institutions of the foreign [jurisdictions], but from considerations of mutual utility and advantage." ... [Citations.]" (Ibid.; see also State of Oregon v. Superior Court (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 1550, 1562, disapproved on other grounds in Vons Companies, Inc. v. Seabest Foods, Inc. (1996) 14 Cal.4th 434, 465, fn. 8.)

The discretionary doctrine of comity may be appropriately applied here. Although California is not compelled by its own laws, or by the federal Constitution, to give full faith and credit to the abatement provision of the New Hampshire liquidation order, public policy considerations and the similarities between New Hampshire's Insurers Rehabilitation and Liquidation Act and California's own laws regarding insolvent insurers supports our decision to give the New Hampshire order effect in California. California's Insurance Code grants this state's insurance commissioner, acting as the liquidator of an insolvent insurer, the very same authority to "prevent" by an appropriate order "[t]he institution or prosecution of any actions or proceedings" against the insurer. (Ins. Code, § 1020.) Insurance Code "[s]ection 1020 reflects a legislative intent to preserve an insolvent insurer's assets for orderly disposition by the commissioner." (Webster v. Superior Court (1988) 46 Cal.3d 338, 344, fn. omitted.) Implicit in Insurance Code section 1020 is an understanding that all claims against the insurer will be processed in a single forum, which will further the orderly disposition of the insurer's net assets. This state has a strong public interest in the orderly administration of insolvencies in the insurance business, regardless of the administering state, in order to protect policyholders, creditors and the public. (Garamendi v. Executive Life Ins. Co. (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 504, 515; Ins. Code, § 1064.3, subd. (b).)

In sum, given California's adoption of statutes which acknowledge and promote the principle that claims against an insolvent insurer should be adjudicated and resolved in a single forum, and given the existence of equivalent New Hampshire legislation, we find it appropriate to apply the principle of comity to the New Hampshire liquidation order. The appeal is dismissed with respect to Home and REM. (See In re Stephanie M. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 295, 314 [extension or denial of comity is discretionary].)³

We turn then to the claims pertaining to the remaining parties, Burnham Brown, Michell, and the MPBF parties.

³In one-paragraph arguments with no citation to legal authority, plaintiff contends that the motions to dismiss should be denied because 1) it is the responsibility of the court-appointed liquidator to file a motion, and 2) REM is not in liquidation through receivership. "When an appellant fails to raise a point, or asserts it but fails to support it with reasoned argument and citations to authority, we treat the point as waived." (Badie v. Bank of America (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 779, 784-785; see also People v. Stanley (1995) 10 Cal.4th 764, 793; Akins v. State of California (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 1, 50 [waiver of contention by failure to cite any legal authority].)

II. Applicable standards of review

We briefly set forth the applicable standards for reviewing the various claims at issue. "In reviewing a judgment of dismissal after a demurrer is sustained without leave to amend, we must assume the truth of all facts properly pleaded by the plaintiff ... , as well as those that are judicially noticeable." (Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of La Habra (2001) 25 Cal.4th 809, 814.)

"A trial court properly grants summary judgment where no triable issue of material fact exists and the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. [Citation.] We review the trial court's decision de novo, considering all of the evidence the parties offered in connection with the motion (except that which the court properly excluded) and the uncontradicted inferences the evidence reasonably supports." [Citation.]" (Simon v. Walt Disney World Co. (2004) 114 Cal.App.4th 1162, 1168.)

Finally, a challenge to the sufficiency of the evidence at trial is reviewed under the substantial evidence rule. (Lenk v. Total-Western, Inc. (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 959, 968.)

III. Fraud claim

The trial court sustained the demurrers of Michell and the MPBF parties without leave to amend on the fraud cause of action, finding the claim barred by the litigation privilege. The court also granted Burnham Brown summary adjudication on this claim based on the same ground.

Plaintiff's fraud cause of action is premised on the alleged fraudulent communications made by Michell, Burnham Brown, and the MPBF parties in connection with the initial personal injury action and subsequent malpractice action. Plaintiff alleged as follows:

"[Home] hired [MPBF] to represent [Michell], prosecute the defense of, and offered to settle the ... subsequent legal malpractice action. [Home] hired [MPBF] to file and prosecute a sham and frivolous cross-complaint for malicious prosecution and abuse of process against the [p]laintiff, and offered to dismiss the sham and frivolous cross-complaint in exchange for the [p]laintiff's settlement of the ... subsequent legal malpractice action. [¶] ... [¶]

" ... Plaintiff categorically and affirmatively alleges that [Home] and [REM] hired [the MPBF parties] to expressly and/or impliedly perpetrate fraud on the Courts in the [State] of California. [Home] and [REM] expressly and/or impliedly instructed [the MPBF parties] to withhold and/or conceal the involvement of [Home] in the funding and control of the defense of the ... subsequent legal malpractice action, from the California Court of Appeals, First District, Division V, in order to obtain a judgment in favor of [Home] and [REM]. [Home] and [REM] expressly and/or impliedly instructed [the MPBF parties] to put [Michell] on the witness stand to falsely and fraudulently testify under Oath that she had 'mistakenly misappropriated' 5 percent of the $250,000 that [Home] paid her to settle the ... underlying personal injury action, in order to withhold and/or conceal the fact that [Michell] represented the [p]laintiff with an actual conflict of interest in the ... underlying personal injury action....

" ... Plaintiff categorically and affirmatively alleges that [Home] hired ... Burnham & Brown ... to expressly and/or impliedly perpetrate fraud on the Courts in the State of California. [Home] expressly and/or impliedly instructed them to falsely and fraudulently plead to the Superior Court of Alameda County ... that it fairly obtained a legally binding agreement to settle the ... underlying personal injury action from the [p]laintiff and his attorneys....

" ... Plaintiff categorically and affirmatively alleges that [Home], ... Burnham & Brown, ... and [Michell], conspired to sabotage [p]laintiff's future appeal of the enforcement order, and/or any subsequent legal malpractice action against [Michell]. [Michell], as the [p]laintiff's attorney was to motion the Superior Court of Alameda County for the removal of the case to a 'Voluntary Settlement Conference,' in a place in San Francisco called the 'Judicial Arbitration and Mediation Service,' without the [p]laintiff's knowledge or consent."

Civil Code section 47, subdivision (b), provides that a privileged publication or broadcast is one made "[i]n any ... judicial proceeding" The litigation privilege "applies to any communication (1) made in judicial or quasi-judicial proceedings; (2) by litigants or other participants authorized by law; (3) to achieve the objects of litigation; and (4) that have some connection or logical relation to the action." (Silberg v. Anderson (1990) 50 Cal.3d 205, 212; see also Drum v. Bleau, Fox & Associates (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 1009, 1024-1027 [privilege protects communication, not conduct].) The privilege is given broad application. (Silberg v. Anderson, supra, 50 Cal.3d at pp. 211-

212.) It is absolute and extends to all torts other than malicious prosecution. (Wise v. Thrifty Payless, Inc. (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 1296, 1302.) The privilege applies to an insurer and its attorneys in judicial proceedings. (Home Ins. Co. v. Zurich Ins. Co. (2002) 96 Cal.App.4th 17, 24; Doctors' Co. Ins. Services v. Superior Court (1990) 225 Cal.App.3d 1284, 1295-1296.)

Here, as recognized by the trial court, the statements at issue alleged by plaintiff in his fraud claim were indisputably communications in a judicial proceeding, by litigants or their attorneys, to achieve the objects of litigation, and the communications had some connection to the action. The communications were made by and between the MPBF parties, Burnham Brown, and Michell in their respective capacities as counsel or party in the personal injury and malpractice actions. Thus, the litigation privilege bars any claim based on the alleged misrepresentations of those parties related to the previous litigation.

Plaintiff attempts to circumvent the litigation privilege by labeling his claim "extrinsic" fraud. (Home Ins. Co. v. Zurich Ins. Co., supra, 96 Cal.App.4th at p. 26 [litigation privilege does not apply to equitable action to set aside settlement agreement based on extrinsic fraud]; see also Silberg v. Anderson, supra, 50 Cal.3d at p. 214.)

"Fraud is extrinsic where the defrauded party was deprived of the opportunity to present his or her claim or defense to the court, that is, where he or she was kept in ignorance or in some other manner, other than from his or her own conduct, fraudulently prevented from fully participating in the proceeding." [Citation.]

"Any fraud is intrinsic if a party has been given notice of the action and has not been prevented from participating therein, that is, if he or she had the opportunity to present his or her case and to protect himself or herself from any mistake or fraud of his or her adversary, but unreasonably neglected to do so. [¶] ... Generally, the introduction of perjured testimony or false documents, or the concealment or suppression of material evidence is deemed intrinsic fraud." (Home Ins. Co. v. Zurich Ins. Co., supra, 96 Cal.App.4th at pp. 26-27.)

Despite plaintiff's label, the fraud alleged in the complaint—prosecution of a sham cross-complaint, concealment of Home's involvement in the defense of the malpractice action, instruction to witnesses to fraudulently testify, and removal of a case to a settlement conference—is not extrinsic fraud. It did not prevent plaintiff from presenting his case in court. And plaintiff has presented no evidence to suggest he could amend his complaint to support a claim for extrinsic fraud.

Thus, the trial court properly sustained the demurrers of Michell and the MPBF parties without leave to amend. The court also properly granted Burnham Brown summary adjudication.⁴

IV. Invasion of privacy claim

The trial court sustained Burnham Brown's demurrer on the invasion of privacy claim on the ground plaintiff failed to state a valid cause of action. The court granted the MPBF parties summary adjudication, finding the claim barred by the applicable statute of limitations. With respect to Michell, the court also found, following a bench trial, that the claim was barred by the statute of limitations.

Plaintiff alleged as follows with respect to his invasion of privacy claim:

"[I]n the course and causes of the ... legal malpractice action, [Home] and [REM] expressly and/or impliedly instructed James A. Murphy, Antoinette W. Farrell, [and] [Michell] ... to turn over copies of [p]laintiff's legal and medical files to Edward M. Robbins, Jr., an Assistant United States Attorney ... ; Mark A. Weiner, an attorney in the employ of the Internal Revenue Service ... ; Penny Childers, a Supervisor in the Internal Revenue Service ... ; Barbara Salisbury, an Income Tax Examiner in the employ of the Internal Revenue Service ... ; and other unknown employees of the Internal Revenue Service. The employees of the Internal Revenue Services rummaged through and disseminated every page in the files for evidence or evidences of taxable income, without the [p]laintiff's knowledge or consent The employees of the Internal Revenue Service ⁴As a result of our conclusion, it is not necessary to address the additional contention that the fraud claim is barred by the statute of limitations. However, we find incontrovertible evidence in the record that plaintiff was aware of his fraud complaint back in August 1993. His claim would therefore be barred by the statute of limitations as well.

in turn used the information they obtained from the [p]laintiff's psychiatry and psychological examinations, evaluations and reports to physically and verbally abuse ... him as a mad man, with a potential for violence... Penny Childers felt threatened by the [p]laintiff. She believed he is a sorcerer and a magician because he is an African and based on what [Home] and [REM] expressly and/or impliedly instructed all the [d]efendants ... to tell them in the Internal Revenue Service that [p]laintiff is associated and/or affiliated with a group called the 'Nigerian hit squad....'

" ... Plaintiff alleges that all the [d]efendants fraudulently obtained [p]laintiff's legal and medical files. [Michell] represented the [p]laintiff with an actual conflict of interest in the underlying personal injury action. She turned over [p]laintiff's legal and medical files to [Home] and [REM], through [MPBF], in the ... legal malpractice case.... Burnham & Brown ... obtained [p]laintiff's legal and medical files in the ... personal injury case from [Michell], without [p]laintiff's knowledge or consent. [Home] [and] ... Burnham & Brown ... used the information they obtained from the [p]laintiff's legal and medical files to plan their defense of the ... subsequent legal malpractice action."

We dispense initially with the issue related to Burnham Brown. In granting Burnham Brown judgment on the pleadings with respect to the invasion-of-privacy claim, the trial court noted:

"[P]laintiff has apparently alleged that Burnham [Brown] obtained plaintiff's legal and medical records in the personal injury action and used them against him in the malpractice action. [Citation.] However, these allegations fail to state a claim for invasion of privacy since Burnham [Brown] was defense counsel in the personal injury action, and, therefore, had a right to obtain plaintiff's medical information as part of their defense. Thus, plaintiff's allegations against Burnham [Brown] do not state a valid claim for invasion of privacy."

The court gave plaintiff 10 days' leave to amend his complaint, but he failed to allege any new facts. We agree with the trial court. Burnham Brown was entitled to plaintiff's medical files in defense of the personal injury case and to plaintiff's legal files in defense of the malpractice case. Plaintiff has set forth no facts to otherwise state a valid claim against Burnham Brown for invasion of privacy. (See Saliter v. Pierce Brothers Mortuaries (1978) 81 Cal.App.3d 292, 299-300.) We therefore proceed on the claim as it relates to Mitchell and the MPBF parties.

At the time plaintiff filed his complaint, the applicable statute of limitations for a claim of invasion of privacy was one year, as set forth in former Code of Civil Procedure section 340, subdivision (3). (Cain v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1976) 62 Cal.App.3d 310, 313.) The 2002 Legislature amended Code of Civil Procedure section 340, subdivision (3), and redesignated it as Code of Civil Procedure section 340, subdivision (c). As amended, the one-year statute of limitations no longer applies to personal injury actions. Those actions are now governed by a two-year statute of limitations set forth in Code of Civil Procedure section 335.1. However, the statute was made retroactive only to personal injury or wrongful death actions brought by victims of the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks. (Sen. Bill No. 688 (2001-2002 Reg. Sess.) § 1: 3 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (2004 supp.) Actions, § 545A, pp. 142-143.) In this case, the distinction is immaterial, since plaintiff failed to file his action within even the two-year statute of limitations.

Under the “rule of discovery,” the cause of action does not accrue until the plaintiff knows or should know all material facts essential to show the elements of the cause of action. (Cain v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., supra, 62 Cal.App.3d at pp. 314-315.) Here, the statute commenced upon plaintiff’s discovery of the alleged invasion of privacy—disclosure of his legal and medical files to the Internal Revenue Service. (Ibid.)

Plaintiff’s March 1998 complaint in district court alleged that the defendants, including Mitchell and MPBF attorneys James A. Murphy and Antoinette W. Farrell, submitted plaintiff’s “entire file” to the Internal Revenue Service. In addition, plaintiff’s first amended complaint in that action, filed July 7, 1998, alleged that plaintiff first discovered that the defendants, including Mitchell and MPBF attorneys James A. Murphy and Antoinette W. Farrell, submitted his entire file to the Internal Revenue Service during his September 26, 1997, trial for unreported income tax. In his opening brief in this appeal, plaintiff admits he knew of the disclosure of his legal and medical files in October 1997.

Plaintiff's pleadings in the federal action constitute admissions that he was aware of the alleged invasion of privacy no later than March 1998. (See Barr v. ACandS, Inc. (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 1038, 1055-1056, overruled on other grounds by Hamilton v. Asbestos Corp. (2000) 22 Cal.4th 1127, 1147; Magnolia Square Homeowners Assn. v. Safeco Ins. Co. (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 1049, 1061.) Unequivocal admissions in pleadings are treated as "judicial admissions"—they are conclusive and cannot be contradicted by the pleader. (Valerio v. Andrew Youngquist Construction (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 1264, 1271 [admission of fact in pleading treated as judicial admission]; Heater v. Southwood Psychiatric Center (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 1068, 1079-1080, fn. 10; Weil & Brown, Cal. Practice Guide: Civil Procedure Before Trial (The Rutter Group 2004) ¶¶ 10:20.1, 10:147, pp. 10-6, 10-53.)

As recognized by the trial court, since plaintiff has already admitted in his original and first amended complaints in the district court action that he knew of the alleged invasion of privacy no later than March 1998, his claim is now barred. Plaintiff did not file the instant complaint until January 2002, well beyond the statute of limitations. Notably, during the trial on this issue, plaintiff admitted on numerous occasions that he knew about the disclosure of his legal and medical files back in 1997, 1998 and 1999.

Citing to 28 United States Code section 1367(d), plaintiff argues that the statute of limitations was tolled while his district court case was pending. Where at least one federal claim is involved, district courts have supplemental jurisdiction over other state claims that are so related to the federal claim that they form part of the same case or controversy. (28 U.S.C. § 1367(a).) However, a district court may decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction if, among other things, it has dismissed all claims over which it had original jurisdiction. (28 U.S.C. § 1367(c); see also Kendrick v. City of Eureka (2000) 82 Cal.App.4th 364, 368.) When a state law claim is dismissed under such circumstances, the limitations period is tolled for a period of 30 days after the dismissal unless state law provides for a longer tolling period. (28 U.S.C. § 1367(d).) “[T]he tolling provision of 28 United States Code section 1367(d) includes the time during which a federal appeal with the Court of Appeals is pursued, and the 30-day grace period commences once the judgment of dismissal is affirmed by that court. This tolling is not extended by the later filing of a petition for writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court.” (Kendrick v. City of Eureka, supra, 82 Cal.App.4th at p. 369.)

Plaintiff acknowledges that there is no California case law providing for a longer tolling period. (See Kendrick v. City of Eureka, supra, 82 Cal.App.4th at p. 369, fn. 2 . [California has no statute providing for longer tolling period, although decisional law arguably provides for equitable tolling in extraordinary circumstances]; but see Bonifield v. County of Nevada (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 298, 303-304 [days left in statute of limitations period at time federal claim filed begin to run after tolling ceases, i.e., on 31st day after federal claim dismissed].) Plaintiff clearly filed this action well beyond the tolling period. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals decision was filed in July 2000. Plaintiff did not file this action until January 2002. But more fundamentally, we note that plaintiff's original case, filed in state court on April 12, 2001, and subsequently removed to district court, also would have been untimely as beyond the original one-year statute of limitations.

Thus, the trial court properly found in favor of Burnham Brown, Michell, and the MPBF parties on plaintiff's claim for invasion of privacy. As a result of our conclusion, we reject plaintiff's contention that the judgment is void.

DISPOSITION

The appeal against Home and REM is dismissed. The judgment is affirmed with respect to the remaining respondents. Plaintiff's request for sanctions is denied. Costs are awarded to respondents.

Commissioner etc., et al.,

Defendants and Respondents.

F049063

(Super. Ct. No. 04-CECG-02628)

APPEAL from a judgment of the Superior Court of Fresno County. Donald S. Black, Judge.

Adebowale O. Osijo, in pro. per., for Plaintiff and Appellant.

Greenan, Peffer, Sallander & Lally, James S. Greenan and Enoch Wang for Defendant and Respondent Roger A. Sevigny.

Burnham Brown, Robert M. Bodzin and Jennifer R. Thomas for Defendant and Respondent Burnham Brown.

Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, for Defendants and Respondents Mitchell-Langsam and Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam.

-ooOoo-

This is the latest in a series of lawsuits brought by plaintiff Adebowale O. Osijo in connection with a personal injury claim settled in 1991. Plaintiff became dissatisfied with the settlement agreement the day after it was executed and has sought its invalidation ever since. In this case, he sued Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam (Michell-Langsam), the attorney who represented him in the settlement, Burnham Brown, the law firm that represented the insurer funding the settlement, and the Insurance Commissioner of the State of New Hampshire (currently Roger A. Sevigny), who is the liquidator of that now-insolvent insurer. The trial court dismissed Burnham Brown on res judicata grounds; plaintiff had sued the firm unsuccessfully in previous actions. The court also dismissed the Insurance Commissioner. It relied on the doctrine of comity and took account of the liquidation proceedings in New Hampshire, in which an order abating other litigation had issued. Finally, as to Michell-Langsam, the court quashed service of summons and vacated a default entered against her, ruling that she had never been properly served. We perceive no error and affirm these dispositions.

FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL HISTORIES

A longer account of the underlying facts may be found in our unpublished opinion affirming the judgment in one of plaintiff's previous cases, Osijo v. Home Insurance Company (Sept. 7, 2004, F042329, F043325), and the First District Court of Appeal's unpublished opinions in Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc. (Jul. 16, 1992, A055045) and Osijo v. Ganong and Michell (Apr. 12, 1996, A068661). A shorter version will suffice for purposes of this appeal.

In 1988, plaintiff was working as a security guard at an apartment complex in Oakland. While on duty, he was shot multiple times by an assailant or assailants with semi-automatic rifles. Plaintiff sued the owners of the apartment complex and his employer, a security guard company. Among other things, his complaint alleged that the assailants had a confrontation with other security guards at the complex earlier in the day and that no one had warned plaintiff about them. The company was insolvent and uninsured, but the apartment complex owners, though also insolvent, had insurance. After a mediation held under the auspices of the Judicial Arbitration and Mediation

Service (JAMS), the parties executed a settlement agreement on July 25, 1991, under which plaintiff and his counsel received $250,000. In these proceedings, plaintiff was represented by Michell-Langsam. The insurer, Home Insurance of America (Home), was represented by a law firm called Larson and Burnham, now known as Burnham Brown.

On July 26, 1991, the day after he signed the settlement agreement, plaintiff became dissatisfied and informed Michell-Langsam that he wanted to withdraw from it. The owners of the apartment complex filed a motion to enforce the agreement. The superior court heard plaintiff's objections and granted the motion to enforce in spite of them. The Court of Appeal affirmed, rejecting plaintiff's principal claim that the agreement was unenforceable because the JAMS mediator was not a current member of the State Bar.

In the succeeding years, plaintiff filed a series of lawsuits against Michell-Langsam, Burnham Brown, Home, and a variety of other parties. In the first of these, plaintiff recovered $12,500 against Michell-Langsam for withholding as fees more of the settlement proceeds than her retainer agreement permitted. There is no indication in the record that plaintiff recovered anything in any of the other cases. In a malicious prosecution action in Fresno County Superior Court (Michell v. Osijo (Super. Ct. Fresno County, 2004, No. 02 CE CG 00003)), Michell-Langsam obtained a judgment against plaintiff of more than $165,000 based on his actions in two previous cases.

Acting in propria persona, plaintiff filed the operative first amended complaint in this case on September 16, 2004. The first cause of action is titled "Void Judgment." It alleges that the order enforcing the settlement agreement is void because of an attorney conflict of interest. Home was both the insurer of the apartment complex and Michell-Langsam's malpractice insurer. Burnham Brown represented Home in plaintiff's original personal injury case and defended Michell-Langsam in plaintiff's malpractice suit against her. Plaintiff claims that Michell-Langsam connived with Burnham Brown to settle the personal injury case, receiving her contingent fee, and in return providing Burnham

Brown with confidential information about plaintiff, presumably for use against him in the malpractice case (which, however, was not filed until later). According to the complaint, these allegations show that the superior court lacked jurisdiction to enforce the settlement agreement and that plaintiff was deprived of his due process rights under the Fourteenth Amendment.

The second cause of action is titled "Void Settlement Agreement." It asserts that the settlement agreement is unenforceable because of the conflict of interest alleged in the first cause of action. The third cause of action, "Void Subsequent Judgments," asserts that various judgments and orders of various courts are void because they gave effect to or declined to invalidate the allegedly void settlement agreement and the judgment enforcing it. The fourth cause of action, "Disgorgement of Misappropriated Funds," claims that Mitchell-Langsam should be compelled to return the contingent fee she collected when the personal injury case settled.

Burnham Brown demurred, arguing that plaintiff's effort to invalidate the settlement was barred by the doctrine of res judicata because it was an attempt to relitigate claims that had been decided against plaintiff in prior actions. The trial court agreed, sustained the demurrer without leave to amend, and entered a judgment of dismissal in favor of Burnham Brown.

The Insurance Commissioner moved to dismiss the action on several grounds, including an argument that, under the doctrine of comity, the court should dismiss plaintiff's claims because proceedings to liquidate the insolvent insurer had been instituted in a New Hampshire state court. These are the same liquidation proceedings we discussed in our opinion in Osljo v. Home Insurance Company, supra, F042329, F043325. The insurer was declared insolvent in an action in New Hampshire Superior Court. That court issued an order of liquidation on June 13, 2003, appointing the Insurance Commissioner as liquidator, abating all other actions and proceedings against the insurer and requiring all claims against it to be processed via the liquidation. (Osljo v.

Home Insurance Company, supra, at p. 8.) The trial court granted the motion. It stated that it was relying on grounds of inconvenient forum, but in substance its order dismisses the action for reasons of comity. Subsequently, the court entered a judgment of dismissal in favor of the Insurance Commissioner.

Michell-Langsam moved to quash service of summons and to vacate a default that had been entered by the clerk. The trial court ruled that Michell-Langsam was never properly served and granted the motion.

Plaintiff appeals from these rulings. Additional factual and procedural details will be set forth in our discussion below.

DISCUSSION

I. Burnham Brown and res judicata

Plaintiff contends that the trial court erred in sustaining Burnham Brown's demurrer. We recently restated the pertinent standard of review:

"In an appeal from a judgment dismissing an action after a general demurrer is sustained without leave to amend, our Supreme Court has imposed the following standard of review. 'The reviewing court gives the complaint a reasonable interpretation, and treats the demurrer as admitting all material facts properly pleaded. [Citations.] The court does not, however, assume the truth of contentions, deductions or conclusions of law. [Citation.] The judgment must be affirmed "if any one of the several grounds of demurrer is well taken. [Citations.]" [Citation.] However, it is error for a trial court to sustain a demurrer when the plaintiff has stated a cause of action under any possible legal theory. [Citation.] And it is an abuse of discretion to sustain a demurrer without leave to amend if the plaintiff shows there is a reasonable possibility any defect identified by the defendant can be cured by amendment. [Citation.]' [Citations.]" (Genesis Environmental Services v. San Joaquin Valley Unified Air Pollution Control Dist. (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 597, 603.)

We hold that the trial court was correct in sustaining the demurrer without leave to amend on res judicata grounds.

The doctrine of res judicata is divided into two parts. The first part, called claim preclusion (or res judicata), bars a party to an action in which final judgment has been obtained from bringing a new action against the same opposing party and seeking a recovery based on the same cause of action as that relied on in the first action. (Mycogen Corp. v. Monsanto Co. (2002) 28 Cal.4th 888, 896-897 (Mycogen.) "Cause of action" in this context does not mean "legal theory." It means "primary right," a concept we discuss further below. (Id. at p. 904; Slater v. Blackwood (1975) 15 Cal.3d 791, 795.) Claim preclusion only applies if the parties to the new action are identical with or in privity with the parties to the prior action. (Vandenberg v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal.4th 815, 828-829; Armstrong v. Armstrong (1976) 15 Cal.3d 942, 951.) Privity exists if the party to the new action is "" ... so identified in interest with [a party to the prior action] that he represents the same legal right."" (Armstrong v. Armstrong, supra, at p. 951.)

The second part, called issue preclusion or collateral estoppel, bars a party from relitigating in a new action an issue that was actually litigated and decided in a prior action. (Mycogen, supra, 28 Cal.4th at p. 896; Lucido v. Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d 335, 341.) A party in the new action may advance collateral estoppel as a defense against a party who previously litigated the same issue in a prior action even if the party advancing collateral estoppel was a stranger to the prior action. (Vandenberg v. Superior Court, supra, 21 Cal.4th at pp. 828-829; Bernhard v. Bank of America (1942) 19 Cal.2d 807, 812-813; Vanguard Recording Society, Inc. v. Fantasy Records, Inc. (1972) 24 Cal.App.3d 410, 417.)

The difference between a primary right, which may not be reasserted under claim preclusion, and an issue, which may not be relitigated under issue preclusion, is important. A primary right may include several issues, none of which may be raised again if claim preclusion applies, even those that were not raised in the prior action. (Mycogen, supra, 28 Cal.4th at p. 904; Slater v. Blackwood, supra, 15 Cal.3d at p. 795.) An attempt to raise in the new action an issue that is within the primary right advanced in the prior action but not actually litigated in that action is called ""claim splitting,"" and is not permitted under claim preclusion. (Mycogen, supra, at pp. 900, 903; Crowley v.

Katleman (1994) 8 Cal.4th 666, 681.) Under issue preclusion, by contrast, a party is barred from raising an issue only if it was actually litigated and decided in the prior action. (Branson v. Sun-Diamond Growers (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 327, 346.)

In this case, so far as the claims against Burnham Brown are concerned, there is identity of parties. Osijo unsuccessfully sued Burnham Brown in a previous case, a decision we affirmed in Osijo v. Home Insurance Company, supra. F042329, F043325. Therefore we proceed to analyze the case under claim preclusion.

Claim preclusion bars a lawsuit if (1) it advances the same cause of action that was advanced in a prior action; (2) the prior action resulted in a final judgment on the merits; and (3) the parties to the present action are the same as, or in privity with, the parties to the prior action. (Busick v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1972) 7 Cal.3d 967, 974; Brinton v. Bankers Pension Services, Inc. (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 550, 556.) Here, the parties are the same, as we have just said, and there is no doubt that the previous case resulted in a final judgment on the merits. The only question is whether Osijo advances the same cause of action here as he advanced previously.

Under California law, for res judicata purposes, a single cause of action arises from the invasion of a single primary right. (Slater v. Blackwood, supra, 15 Cal.3d at p. 795.) "[T]he primary right is simply the plaintiff's right to be free from the particular injury suffered." (Crowley v. Katleman, supra, 8 Cal.4th at pp. 681-682.) Multiple legal theories and multiple remedies can be based on a single injury, and a failure to assert any of the available theories or claim any of the available remedies in an action based on the injury means those theories and remedies are barred by claim preclusion in subsequent litigation. (Mycogen, supra, 28 Cal.4th at pp. 904-906, 907 [judgment granting specific performance of breached license agreement barred later action for damages for breach of same agreement]; Slater v. Blackwood, supra, 15 Cal.3d at p. 795.) On the other hand, the fact that the two lawsuits are premised on the same set of facts does not necessarily mean they assert the same primary right. (See Agarwal v. Johnson (1979) 25 Cal.3d 932, 954-955 [prior judgment for employer in racial discrimination suit brought under federal civil rights law was not res judicata with respect to employee's subsequent suit, based on same termination of employment, for defamation and intentional infliction of emotional distress], overruled on other grounds by White v. Ultramar, Inc. (1999) 21 Cal.4th 563.)

The complaint in this case is based on an injury that was asserted in the prior action. In that case, plaintiff sued Burnham Brown, Michell-Langsam, Home, and several other parties. He alleged that Burnham Brown committed fraud in obtaining the settlement in the original personal injury action and violated his privacy rights with respect to his legal and medical files. (Ostjo v. Home Insurance Company, supra, F042329, F043325, at p. 5.) The trial court granted Burnham Brown's motion for summary adjudication on the fraud claim, finding it was barred by the litigation privilege and the statute of limitations. It also granted judgment on the pleadings on the privacy-rights claim, ruling that, because Burnham Brown was entitled to the information in the files as defense counsel in the original lawsuit, the claim failed to state a cause of action. After plaintiff amended his complaint in an attempt to allege the privacy claim adequately, the trial court sustained Burnham Brown's demurrer without leave to amend. (Id. at p. 6.)

Defendant relies on the same primary right in the present case. The legal theories are different—previously he asserted fraud and now he asserts an attorney conflict of interest—but the injury he claims is the same: that his agreement to settle the personal injury case was obtained improperly through the misconduct of his counsel and opposing counsel. His attempt to litigate the same primary right a second time in a second lawsuit under a different legal theory constitutes claim splitting and is barred by the doctrine of claim preclusion.

In arguing against the trial court's conclusions in this case, plaintiff relies on the principle that a void judgment has no res judicata effect in subsequent litigation (Pajaro Valley Water Management Agency v. McGrath (2005) 128 Cal.App.4th 1093, 1100; Rochin v. Pat Johnson Manufacturing Co. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 1228, 1239-1240) and may be attacked at anytime by way of an independent action in equity (Rochin, supra, 67 Cal.App.4th at p. 1239). His argument may be summarized as follows: (1) In this case, the trial court relied on the judgments in his previous cases, including the one reviewed by this court, Osijo v. Home Insurance Company, supra, F042329, F043325, when it ruled that the present action was barred by res judicata. (2) The previous judgments in turn relied on the original order enforcing the settlement agreement. (3) The order enforcing the settlement agreement is void. (4) A void judgment cannot be the basis of a ruling barring a lawsuit under res judicata principles. Therefore (5), the present suit cannot be barred on res judicata grounds.

This argument is incorrect for at least two reasons. First, although the case we previously reviewed rejected plaintiff's request to invalidate the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement, it did not rely on that judgment. Burnham Brown did not win there because that prior judgment existed. Instead, the trial court granted summary adjudication on plaintiff's fraud claim based on the litigation privilege and the statute of limitations and granted judgment on the pleadings on plaintiff's invasion-of-privacy claim because Burnham Brown was entitled to the records in question. We agreed. In other words, plaintiff lost in the previous case not merely because the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement was already on the books, but because the legal theories plaintiff advanced in attacking that judgment lacked merit. When the trial court barred the present action based on res judicata, consequently, its decision was based only on the judgment we previously reviewed in Osijo v. Home Insurance Company, supra, F042329, F043325, and not on the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement.

To put the same point another way, plaintiff had and took an opportunity to litigate his claim against Burnham Brown that the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement should be invalidated in Osijo v. Home Insurance Company, supra, F042329, F043325. His claims did not prevail and, under res judicata, he is not entitled to another try.

Plaintiff appears to believe that the judgment in Osijo v. Home Insurance Company, supra, F042329, F043325, can act as a bar to the present suit only if our opinion in that case "upheld the validity of the underlying personal injury judgment" He criticizes the trial court for not telling him, when he asked, on what page our opinion did this. There is no such requirement, however. As we have said, the point is that plaintiff's claims against Burnham Brown were decided on their merits in the previous case and he is not entitled to relitigate them under a new legal theory.

Second, the claims plaintiff advances in the present case cannot show that the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement is void in any event. According to Witkin, the exception to res judicata for void judgments applies where the judgment is "wholly void for lack of jurisdiction of the subject matter or person, and perhaps for excess of jurisdiction, or where it is obtained by extrinsic fraud." (7 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (4th ed. 1997) Judgment, § 286, p. 828.) Plaintiff says the judgment enforcing the settlement is void because of the alleged conflict of interest and because the judgment was executed by means of a rubber-stamp replica of the judge's signature rather than an actual signature. Neither claim can establish that the judgment is void.

First, even if plaintiff's suit against Burnham Brown were not barred in its entirety by claim preclusion, his conflict-of-interest claim would be barred by issue preclusion and for that reason could not be used to show that the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement is void. Plaintiff litigated the same claim to a final judgment in his malpractice suit against Michell-Langsam, Osijo v. Ganong and Michell, supra, A068661. There, plaintiff contended that a conflict existed because Michell-Langsam's malpractice insurer was Home, to which plaintiff was adverse in the personal injury suit, and whose counsel, Larson and Burnham (now Burnham Brown), later also defended Michell-Langsam against plaintiff. The trial court granted summary adjudication on this issue. The Court of Appeal affirmed, observing that, during Michell-Langsam's representation of plaintiff, plaintiff had not yet asserted a malpractice claim against Michell-Langsam or her insurer, so a conflict of interest could not yet have been created. The court also stated that there was no evidence in the record of an actual conflict between Michell-Langsam's "duty to Osijo and her own later defense by Home and the Larson firm." (Osijo v. Garong and Michell, supra, at p. 9 & fn. 3.) Plaintiff further contended that Michell-Langsam had a conflict of interest with him arising from her desire to proceed with the settlement after he told her he wanted out. (Michell-Langsam went so far as to attempt to file an amicus brief against plaintiff in the Court of Appeal when plaintiff appealed from the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement.) The Court of Appeal upheld summary adjudication for Michell-Langsam on this claim based on the statute of limitations. (Id. at pp. 9-10.) In asserting that the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement is void because of the same alleged conflicts, plaintiff attempts to relitigate against Burnham Brown an issue he has already unsuccessfully litigated to a final judgment in the malpractice case against Michell-Langsam. Under issue preclusion, he is not entitled to do this.

Second, there is nothing wrong with a judge instructing his staff to use a rubber stamp to indicate his approval of judgments and other documents instead of signing them himself by hand. The practice is commonplace. It does not constitute "forgery" and does not need to be approved by local rule, as plaintiff contends. Plaintiff does not claim the rubber stamp was used without the judge's permission.

Plaintiff also argues that the judge in question, Judge Sutter, was the wrong judge to execute the settlement agreement. He cites Williams v. Superior Court (1939) 14 Cal.2d 656, 662 for the proposition that when a case has been assigned to one department and not reassigned, other departments lack jurisdiction to "interfere with the exercise of the power of the department to which the proceeding has been so assigned." Plaintiff says the "personal injury case was not assigned to Judge Sutter and Department 18, nor, was it the Law & Motions Department of the Alameda County Superior Court. The Law & Motion Department was Department 19, with Judge Dawn Girard, presiding, which was not unavailable to entertain the motion to enforce. The case was assigned to Department 12, with Judge Demetrios Agretelis, presiding, which was not unavailable to entertain the motion to enforce." These claims are not accompanied by any citations to the record. Our own examination of the record on appeal has revealed nothing indicating that the matter was not properly before Judge Sutter or that the judgment interfered with any act of any other department.

Finally, at oral argument, plaintiff called our attention to In re Marriage of Deffner (2006) 143 Cal.App.4th 662, a copy of which he had provided to us before. Deffner does not alter our analysis. In it, the Court of Appeal affirmed a trial court's decision to set aside its own judgment approving a marital settlement agreement because the judgment was obtained, in part, by the husband's attorney's filing of papers in which he claimed to be the wife's attorney. The Court of Appeal held that this constituted a fraud upon the trial court and justified setting the judgment aside even though that action otherwise would have been time-barred. We do not disagree that a judgment can be set aside under circumstances of that kind. Deffner does not support plaintiff's position here for the two reasons we have just stated: (1) the trial court's res judicata ruling did not depend on the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement; and (2) even if it did, plaintiff's arguments do not establish that that judgment is void.

For all these reasons, we conclude that Burnham Brown's demurrer was properly sustained as to all causes of action without leave to amend. The judgment we reviewed and affirmed in Osijo v. Home Insurance Company, supra, F042329, F043325, bars the present action against Burnham Brown.

II. The Insurance Commissioner and comity

The Insurance Commissioner's motion to dismiss made several arguments: the trial court lacked personal jurisdiction over the Commissioner; the doctrine of comity required the court to give effect to a liquidation order entered in a New Hampshire state court, abating all other litigation advancing claims against Home and its successors; reciprocity provisions of the California Insurance Code required the court to defer to the

New Hampshire liquidation proceedings; and the full faith and credit clause of the federal Constitution required the court to enforce the New Hampshire liquidation order. The Insurance Commissioner added an alternative claim that the action should be stayed or dismissed on forum non conveniens grounds.

In granting the motion, the trial court stated that it was relying on the ground of inconvenient forum. It explained, however, that the doctrine of comity and the reciprocity provisions of the Insurance Code were what made the alternate forum in New Hampshire appropriate.

Plaintiff responded to the ruling by filing a document he called a motion to vacate judgment. This motion argued that the court's order granting the motion to dismiss was "a nullity and prima facie void" because it "either wittingly or unwittingly ... gave effect to the underlying prima facie void judgment" that enforced the settlement agreement. The judgment enforcing the settlement agreement was void, plaintiff argued, because of the alleged conflict of interest and the rubber stamp. The trial court denied the motion.

Plaintiff states that his appeal is from the denial of his motion to vacate and contends that the motion should have been granted because the liquidation proceedings in New Hampshire do not constitute an appropriate alternative forum. We will treat the appeal as if it is from both the order denying the motion to vacate the dismissal and the dismissal itself.

The motion to vacate was properly denied. Plaintiff's claims cannot show that the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement is void. His contention that a rubber stamp of the judge's signature should not have been used on the judgment is without merit for the reasons we have already stated. Issue preclusion bars relitigation of the conflict-of-interest claim here just as it bars relitigation of that claim against Burnham Brown. Further, even if the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement were void, we agree with the trial court's conclusion that its dismissal of plaintiff's claim against the Insurance Commissioner did not give effect to the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement.

The judgment enforcing the settlement agreement is not rendered effective, or affected in any other way, by an order directing that a claim against the Insurance Commissioner should be brought in the New Hampshire liquidation proceedings. Plaintiff's view seems to be that any ruling denying him relief against any party gives effect to the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement, but this is not so.

The motion to dismiss was granted, according to the trial court's order, on grounds of inconvenient forum, but the real substance of the court's ruling was that dismissal was justified by the doctrine of comity. The court reasoned:

"Deferring to the New Hampshire court's jurisdiction and giving effect to its liquidation order (which abates all actions against Home and its liquidator) under principles of comity would promote California's interests in preserving the insolvent insurer's assets for orderly disposition, and eliminating the risk of conflicting rulings, piecemeal litigation of claims, and unequal treatment of claimants."

We applied the same reasoning in Osijo v. Home Insurance Company, supra, F042329, F043325, in which plaintiff asserted a claim against Home and a successor company. We explained that comity is a doctrine under which the laws of one state are permitted by the courtesy of another to operate in the latter for the promotion of justice and for mutual utility and advantage. (Advanced Bionics Corp. v. Medtronic, Inc. (2002) 29 Cal.4th 697, 707.) The doctrine was applicable in that case, even though California law and the full faith and credit clause did not compel deference to the New Hampshire liquidation order, because the principles underlying California's own insolvent-insurer liquidation scheme supported discretionary deference to the operation of a similar scheme in another state. We observed that under section 1020 of the Insurance Code, our state's Insurance Commissioner may institute proceedings to dispose of the assets of an insolvent insurer and may cause the abatement of all other claims and proceedings against the insurer. The purpose of this, we further stated, is to ensure the orderly disposition of the insurer's assets and protect policyholders, creditors, and the public. Since the New Hampshire scheme serves the same purposes, we granted Home's motion to dismiss plaintiff's appeal. (Osijo v. Home Insurance Company, supra, F042329, F043325, at pp. 9-10.)

Precisely the same rationale justifies affirming the trial court's disposition in this case. Plaintiff cannot avoid the application of the comity doctrine by merely substituting the Insurance Commissioner for Home and its successor. The only conceivable reason for naming the Insurance Commissioner as a defendant is to attempt to obtain an order against the Commissioner dealing with a claim against the insolvent insurer's assets. Deference to the New Hampshire order therefore is as appropriate here as it was in the previous case.

Seizing upon the trial court's inconvenient-forum language, plaintiff asserts that a dismissal on those grounds was not proper because the New Hampshire liquidation proceedings did not constitute a suitable alternative forum. A court deciding a motion to dismiss on forum non conveniens grounds must first determine whether the alternative forum proposed by the moving party is a "suitable" place for trial. (Stangvik v. Shiley Inc. (1991) 54 Cal.3d 744, 751.) This threshold requirement is satisfied if the defendant is subject to or agrees to submit to the jurisdiction of the alternative forum, the statute of limitations has not expired in the alternative forum or the defendant agrees not to rely on it, and some remedy is available in the alternative forum. (Id. at pp. 752, 753; Roulier v. Cannondale (2002) 101 Cal.App.4th 1180, 1186.) The court's determination on this issue is reviewed de novo. (Roulier v. Cannondale, supra, at p. 1186.) Plaintiff says the liquidation proceedings do not provide a suitable forum because they cannot decide whether the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement is void or not and do not have jurisdiction to enter a judgment against the Insurance Commissioner.

Plaintiff is in error. The purpose of the liquidation proceedings is to adjudicate claims against the insolvent insurer and distribute its assets. As we have said, plaintiff's only possible purpose in naming the Insurance Commissioner as a party is to assert a claim against the insolvent insurer. The liquidation proceedings were instituted for the purpose of deciding these claims. The assertion that making a claim in the liquidation proceedings will not result in a judgment against the Insurance Commissioner is thus irrelevant. Further, as plaintiff has not made any claim in this case that would entitle him to an order invalidating the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement, the fact that plaintiff would be unlikely to obtain that relief in the liquidation proceedings does not show that they would be an inferior forum for him.

For all these reasons, we affirm the trial court's judgment of dismissal of plaintiff's claims against the Insurance Commissioner and its denial of plaintiff's motion to vacate that judgment. The court applied the law correctly.

III. Mitchell-Langsam, service of summons, and default¹

Finding that Mitchell-Langsam was never properly served with the summons and complaint, the trial court granted her motion to (1) vacate a default the clerk had entered against her and (2) quash service of summons. In reviewing the order quashing service of summons, we decide whether the trial court's factual findings were supported by substantial evidence and determine independently the ultimate question of whether service was sufficient to secure personal jurisdiction over defendant. (See F. Hoffman-La Roche, Ltd. v. Superior Court (2005) 130 Cal.App.4th 782, 795; In re Automobile Antitrust Cases I & II (2005) 135 Cal.App.4th 100, 111.) We review the order granting relief from default for abuse of discretion. (Shamblin v. Brattain (1988) 44 Cal.3d 474, ¹Plaintiff has pending a request for judicial notice of a Stipulation in Lieu of Discipline entered into between Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam and the State Bar in connection with a complaint plaintiff made against her. Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam opposed the request, arguing that the stipulation is confidential. Judicial notice of this document is not required under Evidence Code section 451 and we need not decide whether it is subject to permissive judicial notice under Evidence Code section 452. We have reviewed the document and conclude that it would have no effect on the outcome of this appeal if noticed, and we deny the request on that ground.

Plaintiff also requests that we take judicial notice of the Appellate Court's opinion in Osijo v. Ganong and Mitchell, supra, A068661. The request is granted.

478.) Because plaintiff did not submit a statutorily adequate proof of service, we affirm the order quashing service of summons. We affirm the order vacating Mitchell-Langsam's default because of plaintiff's failure to prove service in the manner required by statute.

A summons may be served on an individual defendant by delivering it to the defendant personally or to a person authorized by the defendant to receive it. A copy of the complaint must be included. (Code Civ. Proc., §§ 415.10, 416.90.) If the summons and complaint cannot with reasonable diligence be delivered to an individual defendant personally, they may be served by leaving them at the defendant's usual place of business in the presence of a person 18 years of age or older and apparently in charge, telling that person what they are, and then mailing them to the same place. (Code Civ. Proc., § 415.20, subd. (b).) This procedure is known as substitute service. (Weil & Brown, Cal. Practice Guide: Civil Procedure Before Trial (The Rutter Group 2006) ¶ 4:193, p. 4-29 (rev. #1, 2006).) Two or three unsuccessful attempts at personal service at the defendant's usual place of business typically constitute sufficient diligence to justify resorting to substitute service. (Stafford v. Mach (1998) 64 Cal.App.4th 1174, 1182; Espindola v. Nunez (1988) 199 Cal.App.3d 1389, 1392; Weil & Brown, supra, ¶ 4:198, p. 4-30.) Although a defendant is under no duty to respond to a defectively served summons—even a defendant with actual knowledge of the lawsuit (Ruttenberg v. Ruttenberg (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 801, 808; Kappel v. Bartlett (1988) 200 Cal.App.3d 1457, 1466)—substantial compliance with the service-of-summons statutes is sufficient to defeat a motion attacking a judgment based on improper service. (Gibble v. Car-Lene Research, Inc. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 295, 313.)

In this case, plaintiff described his efforts to serve Mitchell-Langsam in a declaration he filed in support of his motion for a default judgment against her. He traveled with a companion, Jhoc Ajayi, from Fresno to Mitchell-Langsam's Walnut Creek office on September 13, 2004. Carmelita Torres, the receptionist, told Ajayi that Mitchell-

Langsam was not in the office and that she, Torres, was not authorized to receive service of process. Ajayi gave Torres two copies of the summons and original complaint and then mailed additional copies to the office.

On October 18, 2004, plaintiff sent a registered process server, Roman Edwards, to Mitchell-Langsam's office. Edwards delivered the summons and a second amended complaint to a person at the office and subsequently mailed the documents to the office. The second amended complaint was subsequently stricken because it was filed without leave.

On June 29, 2005, plaintiff again traveled to Mitchell-Langsam's office, this time with a companion named Eugene Maduakor. Again Torres said she was not authorized to accept service of process and that Mitchell-Langsam was out of the office. Soon, Jean Michell, Mitchell-Langsam's mother and office manager, appeared. Maduakor gave two copies of the summons, original complaint, and first amended complaint to Jean Michell and then mailed additional copies to the office. Plaintiff filed a proof of substitute service based on these facts in the superior court.

Plaintiff does not claim that Mitchell-Langsam was ever served personally, so if service was effected, it either was via substitute service after reasonably diligent efforts at personal service or was upon a person actually authorized by Mitchell-Langsam to receive it. We address these two possibilities in turn.

Plaintiff did not submit an adequate proof of service to show substitute service after reasonably diligent attempts at personal service. Code of Civil Procedure section 417.10, subdivision (a), provides that proof of service of a summons shall be made "by the affidavit of the person making such service showing the time, place, and manner of service and facts showing that such service was made in accordance with this chapter." The only proof of service of summons included in the appellate record is one executed by Eugene Maduakor for the service of June 29, 2005. To show that substitute service was made in accordance with statute, it is necessary to show that reasonably diligent attempts were made at effecting personal service. In Maduakor's proof of service, a box is checked saying, "I attach a declaration of diligence stating actions taken first to attempt personal service." No such declaration by Maduakor is attached to the copy in the appellate record. Plaintiff's own declaration describes the prior attempts we have summarized, but that declaration is not a permitted form of proof under the statute. The affidavit must be that "of the person making [the] service" (Code Civ. Proc., § 417.10, subd. (a)), and service must be made by a person who is "not a party to the action" (Code Civ. Proc., § 414.10).

The record contains conflicting evidence on the subject of whether service was ever made on a person actually authorized to receive it. Plaintiff's declaration states that Carmelita Torres said that Jean Michell was authorized to receive service of process. Jean Michell's declaration states that Michell-Langsam never authorized her to receive service of process on Michell-Langsam's behalf. Michell-Langsam's declaration states that no one in her office is authorized to accept service of process on her behalf. The trial court implicitly resolved this factual issue in favor of Michell-Langsam and its finding is supported by substantial evidence. We would, therefore, be bound to uphold that finding even absent the problem regarding the form of proof.

Plaintiff argues that the court had personal jurisdiction over Michell-Langsam even if she was never properly served because she made a general appearance in the case by filing a case management statement. He contends that filing this document constituted "participat[ing] in an action in some manner which recognizes the authority of the court to proceed," and therefore is a general appearance. (Mansour v. Superior Court (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1750, 1756.) We disagree. In Mansour, the Court of Appeal held that two parties made a general appearance when their attorneys attended and actively participated in a case management evaluation conference and prepared a case management statement that stated the discovery they planned to take. At the time of the conference, one party's attorney had already conducted nonjurisdictional discovery. The other party's attorney suggested the date for which the mandatory settlement conference was set. (Id. at p. 1757.) Here, by contrast, there is no allegation that a case management conference took place, and Michell-Langsam's case management statement indicated that no discovery was anticipated. Significantly, her case management statement also stated that she was never personally served. Michell-Langsam listed dates on which she would not be available for trial; stated an estimated length of trial; asserted that alternative dispute resolution would be a waste of time and that a settlement conference would not be fruitful; and expressed her intention to move to set aside any default that might have been entered against her. We conclude that, on the whole, Michell-Langsam's case management statement did not raise "any [nonjurisdictional] question, or [ask] for any relief which can only be granted upon the hypothesis that the court has jurisdiction of [her] person," and therefore did not constitute a general appearance. (California Overseas Bank v. French American Banking Corp. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 179, 184.)

Plaintiff also argues that the court had personal jurisdiction over Michell-Langsam because she had actual notice of the lawsuit. Actual notice does not confer personal jurisdiction, however. A defendant is under no duty to respond to a defectively served summons, even a defendant with actual knowledge of the lawsuit, as we have said. (Ruttenberg v. Ruttenberg, supra, 53 Cal.App.4th at p. 808; Kappel v. Bartlett, supra, 200 Cal.App.3d at p. 1466.)

Apart from the question of whether Michell-Langsam was properly served as an individual, the parties dispute whether the Law Offices of Michell-Langsam has been properly served. We agree with the trial court's ruling that because the Law Offices of Michell-Langsam is a fictitious business name, not a corporate entity, it cannot be a party to the lawsuit. (See Pinkerton's, Inc. v. Superior Court (1996) 49 Cal.App.4th 1342, 1348.) Plaintiff argues that Michell-Langsam is estopped from asserting that the Law Offices of Michell-Langsam cannot be sued because she once filed a document in another case in which she purported to appear on behalf of herself and the Law Offices of Michell-Langsam. We agree with the trial court's conclusion that the document saying Michell-Langsam was appearing on behalf of herself and the Law Offices of Michell-Langsam did not constitute the assertion of any position about the status of the Law Offices of Michell-Langsam and therefore does not estop the assertion of any position.

Because the summons was not properly served, the trial court was also correct to set aside the default. A court may set aside a void judgment or order at any time. (Code Civ. Proc., § 473, subd. (d); see also Weil & Brown, supra, ¶ 5:485, p. 5-113.) Proper service is necessary to establish personal jurisdiction, so a default judgment entered in the absence of proper service is void. (Ellard v. Conway (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 540, 544.) It follows that a default entered by the clerk is also void due to lack of personal jurisdiction if entered in the absence of proper service.

Plaintiff argues that the trial court should not have entertained Michell-Langsam's motion to set aside the default because she made it as part of her motion to quash service of summons but did not mention it in the caption of the notice of that motion. He says this means the motion to quash was the only noticed motion and that Michell-Langsam was not entitled to make it, or any other motion, except a motion to set aside the default, so long as the default was in effect. (See Devlin v. Kearney Mesa AMC/Jeep/Renault, Inc. (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 381, 385-386.) He also argues that the motion to set aside the default was defective because Michell-Langsam did not attach a copy of the "answer, motion or other pleading proposed to be filed in the action" should the default be set aside and the defendant granted leave to defend the action. (Code Civ. Proc., § 473.5, subd. (b).)

Plaintiff is mistaken. Michell-Langsam's motion included both a request to set aside the default and a request to quash service of summons. It was an appropriate vehicle to accomplish both ends. The trial court had discretion to entertain both parts of the motion even though only the request to quash service of summons was mentioned in the caption of the notice of motion; the notice of motion and the brief in support of it were served together and the latter discussed both requests. The requirement to attach an answer, motion, or other pleading proposed to be filed did not apply because Michell-Langsam was not seeking leave to defend the action. She was only seeking to show that personal jurisdiction over her was not established.

Finally, plaintiff argues that the court should not have denied the request for entry of judgment that he made after the clerk entered Michell-Langsam's default. In light of our conclusion that Michell-Langsam was not properly served, this argument is moot. Any default judgment the court entered would have been void due to lack of personal jurisdiction.

DISPOSITION

The judgments dismissing Burnham Brown and the Insurance Commissioner and the orders quashing service of summons on Michell-Langsam, vacating the default taken against her, and denying plaintiff's request for entry of default judgment are affirmed. Plaintiff's request for judicial notice filed July 25, 2006, is denied with respect to the stipulation in lieu of judgment. The request is granted with respect to the Appellate Court's opinion in Osijo v. Ganong and Michell, supra, A068661.

Burnham Brown and the Insurance Commissioner shall recover their costs on appeal. Plaintiff and Michell-Langsam shall bear their own costs.

2 YOU AND EACH AND EVERYONE OF YOU are hereby notified that Plaintiff,

5 stated Courtroom, and before the above named Judge, for an order to set aside the 6 Order on Defendants' Motion to Enforce "Settlement Agreement," as the judgment in 7 this action, and for an order to nullify the "Settlement Agreement."

8 Grounds for the Motion

9 1. There Is A Change In Intervening Law Which Is Retroactive

10 Levy v Superior Court (1995) 10 Cal4th 578, is a change in the intervening law, 11 from the time the purported "Settlement Agreement," was enforced on the Plaintiff and 12 entered as the final judgment of this action, on October 10, 1991 to the time this motion 13 is moved. The California Supreme Court ruled in Levy supra that California Code of Civil 14 Procedure, Section 664.6 required that parties in a pending litigation personally sign a 15 settlement agreement in order to be enforceable, not attorneys, who are not parties in 16 the action. The change in intervening law is retroactive, as held by the California Fifth
17 District Court of Appeal in Davidson v Fresno County Superior Court (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th
18 514. Finally, the holding by the California First District Court of Appeal in Harris v
19 Rudin, Richman & Appel (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 299 is that both the party trying to enforce 20 the settlement agreement and the party against who the settlement is being enforced 21 must have signed the agreement for it to be enforceable.

22 The "Settlement Agreement," which was entered as the final judgment of this 23 action is null and void because it was not personally signed by any of the Defendants in 24 this action. It was instead, signed by the Defendants' attorneys, namely: David 25 Raymond Pinelli (deceased), of the then law office of Larson & Burnham, as attorneys for Defendants Housing Resources Management, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd.;

1 David Van Dam, of the then law offices of Welton & VanDam, as attorneys for 2 Defendant Prostaff Security Service, Inc.; and David Kizer, as attorney for the 3 Complainant in Intervention, the California Department of Industrial Relations, 4 Uninsured Employers Fund, who are not parties in this action.

5 2. Fresno County Superior Court's Ruling That Enforcement Order Is Void

6 The Fresno County Superior Court, in its Order on Defendant Mitchell-Langsam's
7 Motion to Declare Plaintiff a Vexatious Litigant, filed on May 10, 2007, in the matter of 8 Osijo v Burnham Brown & Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam, Case No. 07-CECG-00073, 9 ruled that the Alameda County Superior Court's Order on Defendants' Motion to 10 Enforce Settlement Agreement, in the matter of Osijo v Housing Resources
11 Management, Inc., Prostaff Security Services, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd and Acorn II, Ltd., Case
12 No. 649881-6, filed on October 10, 1991, is void because it was based on a void 13 settlement agreement. Fresno County Superior Court however, lacked the authority to 14 invalidate the judgment because it did not issue the order. The ruling that the Alameda
15 County Superior Court order is void is money in the bank for this motion.

16 Bases of Motion

17 Notice is further given that this motion is based on this Notice of Motion, the 18 accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities and the Request for Judicial 19 Notice, and, on any evidentiary matter that the Court may entertain at the hearing of 20 this motion.

CITY OF OAKLAND Defendant/Respondent(s) (Abbreviated Title)	Motion to Vacate/Set Aside Denied

The Motion to Vacate/Set Aside was set for hearing on 06/21/2007 at 09:00 AM in Department 31 before the Honorable Judith Ford. The Tentative Ruling was published and was contested.

WALE O OSIJO appearing in pro per. CITY OF OAKLAND not appearing. HOUSING RESOURCES MANAGEMENT not appearing. PROSTAFF SECURITY SERVICES INC not appearing. ACORN I LIMITED not appearing. ACORN II LIMITED not appearing. Georgia Ann Mitchell not appearing.

The matter was argued and submitted, and good cause appearing therefore,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

The Motion of Plaintiff Adebowale O. Osijo ("Plaintiff") to Set Aside Enforcement Order and to Nullify "Settlement Agreement" is ruled on as follows:

Preliminarily, the Court notes that Plaintiff is a vexatious litigant and his name appears on the vexatious litigant list prepared and maintained by the Administrative Office of the Courts. Ordinarily, this means that Plaintiff must seek a pre-filing Order if Plaintiff intends to file new litigation. However, as stated in the Court's Order dated June 15, 2007, this case preceded the Order declaring Plaintiff a vexatious litigant, therefore the instant matter is not new litigation which requires a pre-filing order.

Next, the Court notes that the Opposition brief by Georgia Ann Mitchell was untimely filed and served per CCP 1005(b). For this reason, the Court has not considered Ms. Mitchell's Opposition. (See CRC 3.1300 (d).)

Lastly, the instant motion seems to be an untimely motion for reconsideration. Thus, Plaintiff's Motion is DENIED for failure to comply with the requirements of CCP 1008. Moreover, Plaintiff has failed to explain why his request for relief is not a veiled motion for reconsideration and why the facts and legal issues related to the relief sought should be considered by the Court notwithstanding Plaintiff's failure to comply with CCP 1008 requirements.

Plaintiff's Request for Judicial Notice is GRANTED. However, the court cannot accept as true the facts contained within those court documents.

Defendants and Respondents.

(Alameda County
Super. Ct. No. C-649881)

INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff Adebowale O. Osijo appeals in propria persona from an order of the Alameda County Superior Court, denying his motion to set aside a judgment entered in 1991, enforcing a settlement agreement that was fully performed long ago. Appellant contends that the trial court erred in refusing to set aside the judgment enforcing the settlement and in refusing to nullify the settlement agreement. He argues that the judgment enforcing the settlement was a void order because the settlement agreement was not signed by the party defendants, but rather by their attorneys and, therefore, pursuant to Levy v. Superior Court (1995) 10 Cal.4th 578, 583 (Levy), the court was without jurisdiction to order enforcement via the summary enforcement procedure of Code of Civil Procedure section 664.6.¹ We shall affirm the order denying the motion.

FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

Numerous unpublished appellate opinions have discussed the facts underlying this case and subsequent actions filed by appellant.² In 2006, the Fifth Appellate District summarized the various actions to that point as follows: "In 1988, plaintiff was working as a security guard at an apartment complex in Oakland. While on duty, he was shot multiple times by an assailant or assailants with semi-automatic rifles. Plaintiff sued the owners of the apartment complex and his employer, a security guard company. . . . The company was insolvent and uninsured, but the apartment complex owners, though also insolvent, had insurance. After a mediation held under the auspices of the Judicial Arbitration and Mediation Service (JAMS), the parties [*sic*³] executed a settlement agreement on July 25, 1991, under which plaintiff and his counsel received $250,000. In these proceedings, plaintiff was represented by [attorney Georgia Ann] Michell-Langsam. The insurer, Home Insurance of America (Home), was represented by a law firm called Larson and Burnham, now known as Burnham Brown.

"On July 26, 1991, the day after he signed the settlement agreement, plaintiff became dissatisfied and informed Michell-Langsam that he wanted to withdraw from it. The owners of the apartment complex filed a motion to enforce the agreement. The [Alameda County Superior Court] heard plaintiff's objections and granted the motion to enforce in spite of them. The Court of Appeal [this court in 1992, in Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., supra (A055045) [nonpub opn.]] affirmed, rejecting plaintiff's principal claim that the agreement was unenforceable because the JAMS mediator was not a current member of the State Bar." (Osijo v. Sevigny, supra, 2006 WL 361643 at p. *1.)

Mar. 5, 1999, No. CV 98-1880-CAS (BQR) 1999 WL 358686), affirmed by Osijo v. Weiner et al. (9th Cir. 2000) 232 F.3d 895; Osijo v. Home Insurance Company (Sept. 7, 2004, F042329, F043325) (Fifth App. Dist.); and Osijo v. Sevigny (Dec. 12, 2006, F049063) (Fifth App. Dist.).

³ The signatories to the settlement agreement were appellant and his attorney, the attorney for the insolvent and uninsured defendant security company Prostaff Security Services, the attorney for the insolvent defendant apartment owners and their insurance company, and the attorney for intervenor Department of Industrial Relations.

In affirming the order enforcing the judgment, we related that plaintiff "had special damages in the form of medical bills of about $40,000. He had lost wages for a nine-month period of about $20,000. He has some residual physical limitations—for instance, he cannot stand for prolonged periods. The nature of any other cognizable damages or future loss of income remained quite speculative. In fact, appellant's income, in his new career as an accountant, is much greater now than it was at the time of his injury. Appellant wanted between $500,000 and $2.5 million to settle his case." (Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., supra, (A055045), at p. 2.) We also observed that "[u]ltimately, the case settled for $250,000, which appears to be a quite generous and fair settlement to appellant considering the problems with his claims." (Id. at p. 3.)

A $250,000 settlement check from Home was deposited into the client trust account of plaintiff's counsel. Under the terms of the settlement, the settling defendants paid $250,000 to Osijo and his counsel. Michell-Langsam, however, took for herself 45 percent of the settlement proceeds, or $112,500, not the 40 percent or $100,000 authorized by the written agreement for any settlement. (Osijo v. Gagnon & Michell, supra (A077882) [nonpub.opn.], at p. 3.)

"In the succeeding years, plaintiff filed a series of lawsuits against Michell-Langsam, Burnham Brown, Home, and a variety of other parties. In the first of these, plaintiff recovered $12,500 against Michell-Langsam for withholding as fees more of the settlement proceeds than her retainer agreement permitted. There is no indication in the record that plaintiff recovered anything in any of the other cases. In a malicious prosecution action in Fresno County Superior Court (Michell v. Osijo (Super. Ct. Fresno County, 2004, No. 02 CE CG 00003)), Michell-Langsam obtained a judgment against plaintiff of more than $165,000 based on his actions in two previous cases." (Osijo v. Sevigny, supra, 2006 WL 3616431, at p. *2.)

In the appeal Osijo v. Sevigny, supra, 2006 WL 3616431, the Fifth Appellate District rejected appellant's claim that the order enforcing the settlement agreement was void because of an attorney conflict of interest and because the judgment was executed by means of a rubber-stamp replica of the judge's signature rather than the actual signature. Appellant also argued that various judgments and orders of various courts were also void because they gave effect to or declined to invalidate the allegedly void settlement agreement and the judgment enforcing it. (Id. at pp.*2, *6.)

Thereafter, Michell-Langsam moved in the Fresno County Superior Court to declare plaintiff to be a vexatious litigant. (§ 391, subd. (b)(2).) In an order filed May 10, 2007, the superior court denied the motion, opining that a trio of cases, Levy, supra, 10 Cal.4th 578, Harris v. Rudin, Richman & Appel (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 299 (Harris), and Davidson v. Superior Court (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 514 (Davidson), "suggest that the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement could be void." The Fresno court determined that it was without jurisdiction to determine whether the judgment was void, but stated it would "not provide a roadblock to plaintiff's efforts to set the judgment aside in a court of competent jurisdiction."

In the order denying Michell-Langsam's vexatious litigant motion, the Fresno court recognized that "[p]laintiff may be repeatedly relitigating an action he has lost." However, the court opined that "it is possible that he should not have lost the original action." The superior court referenced Levy, supra, 10 Cal.4th 578, holding that the term "parties" in section 664.6 meant that the litigants themselves, not merely their attorneys, must assent to the settlement agreement before it can be enforced under that section; Harris, supra, 74 Cal.App.4th 299, holding that the reference to "parties" meant, that pursuant to Levy, both the party trying to enforce the settlement agreement and the party against whom the settlement agreement was being enforced must have signed the agreement for it to be enforceable under the expedited procedure of section 664.6; and Davidson, supra, 70 Cal.App.4th 514, holding that a 1987 judgment confirming a settlement was in excess of the court's jurisdiction and could not support a contempt order since the settlement was signed by the parties' attorney, but not by the parties themselves.

On June 27, 2007, the Fresno County Superior Court denied Michell-Langsam's motion to reconsider her vexatious litigant motion. We note the same court did declare plaintiff a vexatious litigant as to defendant Burnham Brown in an order filed June 12, 2007, at the same time it sustained Burnham Brown's demurrer to a complaint filed by plaintiff against Burnham Brown, Michell-Langsam and others.

On May 18, 2007, plaintiff moved the Alameda County Superior Court to set aside the enforcement order and to nullify the settlement agreement, arguing that the 1991 judgment enforcing the settlement agreement was "void" pursuant to Levy, supra, 10 Cal.4th 578 and its progeny. The Alameda County Superior Court heard the motion on June 21, 2007 and denied it. As a preliminary matter, the Alameda court recognized that plaintiff had been declared a vexatious litigant, and that his name appears on the vexatious litigant list prepared and maintained by the Administrative Office of the Courts. However, because the case preceded the order declaring him a vexatious litigant, the matter was not new litigation requiring a prefiling order. Ruling on the motion to vacate the judgment, the court concluded that the "instant motion seems to be an untimely motion for reconsideration." It denied the motion on the grounds that plaintiff had failed to explain why his request for relief was not a veiled motion for reconsideration and that he had failed to comply with the requirements of section 1008 for such motions. This timely appeal followed.

No respondent's brief has been filed in this appeal. We have received letters from various persons served by appellant including: David J. Van Dam, purportedly served as counsel for Prostaff Security Services; Larson & Burnham, purportedly served as attorneys for defendant owners of the property; and California Insurance Guarantee Association (CIGA), purportedly for Home Insurance Company in Liquidation and for defendant Housing Resources Management, Inc. These persons and entities advised us that they do not now (and in some cases never have) represented parties to this action and would not be filing briefs.⁴

DISCUSSION

Appellant does not address the superior court's determination that he had made an untimely motion for reconsideration (§ 1008.) Rather, he argues that the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement was void because the Alameda County Superior Court lacked subject matter jurisdiction to enforce it under the summary procedures of section 664.6, because defendants had not personally signed the agreement. He further contends that because the judgment enforcing the settlement agreement was void, he may attack it at any time, citing Davidson, supra, 70 Cal.App.4th 514. We disagree with his premise that the judgment was void for lack of subject matter jurisdiction and we find Davidson distinguishable.

A. Levy and Davidson

In Levy, supra, 10 Cal.4th 578, the court resolved a conflict among the districts when it held that a written settlement agreement is not enforceable under the section 664.6 summary procedures for enforcement of a settlement agreement, unless it is signed personally by the litigant. (Id. at p. 580.) The court did not find the settlement agreement itself was void or unenforceable, and expressly noted that alternative nonsummary means of enforcement, such as a motion for summary judgment, a separate suit in equity, or an ⁴ Van Dam relates that neither he nor his current law firm represents Prostaff, that his firm never represented Prostaff, and that he last represented Prostaff in 1991 when the case was resolved through mediation. At the time Prostaff was uninsured, insolvent, had ceased to do business and has not been active since.

Burnham Brown states they have received correspondence in connection with this matter and advises they do not represent any of the defendants in this lawsuit and that attorney David Pinelli (who took part in the settlement negotiations as counsel for the owners and insurer) has been deceased for many years.

Counsel for CIGA states they are not and have never been a party to the lawsuit, that they do not represent or stand in the shoes of Home Ins. Co in Liquidation or defendant Housing Resources Management, Inc., but that plaintiff continues to improperly serve them.

amendment to the pleadings, may exist. (Id. at p. 586, fn. 5.) Levy upheld the trial court's denial of the section 664.6 motion to enforce the settlement agreement, as plaintiff had refused to sign it. (Id. at pp. 580-581.) Levy has been held to apply retroactively. (Johnson v. Department of Corrections (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1700, 1709; Burckhard v. Del Monte Corp. (1996) 48 Cal.App.4th 1912, 1916-1917, fn. 4.)

In Davidson, supra, 70 Cal.App.4th 514, the City of Mendota filed a civil action seeking to prohibit the petitioners from operating a junkyard on their property. The parties purportedly reached a settlement requiring petitioners to stop their junkyard activities. A "Stipulation for Settlement and Entry of Order" was signed by the petitioners' attorney and the city attorney, but not by the petitioners. It was presented ex parte to a judge, who signed a judgment confirming the settlement in 1987. (Id. at pp. 516, 518.) The petitioners later contended their attorney never had authority to bind them. (Id. at p. 516.) The city initiated contempt proceedings against petitioners in late 1991 for failing to comply with the stipulated settlement and petitioners moved to vacate the stipulated order, arguing, among other things that since it was not signed by them nor approved in open court, it was not binding. (Id. at pp. 516, 518-519.) The contempt proceeding and the motion to rescind were separated for hearing; the rescission motion was denied and the appellate court affirmed, noting that the authorized signature of an attorney could bind the client to a written settlement agreement. Thereafter, the petitioners sought to set the matter for jury trial to decide the issue whether their attorney had authority to bind them. This motion was denied and another appeal was dismissed as an attempt to appeal a nonappealable order. (Id. at p. 517.) The City of Mendota again initiated contempt proceedings. Petitioners were found in contempt and sentenced to five days in jail. Petitioners filed a petition for writ of habeas corpus, requesting a stay. The appellate court issued the order to show cause and stayed the contempt order.

Relying upon Levy, supra, 10 Cal.4th 578, the appellate court held "the judgment obtained by the City of Mendota behind the purported settlement agreement is void for purposes of enforcement in contempt proceedings premised on its violation." (Davidson, supra, 70 Cal.App.4th at p. 517.) "The bottom line: the contempt order issued against the petitioners is invalid since it is not premised on a valid judgment.” (Id. at p. 518.) The court annulled the judgment of contempt and issued a permanent writ of mandate to vacate the void 1987 stipulated order. (Ibid.) The court identified “the underlying principle that ‘[a]n order of contempt cannot stand if the underlying order is invalid.’ (In re Miscner [(1985)] 38 Cal. 3d [543,] 558.)” (Davidson, at p. 529.) The court recognized well-settled California authority “ ‘that ‘the violation of an order in excess of jurisdiction of the issuing court cannot produce a valid judgment of contempt [citations], and that the ‘jurisdiction’ in question extends beyond mere subject matter or personal jurisdiction” Rather, “ ‘any acts which exceed the defined power of a court in any instance, whether that power be defined by constitutional provision, express statutory declaration, or rules developed by the courts and followed under the doctrine of stare decisis, are in excess of jurisdiction.’ ” [Citation.]” (Id. at p. 529.) The Davidson court took no position on whether the stipulated settlement agreement was valid or legally enforceable. (Ibid.) “We only hold the present judgment, i.e., the 1987 stipulated order, which was obtained in an unauthorized manner, is void for purposes of enforcement in contempt proceedings premised on its violation.” (Ibid., fn. omitted.) The court expressly noted that in California, courts “ ‘apply the rule that in the contempt proceeding, the contemner may, for the first time, collaterally challenge the validity of the order he or she is charged with violating. [Citations.]’ ” (Id. at pp. 529-530, fn. 2.)

In reaching its determination, the Davidson court rejected the claim that law of the case applied to the claim that the petitioners’ then attorney was not authorized to enter into the stipulated settlement, recognizing that the intervening change in the law wrought by Levy was “reason to ignore the doctrine because it is simply a procedural rule. [Citation.]” (Davidson, supra, 70 Cal.App.4th at p. 530.)⁵ Davidson also relied on authority that “ ‘the doctrine of the law of the case should not be adhered to when its application results in a manifestly unjust decision. [Citations.]’ ” (Id. at p. 530.) Observing that because the 1987 stipulated order was invalid under Levy, and the viability of the contempt finding depended on the viability of that stipulated order, the court stated that “the procedural doctrine of law of the case must bow to the substantive rights of petitioners, especially given the quasi-criminal nature of the matter. [Citations.]” (Id. at p. 531.)

B. Finality

As related above, in 1992, we affirmed the order enforcing the settlement agreement in Osijo v. Housing Resources Management, Inc., supra, (A055045). The California Supreme Court denied plaintiff’s petition for review on September 30, 1992, and the remittitur issued on October 26, 1992. The case is final. Once the remittitur issues, the lower court cannot reopen the case on the facts, allow the filing of amended or supplemental pleadings, nor retry the case, even in the event of an intervening change in the law. (See Griset v. Fair Political Practices Com., supra, 25 Cal.4th at pp. 701-702.)

“A motion to vacate or set aside the judgment, if made after the statutory time has elapsed for direct attack by motion, or if made on grounds or procedure not authorized by statutes governing direct attack, is a collateral attack. [Citations.]” (8 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (4th ed. 1997) Attack on Judgment in Trial Court § 8, p. 516.)

A collateral attack on a judgment for an error committed in the exercise of the court’s jurisdiction is not permitted. (Aerojet-General Corp. v. American Excess Ins. Co. (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 387, 398; 8 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (2007 supp.) Attack on Judgment in Trial Court, § 6, p. 189.) “Except in the case of extrinsic fraud, ‘[a] judgment on the merits that is not void on its face and [thus] subject to collateral attack is protected by the doctrine of res judicata after the time for ordinary direct attack has passed.’ (8 Witkin, Cal. Procedure, supra, Attack on Judgment in Trial Court, § 214.) at p. 718.)” (Aerojet-General Corp., at p. 398, fn. 3.)

Moreover, plaintiff is simply wrong when he asserts that the court acted without subject matter jurisdiction. Subject matter jurisdiction and personal jurisdiction are jurisdiction in the fundamental sense. (See 2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (4th ed. 1996) Jurisdiction, § 323, pp. 899-900; id., § 328, pp. 908-909.) The court had the authority to hear the section 664.6 motion and to decide it. "In ruling upon [a section 664.6] motion, trial courts are empowered to resolve all underlying factual disputes and 'ultimately determine whether the parties reached a binding mutual accord as to material terms.' [Citations.]" (Haning et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Personal Injury (The Rutter Group 2007) ¶ 4:534.)

A judgment by a court lacking in jurisdiction of the subject matter is subject to collateral attack, as is a judgment by a court lacking jurisdiction of the person. (2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure, supra, Jurisdiction, § 323, p. 899.) However, the question whether an act in excess of jurisdiction by a court that had both subject matter and personal jurisdiction is subject to collateral attack cannot be answered authoritatively, "for the cases are in conflict in their holdings, and the opinions have produced no clear statement of principles. This is partly due, perhaps, to the difficulty encountered in distinguishing total absence of jurisdiction from excess of jurisdiction, and also to the practical fact that some acts in excess of jurisdiction are more serious and objectionable than others." (Ibid.)

As our Supreme Court explained in People v. American Contractors Indemnity Co. (2004) 33 Cal.4th 653: "The term 'jurisdiction,' 'used continuously in a variety of situations, has so many different meanings that no single statement can be entirely satisfactory as a definition.' (Abelleira v. District Court of Appeal (1941) 17 Cal.2d 280, 287 (Abelleira)). Essentially, jurisdictional errors are of two types. 'Lack of jurisdiction in its most fundamental or strict sense means an entire absence of power to hear or determine the case, an absence of authority over the subject matter or the parties.' (Id. at p. 288.) When a court lacks jurisdiction in a fundamental sense, an ensuing judgment is void, and 'thus vulnerable to direct or collateral attack at any time.' (Barquis v. Merchants Collection Assn. (1972) 7 Cal.3d 94, 119 (Barquis))." (People v. American Contractors Indemnity Co., at p. 660.)

“However, ‘in its ordinary usage the phrase “lack of jurisdiction” is not limited to these fundamental situations.’ (Abelleira, supra, 17 Cal.2d at p. 288.) It may also ‘be applied to a case where, though the court has jurisdiction over the subject matter and the parties in the fundamental sense, it has no “jurisdiction” (or power) to act except in a particular manner, or to give certain kinds of relief, or to act without the occurrence of certain procedural prerequisites.’ (Ibid.) ‘ “[W]hen a statute authorizes [a] prescribed procedure, and the court acts contrary to the authority thus conferred, it has exceeded its jurisdiction.” ’ (Id. at p. 290.) When a court has fundamental jurisdiction, but acts in excess of its jurisdiction, its act or judgment is merely voidable. [Citations.] That is, its act or judgment is valid until it is set aside, and a party may be precluded from setting it aside by ‘principles of estoppel, disfavor of collateral attack or res judicata.’ [Citation.] Errors which are merely in excess of jurisdiction should be challenged directly, for example by motion to vacate the judgment, or on appeal, and are generally not subject to collateral attack once the judgment is final unless ‘unusual circumstances were present which prevented an earlier and more appropriate attack.’ (Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. McConnell (1955) 44 Cal.2d 715, 727 [general rule is that a ‘final judgment or order is res judicata’ and not subject to collateral attack ‘even though contrary to statute where the court has jurisdiction in the fundamental sense, i.e., of the subject matter and the parties’]; 2 Wilkin, Cal. Procedure[, supra,] Jurisdiction, § 323, p. 899.)” (People v. American Contractors Indemnity Co., supra, 33 Cal.4th at p. 661.)

Wilkin identifies one reason for the rule: “If there is jurisdiction of the subject matter and the parties, one who complains of the act is usually before the court. He has an opportunity to object, or to have the judgment or order reviewed by the usual methods of direct attack, such as new trial or appeal. He may also in many situations use the extraordinary writs . . . to directly attack and prevent or annul the unauthorized act. . . . [¶] . . . [A]cts merely in excess of jurisdiction, by a court having jurisdiction of the subject matter and parties, should not be subject to collateral attack unless exceptional circumstances precluded an earlier and more appropriate attack. [Citations.] [¶] The contrary view, that a judgment or order in excess of jurisdiction is as completely void as one made by a court lacking subject matter jurisdiction, is artificial and dangerous. If uniformly followed it would mean that any judgment or order which might be prevented by prohibition or annulled on certiorari would be subject to collateral attack. . . . To open up this vast field of departures from authorized procedure to collateral attack is neither necessary nor desirable." (2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure, supra, Jurisdiction, § 323, pp. 899-900.) Expanding on this discussion, Witkin observes that "[t]he theory that acts beyond a court's authority are void and always subject to collateral attack . . . was abandoned in a series of cases beginning with Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. McConnell [supra, 44 Cal.2d 715] . . ." (2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure, supra, Jurisdiction, § 328, p. 907.) Consequently, "[a] judgment enforcing a contract is res judicata even though the defense of illegality is raised in the subsequent litigation." (Ibid.)

However, "[i]n exceptional situations collateral attack is allowed, despite subject matter jurisdiction, where the judgment is contrary to statute: (1) '[W]here unusual circumstances were present which prevented an earlier and more appropriate attack' [citation]. (2) Where a contempt adjudication is based on violation of an injunction or other equitable order made contrary to statute. [Citation.] 'The decisions do not use the term, but the attack in such cases might be considered to be collateral, and the proceedings apparently fall in a special category because they are penal in nature.' [Citation.]" (2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure, supra, Jurisdiction, § 328, pp. 907-908, italics added.)

This latter contempt adjudication exception is precisely the situation faced by the court in Davidson, supra, 70 Cal.App.4th 514. Indeed, the appellate court did not hold that the trial court lacked subject matter jurisdiction or jurisdiction in the fundamental sense. It specifically stated that "the 1987 stipulated order was in excess of the court's jurisdiction because it was not entered in compliance with section 664.6 or some other settlement enforcement mechanism. Thus, it is void and cannot be the basis of a valid contempt order. . . . We only hold the present judgment, i.e., the 1987 stipulated order, which was obtained in an unauthorized manner, is void for purposes of enforcement in contempt proceedings premised on its violation." (Davidson, at p. 529, fn. omitted, italics added.) Clearly, the court applied the well-recognized exception to res judicata, allowing collateral attack on the contempt citation.

Levy, supra, 10 Cal.4th 578, which itself arose in the context of a petition for writ of mandate from the trial court's denial of expedited enforcement of a settlement agreement pursuant to section 664.6, has been applied primarily in cases on direct appeal from a court order enforcing or refusing to enforce a settlement agreement pursuant to section 664.6. (See e.g., Gauss v. GAF Corp. (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 1110, 1115-1123; Harris, supra, 74 Cal.App.4th 299, 302-306; Williams v. Saunders (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 1158, 1160, 1162-1164; Burckhard v. Del Monte Corp., supra, 48 Cal.App.4th 1912, 1914-1915; Robertson v. Chen (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 1290, 1292-1293; Cortez v. Kenneally (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 523, 524-525, 528-530; Johnson v. Department of Corrections, supra, 38 Cal.App.4th 1700, 1704-1710.)

Unlike petitioners in Davidson, supra, 70 Cal.App.4th 514, plaintiff is not raising the alleged invalidity of the enforcement order as a defense to a contempt order. Although he has challenged the enforcement order and settlement agreement in numerous ways, until recently he never raised Levy or the failure of defendants to personally sign the settlement agreement as a basis for any challenge. The parties have fully performed under the terms of the settlement agreement. Plaintiff has not offered to return any settlement funds he has received. At this point, every former party defendant in the original action is insolvent, and even the insurer is in liquidation. Unlike Davidson, we cannot say here that " ' "adherence to the previous decision would result in defeating a just cause' " ' " (See Davidson, supra, at p. 530, italics omitted.) It would be unjust and inequitable to allow appellant to unwind more than a decade of decisions in the circumstances presented by this case.⁶

⁶ Such equitable considerations are highly relevant here. We note that in the direct appeal in Johnson v. Department of Corrections, the Court of Appeal rejected the defendants' argument that equity weighed against retrospective application of section 664.6 because defendants had already tendered $83,000 to the plaintiff. However, plaintiff refused to accept the money and the trial court had not permitted the plaintiff's attorney to withdraw the money from the client trust account until the dispute between plaintiff and the attorney was resolved. The appellate court observed that since the funds could be returned to defendants, defendants would not be harmed in any way by retroactive application of Levy. (Johnson v. Department of Corrections, supra, 38 Cal.App.4th at p. 1710.) In the instant case, it does not appear that the funds could be effectively returned and plaintiff has not sought to do so in any event.

CLAIMANT'S REPLY TO THE LIQUIDATOR'S SECTION 15 SUBMISSION REGARDING ISSUE AND CLAIM

Where Is A Copy Of The Order That Authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam To Settle Claimant's Personal Injury Action On July 30, 1991?; Where Is The Claimant's Signature On The Settlement Check Issued By The Home Insurance Company?; Where Is A Copy Of The "Full Release And Satisfaction Of All Claims And Demand," With The Claimant's Signature On It, Before The Settlement Check Was Cashed On July 30, 1991 By Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam?

Because the Liquidator filed "Exhibits To Liquidator's Section 15 Submission," in response to the July 21, 2009, Order, regarding res judicata (claim and issue preclusion), Claimant, Adebowale O. Osijo, respectfully ask that the Liquidator in his sur-rebuttal, identify and specify, or produce the followings:

A. A copy of the Order or a final judgment on the merit, issued by any Court in the State of California, which authorized Attorney Georgia Ann Mitchell-Langsam to settle Claimant's personal injury action in the Alameda County Superior Court, CA. The "Settlement Agreement," and its Enforcement Order of October 10, 1991, did not authorize her to settle the Claimant's personal injury action on July 30, 1991. Please see the Exhibits G & H of the "Exhibits to the Liquidator's Section 13 Submission."

B. A copy of the cancelled Bank of America check No. 51990219, dated July 26, 1991, issued by the Home Insurance Companies, in the amount of Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, { $250,000 }, into the "Trust Account of Ganong & Michell, As Trustees For Wale O. Osijo, In Full & Final Settlement," with the Claimant's signature on it, as requested by the personal injury Defendants' attorney, David Raymond Pinelli, in his letter of July 29, 1991. A copy of the aforementioned check, identified as Exhibit H, in the "Exhibits To Liquidator's Section 15, Submission," does not have the Claimant's signature on it, for any purpose.

C. A copy of the "Full Release And Satisfaction Of All Claims And Demand," with the Claimant's signature on it, before the aforementioned settlement check was negotiated and cashed, as requested by the Defendants' attorney, David Raymond Pinelli, in his covering letter of July 29, 1991. No argument necessary!

Claimant respectfully reminds the Court and the Liquidator that the Liquidator has the burden of proof, under the laws in the State of California, and in all other jurisdictions of the United States, because he is the one claiming res judicata (claim and issue preclusion). Please see Vella v Hudgins (1977) 20 Cal.3d 251, 257-258.

"The Doctrine Of Res Juridicata Was Never Intended To Operate So As To Prevent A Re-Examination Of The Same Question Between The Same Parties Where, In The Interval Between The First And Second Actions, The Facts Have Materially Changed Or new Facts Have Occurred Which May Have Altered The Legal Rights Or Relations Of The Litigant"

The law in the State of California, as established by the California Supreme Court, in the Matter of Hurd et al, v Albert, et al (1931) 214 Cal. 15, 3 P.2d 545, 76 A.L.R. 1348, and by the Supreme Courts of other jurisdiction in the United States of America, is that:

"The doctrine of res judicata was never intended to operate so as to prevent a re-examination of the same question between the same parties where, in the interval between the first and the second actions, the facts have materially changed, or new facts have occurred which may have altered the legal rights or relations of the litigants. (Matter of Snowball, 156 Cal. 240, [244 Pac. 444], Williamson v Grider, 97 Ark. 588 [135 S.W. 361]); 34 Cor. Jur. 905, sec. 1313"

"These cases are also authority for the point that when the second action is tried it is permissible for the Court to consider, not only the facts that have occurred since the prior suit, but it may and should consider all facts that exist, both prior and subsequent to the first action, so as to determine, properly what effect all of the facts, as they exist at the time of the second action, have on the rights of the parties"

What the Liquidator is trying to do in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding, under the camouflage of res judicata, is to prevent the Court from examining the fact that Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam had settled the Claimant's personal injury action in the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, in the Matter of Osljo v Housing Resources Management, Inc., Prostaff Security Services, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd., Case No.: C-649881, on Tuesday, July 30, 1991, and had misappropriated the settlement proceeds to herself, for her own use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent, and in collusion with the then personal injury Defendants' attorney, David Raymond Pinelli, before the personal injury Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement, was filed, heard and decided, on September 5, 1991.

The facts that Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam had settled the said personal injury action on Tuesday, July 30, 1991, and had misappropriated the settlement proceeds to herself for her own use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent, was not made known to the Claimant until early 1993. This was after the California Court of Appeals, First District, Division II, had affirmed the Order Enforcing Settlement Agreement, in July 1992, and after the California Supreme Court denied Claimant's Petition for Review, in late October 1992.

Claimant substantiates the foregoing, with the following evidences:

Evidence Number	Description of Evidence	Specific Substantiation
1.	Transcript of Hearing	a. Not one word was stated in the entire transcript that Attorney Georgia Michell had settled the personal injury case on July 30, 1991. b. The entire proceeding was to enforce "Settlement Agreement," not to enforce the settlement of the personal injury action, by Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, on July 30, 1991.

c. There is no way that Claimant can have a fair and full opportunity to present his case with the Plaintiff's and the Defendants' attorneys in cohort with one another, and against him, in the open courtroom of Department 18, of the Alameda County Superior Court.

2. Declaration of Georgia Michell
 - a. Not one word was stated in the entire declaration that she had settled the personal injury case on July 30, 1991.
 - b. Georgia Michell's conduct in the proceeding was egregious such that it deprived the Claimant of a full and fair opportunity to present his case.
 - c. The declaration was in support of the Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement, not Motion to Enforce Settlement, as stated by the Liquidator in the Section 15 Submission.

3. Declaration of Charles S. Baker
 - a. Not one word was stated in the entire declaration that he came to Fresno to try and pay the Claimant $75,000 in cash, from the settlement proceeds, that Georgia Michell received on July 30, 1991.
 - b. The declaration was in support of the Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement, not Motion to Enforce Settlement as stated by the Liquidator in the Section 15 Submission.

4. Declaration of David R. Pinelli
 - a. Not one word was stated in the entire declaration that he has paid Georgia Michell to settle the personal injury action on July 30, 1991.
 - b. The entire declaration was in support of the Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement, not Motion to Enforce Settlement, as stated by the Liquidator in the Section 15 Submission.

Based on the foregoing authority, and evidentiary facts, Claimant respectfully ask that the Court deny the Liquidator's Section 15 Submission, regarding res judicata (claim and issue preclusion), and grant Claimant's Request For An Evidentiary Hearing, in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding, to establish the fact that the then Claimant's attorney, in the underlying personal injury action, in the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, in the Matter of Osljo v Housing Resources Management, Inc., Proslaff Security Services, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd., Case No.: C-649881, Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, settled his personal injury action on July 30, 1991, without his knowledge or consent, or a Court's order, before the Court ever heard and decided the Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement, on September 5, 1991.

Attorneys' Egregious Conduct Which Undermines Due Process Fairness In A Judicial Proceeding Cannot Form The Basis Of Res Juridicata

For the umpteenth time, Claimant has requested the Court's ruling that the Plaintiff's and the Defendants' attorneys conduct in the aforementioned personal injury action is egregious, such that Claimant was prevented from fully and fairly presenting his case in the Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement.

Claimant has presented a copy of the "Stipulation In Lieu Of Discipline," on file with the State Bar of California, wherein, Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam stipulated with The State Bar of California that she represented Claimant with an actual conflict of interest. Please see the Supplement to the Amended Claimant's Mandatory Disclosure, filed on July 15, 2009.

In addition to the foregoing, Claimant submits Exhibits 1 to 4, for the reasons described in pages 3 through 4 above.

Finally, Claimant submits Exhibits 5 and 6, to prove that the then Plaintiff's attorney and the Defendants' attorneys, were in cohort with one another with their exchange of drafts of motion and declaration. If the opposing attorneys agree with one another, what do they need the Court to adjudicate in the Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement? This tantamount to a stipulation between the parties, which will have been very obvious or apparent.

They went before the Alameda County Superior Court to cover-up the fact that Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam had settled the personal injury action in cohort and collaboration with David Raymond Pinelli, with the hope that Claimant will accept the Court's ruling. This was the declaration of Charles Samuel Baker, on page 2, Paragraph 5, Exhibit 3, which reads:

"After several hours of discussion with Mr. Osijo, we discussed the fact that Mr. Pinelli had promised that if Mr. Osijo did not sign the release that the defendants would make a 664 motion to enforce the settlement. Thereafter, Mr. Osijo indicated to me that if he was ordered to take the settlement by a judge, it will not be as offensive that was not the same as him agreeing to accept less than his $2,500,000.00 demand."

Finally, we must not forget that Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam was concurrently an insured of the Home Insurance for legal malpractice of the same personal injury action. Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam was concurrently a client of personal injury Defendants' attorneys' law firm. The same Home Insurance hired the same personal injury Defendants' attorneys' law firm to defend a subsequent legal malpractice action brought Claimant, against Attorney Georgia Ann Michell-Langsam, in the Superior Court of California, Contra Costa County.

4. Conclusion

Claimant's due process right to fairness in a judicial proceeding is guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of The United States of America, and the California Constitution, Article I, Section 7(a). There is no way that Claimant can have a full and fair opportunity to present his case in the aforementioned personal injury Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement Agreement, when the attorneys who were supposed to be in opposition with one another, are instead in cohort with one another, and against the Claimant, as evidenced above. The Liquidator's claim of res judicata is inapplicable.

1 SEPTEMBER 5, 1991; MORNING SESSION

3 P R O C E E D I N G S

4 THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. LINE 50, OSIJO VERSUS THE 5 CITY OF OAKLAND..

6 MR. PINELLI: GOOD MORNING. DAVID PINELLI ON 7 BEHALF OF THE MOVING DEFENDANTS; THAT WOULD BE HOUSING
8 RESOURCES MANAGEMENT, FILBERT ONE AND FILBERT TWO, 9 MS. MICHELL: GEORGIA MICHELL APPEARING FOR 10 PLAINTIFF WITH MR. WALE OSIJO.

11 MR. OSIJO: I'M WITH MYSELF.

12 MR. KAISER: DAVID KAISER FOR INTERVENOR
13 DEPARTMENT OF INVESTIGATOR RELATIONS.

14 THE COURT: WELL, AS I UNDERSTAND IT, WE HAD A 15 SETTLEMENT HERE AND THEN MR. OSIJO CHANGED HIS MIND.

16 MR. OSIJO: THAT'S CORRECT, YOUR HONOR.

17 MR. PINELLI: YOUR HONOR, I HAVE A COPY OF THE -- 18 OF THE ORIGINAL SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT WHICH I BROUGHT WITH ME.
19 I WAS SOMEWHAT HESITANT TO FILE IT WITH THE MOVING PAPERS. I 20 THINK IT PROBABLY SHOULD BE PART OF --

21 THE COURT: SHOW IT TO COUNSEL AND IF THERE IS NO
22 OBJECTION, I'LL TAKE A LOOK AT IT.

23 MR. OSIJO: I HAVE SEEN IT, SIR.

24 THE COURT: IS IT SIGNED BY MR. OSIJO?

25 MR. MICHELL: YES, IT IS, YOUR HONOR. IT'S ALSO 26 SIGNED BY ALL OF US.

27 MR. PINELLI: AND JUDGE CAMPALAGO.

28 THE COURT: WELL, MR. OSIJO, PERHAPS I SHOULD

1 EXPLAIN THAT COURTS ENCOURAGE SETTLEMENTS AND WHEN PARTIES
2 ENTER INTO SETTLEMENTS, IT HAS CERTAIN EFFECTS. IT AFFECTS 3 ALL THE PARTIES, THE COURT SYSTEM. WE -- PEOPLE MAKE
4 COMMITMENTS BASED ON A SETTLEMENT. A SETTLEMENT IS A CONTRACT
5 AND THE LAW PROVIDES THAT THAT CONTRACT CAN BE ENFORCED BY A
6 MOTION LIKE THIS. APPARENTLY YOU UNDERSTOOD IT. YOU AGREED
7 TO IT.

8 MR. OSIJO: NO, NO, HUH-UH. THAT'S THE REASON I'M 9 HERE THIS MORNING. I DID NOT VOLUNTEER FOR IT AND I KNEW
10 NOTHING ABOUT IT. NOR WAS I INFORMED OF THAT SETTLEMENT
11 CONFERENCE BY MY ATTORNEY. I KNEW NOTHING ABOUT IT.

12 AND WHEN I RECEIVED THESE ON TUESDAY, JULY 23RD, IT
13 SAYS VOLUNTARY SETTLEMENT CONFERENCE. I IMMEDIATELY WROTE MY 14 ATTORNEY, I HAVE AN EXHIBIT B THERE, TO LET HER KNOW I DID NOT
15 VOLUNTEER FOR THIS. AND I WAS NOT AWARE OF HER VOLUNTEERED 16 ANY SUCH THING ON MY BEHALF. AND IF I KNEW, I WOULD NOT HAVE 17 GONE TO SAN FRANCISCO BECAUSE I WOULD NOT HAVE AGREED WITH IT.
18 THAT'S COMPROMISING MY OWN POSITION, I WOULDN'T DO THAT.

19 MOREOVER, ON JUNE 16TH THIS SAME YEAR, SHE HAS CALLED 20 ME EARLIER TO BRING IN THESE SAME $250,000 AND I SAID NO TO 21 THAT. SO NOW THE NEXT ALTERNATIVE IS TO LOOK FOR A 22 CONFERENCE. I KNEW NOTHING ABOUT IT. I WAS TOLD TO GO THERE.
23 I WAS TO BE THERE. WHAT'S THE PENALTY IF I DON'T DO THAT?
24 NOW, AFTER ALL THAT'S SAID AND DONE, THERE IS A COPY OF 25 THE CONTRACT. LET ME GO OUT AND READ IT AND UNDERSTAND IT, AT 26 LEAST GIVE ME 24 HOURS. THEY SAID NO. YOU SEEN IT THERE OR 27 YOU LEAVE IT HERE OR YOU DON'T SIGN THIS AND GO.

28 EVERYONE OF THEM, WITH EXCLUSION OF MR. KAISER --

1 MISS MICHELL, MR. PINELLI, MR. CAMPALAGO AND THE INSURANCE
 2 MAN -- THEY WERE ALL ON ME. I DID NOT HAVE EVEN 20 MINUTES TO 3 MYSELF TO COMPREHEND, UNDERSTAND WHAT'S GOING ON. AND AT 4 LEAST LET ME KNOW. WHEN I HAVE FOUR PEOPLE I THINK THAT IS 5 GOOD, EVERYONE GOING IN THE SAME DIRECTION.

6 AND ALL THE WHILE I STILL HAD THE IMPRESSION THAT THE 7 CONFERENCE WAS REQUESTED BY MR. PINELLI AND HIS CLIENT. THAT 8 WAS MY IMPRESSION. IT WAS THE REASON I HAD IT IN WRITING AND 9 I FAXED IT SO THAT THEY WOULDN'T SAY IT WAS NOT RECEIVED OR 10 SOMETHING WAS WRONG. I HAD IT DONE IN WRITING AND LET THEM
 11 KNOW. I DID NOT REQUEST THIS. I AM NOT AWARE OF IT BEING 12 REQUESTED ON MY BEHALF. IF YOU GIVE ME ONE DAY TO STUDY ALL
 13 THIS AND THE FOLLOWING DAY I HAVE TO BE IN SAN FRANCISCO. I
 14 LIVE IN FRESNO. IF THEY HAD SENT A COPY OF THIS THING TO ME
 15 THAT JUDGMENT, IF I REALLY WANT TO SIGN IT, IT COULD HAVE BEEN 16 MAILED TO ME THERE; IF I REALLY WANTED TO AGREE WITH IT.

17 THE COURT: WELL, DID YOU SIGN IT?

18 MR. OSIJO: I DID SIGN IT UNDER PRESSURE.

19 THE COURT: DID YOU UNDERSTAND IT?

20 MR. OSIJO: NO, SIR.

21 THE COURT: DID YOU READ IT?

22 MR. OSIJO: I READ IT. I DIDN'T UNDERSTAND IT.

23 EVERYBODY -- I WAS CONFUSED.

24 THE COURT: IT'S A SETTLEMENT OF $250,000. DID
 25 YOU UNDERSTAND WHAT THAT MEANT?

26 MR. OSIJO: SHE HAS ALREADY SPOKEN TO ME ABOUT
 27 $250,000 ON JUNE 16. I SAID NO TO IT. AND WHEN THE PARTY 28 BROUGHT IT UP AGAIN, SHE, MR. PINELLI, MR. CAMPALAGO AND THE

1 INSURANCE MAN, THE INSURANCE MAN TOLD ME THAT HE WAS THE ONE
2 THAT REQUESTED THE CONFERENCE AND PAID FOR IT.

3 THE COURT: WHAT IS YOUR OBJECTION TO THE 4 SETTLEMENT?

5 MR. OSIJO: MY OBJECTION: I DID NOT AGREE WITH 6 THE SETTLEMENT FIGURE. I WOULD NOT HAVE SIGNED THAT 7 SETTLEMENT IF I WAS TOLD, OR IF I WAS GIVEN THE OPPORTUNITY TO 8 GO ON MY OWN AT LEAST 24 HOURS AND COMPREHEND. I KNOW WHAT'S 9 GOING ON. 24 HOURS I WOULD REFUSE IT. EVEN IF I STEP OUT AND 10 BE MYSELF WITH IT, I WOULD HAVE REFUSED IT AND THAT'S WHAT I 11 DID THE FOLLOWING MORNING AT 9:00 O'CLOCK. I CALLED TO LET 12 THEM ALL KNOW I AM REFUSING IT.

13 MR. PINELLI: YOUR HONOR --

14 THE COURT: LET ME CLARIFY ONE THING. DID YOU 15 READ THIS BEFORE YOU SIGNED IT?

16 MR. OSIJO: YOUR HONOR, I READ IT LIKE I TOLD YOU
17 EARLIER. I HAVE FOUR PEOPLE TAKING TURNS ON ME CONFUSING ME.
18 I READ IT. I COULD NOT COMPREHEND IT AND I WAS NOT GIVEN TIME 19 TO BE ON MY OWN TO UNDERSTAND WHAT'S GOING ON.

20 THE COURT: IS YOUR OBJECTION TO THE AMOUNT OR THE 21 FACT THAT YOU WANTED TO HAVE A TRIAL AND TELL YOUR STORY TO 22 THE JURY?

23 MR. OSIJO: THANK YOU. GOOD QUESTION. TO THE 24 AMOUNT.

25 THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. WELL, LET'S HEAR FROM -- I 26 DON'T KNOW WHETHER PLAINTIFF'S COUNSEL WANTS TO SAY ANYTHING.
27 DO YOU WANT TO COMMENT?

28 MR. PINELLI: YOUR HONOR, LET ME -- I THINK I

1 SHOULD SPEAK FIRST. FIRST OF ALL, THE CONFERENCE ITSELF WAS 2 PAID BY MY PRINCIPAL. HOWEVER, THE REQUESTING FOR THE
3 CONFERENCE EMANATED FROM MISS MICHELL'S OFFICE. WITH 4 REFERENCE TO THAT $250,000 FIGURE GIVEN BACK IN JUNE, THAT'S 5 NOT TRUE. I NEVER HAD THAT KIND OF AUTHORITY BACK IN JUNE.
6 THAT'S NUMBER ONE.

7 NUMBER TWO, I THINK THE COURT SHOULD BE AWARE THAT
8 MR. OSIJO IS AN EXPERIENCED LITIGATOR. HE'S REPRESENTED
9 HIMSELF IN SEVERAL LAWSUITS. HE REPRESENTED HIMSELF IN A 10 WRONGFUL TERMINATION LAWSUIT WHEREIN HE SETTLED THE CASE BY 11 HIMSELF. HE WAS A PRO PER IN THIS CASE. I THINK YOU CAN SEE 12 BY THE SIZE OF THE COURT FILE, HE BROUGHT A NUMBER OF 13 DIFFERENT MOTIONS BEFORE DEPARTMENT 19 AND BEFORE JUDGE
14 AGRETELIS:

15 MORE IMPORTANTLY, HOWEVER, IS THAT HE HAD CONVERSATIONS
16 WITH MISS MICHELL DURING THE ENTIRE COURSE OF THAT DAY. WE 17 SPENT THE ENTIRE DAY IN FRONT OF JUDGE CAMPALAGO. WHEN THE 18 TERMS WERE AGREED TO THE SETTLEMENT, AN AGREEMENT WAS DRAFTED
19 UP. MR. OSIJO READ THAT AGREEMENT AND JUDGE CAMPALAGO WENT 20 THROUGH IT WITH HIM POINT BY POINT.

21 THE COURT: WAS THERE A RECORD?

22 MR. OSIJO: NO.

23 MR. PINELLI: NO. THAT WAS REACHED, YOUR HONOR, 24 AT ABOUT 7:30 AT NIGHT. AND JUDGE CAMPALAGO -- I KNOW THIS IS 25 HEARSAY, BUT WE DID REQUEST JUDGE CAMPALAGO TO GIVE US A 26 DECLARATION TO SUBSTANTIATE WHAT I JUST REPRESENTED TO THE 27 COURT. HE HAD A DECLARATION TYPED UP AND THEN WAS INFORMED BY 28 HIS SECRETARY THAT J.A.M.S. POLICY IS NOT TO ALLOW THEIR

1 JUDGES TO GIVE DECLARATIONS. JUDGE CAMPALAGO CONFIRMED THAT 2 WITH JUDGE FANNON AND THAT'S WHY THERE'S NO DECLARATION FROM 3 JUDGE CAMPALAGO.

4 BUT FOR MR. OSIJO TO STAND BEFORE THIS COURT TODAY AND 5 TELL THE COURT THAT HE DIDN'T UNDERSTAND IN ANY OF THE 6 PROVISIONS IN THIS ENFORCEMENT DURING THIS AGREEMENT, IS JUST 7 NOT TRUE.

8 MR. OSIJO: THAT'S NOT MY POINT, MR. PINELLI. CAN 9 I RESPOND TO THAT?

10 THE COURT: WE'LL HEAR FROM OTHERS AND YOU CAN 11 RESPOND FROM -- TO ALL OF THEM.

12 MR. PINELLI: MR. OSIJO HAS INDICATED THROUGHOUT
13 THE LAWSUIT THAT THE MONEY DIDN'T MATTER TO HIM AT DIFFERENT 14 POINTS AND WE'D ASKED HIM, "WHAT DOES MATTER TO YOU?" "WELL, 15 I WANT TO TELL MY STORY." WELL, HE ALSO HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO 16 DO THAT IN FRONT OF JUDGE CAMPALAGO AND THE REST OF US. WE 17 WEREN'T POUNDING ON MR. OSIJO. IN FACT, THE PRICE THAT WAS 18 PAID IS AN EXTREMELY FAIR PRICE AND WE ALL AGREED, INCLUDING
19 MR. OSIJO AT DINNER THAT NIGHT, THAT THIS WAS THE BEST THING
20 FOR HIM TO GET THIS LAWSUIT BEHIND HIM.

21 AT MR. OSIJO'S REQUEST HE INVITED ME OUT TO DINNER
22 ALONG WITH HIS ATTORNEY AND MR. KAISER. WE DID GO OUT TO 23 DINNER. MR. OSIJO WAS INCREDIBLY HAPPY WITH THE RESULT AND 24 NUMEROUS TIMES EXPRESSED HIS GRATITUDE IN GETTING THIS 25 LITIGATION BEHIND HIM. AND I WAS SHOCKED THE NEXT DAY WHEN I
26 WAS INFORMED BY MISS MICHELL THAT HE DID NOT WANT TO GO 27 THROUGH WITH THE AGREEMENT. IT JUST --

28 THE COURT: OKAY. YOU'VE MADE THAT POINT IN YOUR

1 PAPERS. ANYTHING YOU WANT TO ADD, MR. KAISER?

2 MR. KAISER: WELL, I WOULD ADD TWO POINTS. THE 3 FIRST, I TAKE EXCEPTION TO ITEM 90, MR. OSIJO'S DECLARATION.
4 MR. OSIJO NEEDS THIS COURT TO BELIEVE THAT SOMEHOW THE
5 DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS WENT BACK ON THEIR PROMISE
6 TO WITHDRAW THE OBJECTION TO HIS PETITION TO THE WORKERS' COMP
7 BENEFITS. IN ORDER FOR THAT TO BE TRUE, THE WORKERS' COMP
8 COMPUTATION HEARING WOULD HAVE HAD TO OCCUR AFTER THE JULY
9 25TH J.A.M.S. TALK. HOWEVER, IT OCCURRED THREE WEEKS BEFORE
10 AND THE DECISION, AS HE POINTS OUT IN HIS DECLARATION, ISSUED
11 THE VERY DAY WE WERE THERE, JULY 25TH.

12 IT WOULD HAVE BEEN VERY DIFFICULT TO WITHDRAW AN 13 OBJECTION FROM A DECISION THAT WAS BEING MAILED THAT VERY DAY.
14 BUT NONETHELESS, WE DID INTEND TO WITHDRAW OUR OBJECTION.
15 HOWEVER, TWO DAYS AFTER JULY 25TH, MR. OSIJO CALLED OUR OFFICE 16 AND SAID ESSENTIALLY TO LEAVE HIS COMPENSATION BENEFITS AS 17 THEY WERE AND THAT'S WHAT WE DID.

18 NOW, APPARENTLY HE'S CHANGED HIS MIND AGAIN ON THIS AND 19 IF SO, WE'D BE HAPPY TO WITHDRAW OUR OBJECTION AT THIS POINT.
20 IT DOES NOT MATTER TO US ONE WAY OR THE OTHER. THE JUDGE
21 RULED --

22 THE COURT: WHAT DOESN'T MATTER TO YOU? WHAT'S 23 SETTLED OR NOT?

24 MR. KAISER: WHETHER THE WORKERS' COMPENSATION
25 BENEFITS ARE COMMUTED OR NOT DOES NOT MATTER TO US. WE WILL
26 WITHDRAW THE OBJECTION AS I PROMISED ALL ALONG. HE HAS MADE
27 IT APPEAR THAT WE'VE GONE BACK ON THAT PROMISE. I DO OBJECT
28 TO THE CHARACTERIZATION.

1 THE SECOND POINT, I WOULD CONCUR WITH MR. PINELLI, 2 MR. OSIJO REPEATEDLY HAD SAID AT DINNER HOW PLEASED HE WAS
 3 WITH MISS MICHELL'S REPRESENTATION AND THE SETTLEMENT AND I
 4 DON'T -- HE REPEATEDLY SAID THAT. I DON'T KNOW WHAT ELSE TO 5 SAY.

6 THE COURT: MISS MICHELL, ANYTHING YOU WANT TO 7 SAY?

8 MS. MICHELL: ONE THING MR. KAISER DIDN'T ADD
 9 JUDGE HAM, THE APPEALS BOARD JUDGE, HIS DECISION TO NOT 10 COMMUTE MR. OSIJO'S BENEFITS WAS WITHOUT PREJUDICE AND HE EVEN 11 SAID IN HIS LENGTHY ORDER THAT MR. OSIJO IS FREE TO BRING THE 12 MOTION AGAIN WHEN HE CAN MAKE A PROPER SHOWING OF NEED
 13 NECESSARY FOR THE COMMUTATION.

14 ADDITIONALLY, YOUR HONOR, WHICH NO ONE HAS MENTIONED,
 15 IS WHEN MR. OSIJO CAME INTO THE ROOM WITH ALL OF US ATTORNEYS 16 WHEN WE BASICALLY HAMMERED OUT THE AGREEMENT THAT I HAD BEEN 17 SHUTTLEING DOWN THE HALL AND TALKING TO MR. OSIJO. BUT MR.
 18 OSIJO READ THE DOCUMENT AND THEN SAID THAT HE DIDN'T AGREE
 19 WITH IT.

20 THE COURT: HE DIDN'T?

21 MS. MICHELL: HE DIDN'T AGREE WITH IT BECAUSE HE 22 WANTED $300,000 AND THIS WAS DEBATED AND THEN IT WAS MADE
 23 PRETTY CLEAR TO HIM THERE WASN'T GOING TO BE $300,000 AND HE 24 AGREED TO THE $250,000 AND THEN HE SIGNED IT. AND I MEAN, WE 25 HAD A VERY LENGTHY DISCUSSION AND JUDGE CAMPALAGO WENT THROUGH 26 POINT BY POINT WHAT WAS HAPPENING TO MR. OSIJO IN FRONT OF ALL 27 OF US AND WE ALL CHIMED IN.

28 THE OTHER THING IS, THAT THE JUNE 16TH DISCUSSION I HAD

1 WITH MR. OSIJO WAS NOT AN OFFER FROM MR. PINELLI, IT WAS ME
2 CALLING THE CLIENT SAYING WE'RE HAVING THESE SETTLEMENT
3 DISCUSSIONS. THEY'RE INDICATING TO ME THEY'RE IN THE HUNDREDS
4 OF DOLLARS RANGE. THEY'RE NOT AT THE $500 OFFER. THEY'RE 5 TALKING AT -- REAL MONEY. YOU DON'T HAVE A TWO AND A HALF
6 MILLION DOLLAR INJURY. I CAN'T PROVE THAT UP TO A JURY. WE 7 HAVE TO GET REAL WHERE WE'RE GOING TO BE. I ASKED HIM TO GIVE
8 ME HIS BEST SHOT. I WAS TRYING TO GET HIM DOWN TO 250,000. I
9 THOUGHT THAT WAS A LOW SIDE OF A FAIR SETTLEMENT, AND SO THAT
10 WASN'T AN OFFER THAT TIME. WE ACTUALLY DIDN'T GET THE 250,000
11 UNTIL THE DAY AT J.A.M.S. PRIOR TO THAT, MR. PINELLI HAD 12 OFFERED A HUNDRED SEVENTY-FIVE THOUSAND.

13 MR. PINELLI: A HUNDRED THIRTY-FIVE AND I HAD 14 GIVEN INDICATION THAT MY CLIENT WOULD PROBABLY SETTLE IN THE 15 RANGE OF 175 TO 200. WHEN WE WENT TO THE J.A.M.S., YOUR 16 HONOR, WE DIDN'T HAVE 250 AUTHORITY, WE HAD 200, WE HAD TO GET 17 THE ADDITIONAL THOUSAND.

18 THE COURT: OKAY. WELL, I THINK WE HAVE TO MOVE
19 ON.

20 MR. OSIJO, YOU WANTED TO RESPOND TO SOMETHING?

21 MR. OSIJO: YES, SIR. THE POINT STILL REMAINS. I 22 WAS NOT AWARE BECAUSE IF I KNEW THAT THEY -- THAT JUDICIAL 23 ARBITRATION MITIGATION -- JUDICIAL ARBITRATION IS SOMETHING 24 CORROBORATED -- WAS REQUESTED BY MY ATTORNEY I WOULDN'T GO.
25 THAT PUTS ME IN A COMPROMISING POSITION AND THAT PUTS ME IN 26 THE NEIGHBORHOOD I'M NOT HAPPY ABOUT. I MUST BE IN SAN 27 FRANCISCO AND I KNEW ONE WAY OR THE OTHER IT'S NOT A PLACE FOR 28 ME.

NUMBER TWO, IF ONLY I HAD STEPPED OUT OF THE ROOM FOR AT LEAST 20 MINUTES OR 30 MINUTES OR ONE HOUR, LEAVE ME ALONE TO MYSELF, LET ME THINK BY MYSELF. WHEN I HAVE FOUR PEOPLE ON TOP OF ME AND THEY SAID -- AT FIRST I SAID THAT'S ALL RIGHT. SURRENDER. MR. PINELLI, CAN'T SETTLE. "YOU ACCEPT IT?" "NO." "LET ME KNOW." HE BROUGHT OUT THE PIECE OF PAPER, "READ IT." WHAT CAN I -- I WAS CONFUSED. I HAVE FOUR PEOPLE -- NOW, IF THINGS WERE TO WORK OUT, SHE OUGHT TO BE ON MY SIDE, AT LEAST THAT'S WHAT WE AGREED BETWEEN THE TWO OF US. AND IF I SAID NO, IF WE'RE GOING TO DISAGREE, WE DISAGREE OUTSIDE. IF WE WANT TO DO ANYTHING -- SHE WAS WITH THE REST OF THEM AND I HAVE FOUR PEOPLE, EVEN THE ONE WHO IS SUPPOSED TO BE ON MY SIDE ON ME. I SAID I SURRENDER.

THEY SAID, "NO, YOU CAN'T SURRENDER, YOU HAVE TO ACCEPT IT." I SAID, "ACCEPT IT? LET ME GO READ IT. I WILL UNDERSTAND WHAT'S GOING ON." "NO, YOU CAN'T STEP OUT OF THIS ROOM WITH IT IF IT'S NOT SIGNED."

THE COURT: DID YOU GO TO DINNER?

MR. OSIJO: THANK YOU.

THE COURT: TAKE EVERYBODY TO DINNER?

MS. MICHELL: NO, WE TOOK HIM TO DINNER.

THE COURT: REGARDLESS OF WHO WENT TO DINNER --

MR. OSIJO: MR. PINELLI PAID FOR THE DINNER. I PAID FOR THE BAR TAP.

THE COURT: DID YOU DISCUSS PLEASURE WITH THE AGREEMENT?

MR. OSIJO: WHAT THEY SAY WAS TRUE. I WAS UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT IT WAS MR. PINELLI AND HIS CLIENTS BEHIND

1 ALL THE ARBITRATION AND EVERYTHING. I DID NOT KNOW MY 2 POSITION WAS ALREADY BEING COMPROMISED. MY IMPRESSION, 3 REMEMBER YOU'RE -- THE INSURANCE MAN TOLD ME RIGHT IN FRONT OF 4 EVERYBODY THAT HE WAS THE ONE THAT REQUESTED THIS 5 ARBITRATION. HE'S THE ONE PAYING FOR IT.

6 MS. MICHELL: HE DID.

7 MR. OSIJO: AND, OF COURSE, WHEN THE MAN, I TOOK 8 HIM TO DINNER, TOO, IN FRESNO, THE INSURANCE MAN.

9 THE COURT: I WANT TO REREAD MR. OSIJO'S PAPERS
10 AND THE MATTER WILL STAND SUBMITTED AND WE WILL ADVISE YOU BY 11 MAIL.

12 MR. OSIJO: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

13 THE COURT: MR. OSIJO, YOU SHOULDN'T FEEL, EVEN IF 14 YOUR ATTORNEY REQUESTED THE SETTLEMENT CONFERENCE -- I DON'T 15 KNOW IF SHE DID OR NOT -- SOMEHOW THAT'S NOT IN YOUR BEST
16 INTEREST. WE OFTEN HAVE SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES AND THE CASE
17 GETS SETTLED. SOMETIMES THE ONLY TIME -- IN THE CASE
18 ACCORDING TO MR. PINELLI, THE SETTLEMENT CONFERENCE, IN 19 EFFECT, FORCED HIS PEOPLE TO COME UP WITH SOME MORE MONEY. SO
20 OFTENTIMES PLAINTIFF'S ATTORNEYS WILL SET A SETTLEMENT
21 CONFERENCE AND IT'S ACTUALLY TO THE GREAT BENEFIT OF THE 22 PLAINTIFF. NOW, YOU MAY NOT LIKE THE FINAL AGREEMENT.

23 MR. OSIJO: I HAVE NO PROBLEM WITH THAT EXCEPT I
24 WAS KEPT OUT.

25 THE COURT: I SEE.

26 MR. OSIJO: KEPT OUT, NO INFORMATION, NO DECISION
27 OF MYSELF.

28 MR. PINELLI: I SHOULD POINT OUT ONE LAST THING.

1 I DO WANT TO ADDRESS THAT POINT. MR. OSIJO NEVER ASKED FOR 2 TIME ALONE AT THAT CONFERENCE. IN FACT, IT'S THE EXACT
3 OPPOSITE.

4 THE COURT: WE WILL HAVE TO GO ON AND I WANT TO 5 REREAD HIS DECLARATION. WE'LL ADVISE YOU BY MAIL.

6 MR. OSIJO: THANK YOU, SIR.

21 I, Georgia ann Michell, do declare as follows:

22 1. I am an attorney at law duly licensed in the State of 23 California and am the attorney of record for plaintiff, Wale
24 Osijo, herein.

25 2. I engaged in contracted settlement negotiations with 26 David Pinelli, the attorney for defendants Housing Resources Management, Inc. and Filbert I, LTD. and filbert II, LTD. during the entirety of Spring 1991.

3. In the month of June, 1991, it became clear to me that negotiations were at a stand still. Mr. Pinelli had indicated that he thought the case had a top value of $175,000.00 to $225,000.00 (not explicitly but through strong hints) and I

1 believed the case had a settlement value of $250,000.00 to 2 $350,000.00. An impediment to settlement was the plaintiff who 3 was at the time vacillating between wanting $500,000.00 and 4 $2,500,000.00 to settle this matter.

5 4. In late June, 1991, Mr. Pinelli and I determined that 6 a JAM's settlement conference might speed up the settlement
7 process before hard-core discovery procedures (stayed because of 8 the bankruptcy of defendant HRM) got under way. (It was my 9 opinion, based upon my experience in handling several similar 10 cases that I would expend, on behalf of plaintiff, at least 11 $35,000.00 to $50,000.00 in costs prior to trial for 12 depositions, expert fees and services as well as exhibit
13 preparation.) I felt that an early settlement might be more 14 palatable if both sides were not too heavily invested in the 15 costs of the litigation.

16 5. A JAM's settlement conference was subsequently 17 arranged with Judge Campilongo for July 25, 1991.

18 6. Prior to that conference I had engaged in protracted 19 telephone conversations with plaintiff regarding the value of 20 the case, my evaluation of the chances of prevailing in front of 21 a jury, and the potential costs which would need to be incurred 22 to adequately prepare for trial as well as the advantages of 23 having the security of a settlement and the ability to negotiate
24 with the lien holders.

25 7. On the date of the JAM's settlement conference, I
26 attended with my client.

8. Negotiations took place all through the morning; at

1 noon, I took my client to lunch and discussed the merits of the 2 defendant's offer.

3 9. After lunch, negotiations resumed. One important
4 issue under negotiation was the reimbursement due the Intervenor
5 for medical bills, temporary disability payments made and the 6 $30,000.00 permanent disability award which had not been paid in 7 substantial part. The amounts claimed by the Intervenor were in 8 excess of $50,000.00.

9 10. At each step in the negotiation process, I kept my 10 client informed of the offers being made and the ramification to 11 him of each offer. By late afternoon, when the monetary offer
12 was increased to $250,000.00 and all but $10,000.00 of the lien
13 was waived, Mr. Osijo indicated to me that the various offers
14 were acceptable to him provided he had an opportunity to speak 15 with Judge Campilongo and was able to tell his side of the 16 story.

17 11. At this time, I personally accessed the JAM's word
18 processing department and drafted the Settlement Agreement with 19 the assistance of Mr. Pinelli and Mr. Kizer. The Settlement
20 Agreement so drafted embodied the agreements made that day as I
21 had discussed them with my client.

22 12. Thereafter, all of the attorneys save Mr. Van Dam, the 23 adjuster, plaintiff, and Judge Campilongo assembled in the 24 conference room. We spent the next several hours discussing the 25 injuries sustained by plaintiff; plaintiff showed us his 26 grievous injuries and expressed his distress regarding both his injuries and how he had been treated thereafter. After long

1 discussions wherein all present participated, Mr. Osijo
2 expressed his willingness to agree to the settlement negotiated
3 that date.

4 13. Thereafter, Judge Campilongo presented Mr. Osijo with 5 the typed Settlement Agreement I had prepared and Mr. Osijo (who 6 has completed the schooling necessary to receive an MBA) read
7 the agreement and further discussed the terms and provisions of 8 the agreement with all present.

9 14. After more discussion, Mr. Osijo indicated to all
10 parties that he was in agreement with the Settlement Agreement.
11 Thereafter, the parties present affixed their names thereto.

12 15. Mr. Kizer, Mr. Pinelli, my client and I went to the 13 Big Four Restaurant in the Huntington Hotel. We had a before
14 dinner cocktail and then had dinner. During this dinner, Mr.
15 Osijo continually expressed his satisfaction with the settlement 16 both as to the amount and the terms (especially since the 17 Intervenor was going to pay him an additional $20,000.00 on top 18 of the $250,000.00).

19 16. The evening ended about 10:30 p.m. when Mr. Pinelli
20 and I arranged for Mr. Osijo to have a room at the Huntington so 21 he wouldn't have to drive home that evening.

22 17. At no time during the evening did Mr. Osijo express
23 anything but agreement with the settlement agreement we had all 24 signed that day.

25 18. I was quite shocked the next morning when I received a 26 call from my client indicating that he felt he had been
"tricked" and "snookered" into signing the settlement agreement.

19. Based on the facts of this case and the damages sustained by my client, it is my opinion that $250,000.00 in addition to the compensation benefits which plaintiff has received and will receive is a good settlement of this matter. Given the reality of Proposition 51, it was a strong possibility that plaintiff would have obtained by way of verdict substantially less.

17 1. I am an attorney at law duly licensed in the State of 20 2. On or about August 7, 1991, I traveled to Fresno to 21 meet with Mr. Osijo, the plaintiff herein, to try and obtain his 22 signature on the release required to settle this case.

23 3. I am familiar with the facts of the within case and 24 met with Mr. Osijo over lunch to discuss his sudden aversion to 25 settling the case and signing the release.

26 4. Mr. Osijo did not appear to me to be so upset with the amount of the settlement, but rather to be fixated on the idea

1 of "telling his story to the jury". He indicated that he didn't
2 care if he won or lost at trial, but that honor was to be won in 3 taking the fight to the very end. He seemed to feel that any 4 compromise was "losing face".

5 5. After several hours of discussion with Mr. Osijo, we 6 discussed the fact that Mr. Pinelli had promised that if Mr.
7 Osijo did not sign the release that the defendants would make a
8 664 motion to enforce the settlement. Thereafter, Mr. Osijo
9 indicated to me that if he was ordered to take the settlement by 10 a judge, it would not be as offensive because that was not the 11 same as him agreeing to accept less than his $2,500,000.00
12 demand.

DATE: September 5, 1991

TRIAL DATE: October 25, 1991

20 I, DAVID R. PINELLI, declare as follows:

21 1. I am an attorney duly licensed to practice law before 22 all of the courts in the State of California and am an 23 associate with the law offices of Larson & Burnham,
24 attorneys for Defendants and Cross-complainants, FILBERT I,
25 LTD., FILBERT II, LTD., and HOUSING RESOURCES MANAGEMENT, 26 INC.

2. A voluntary settlement conference was held in this case before the Honorable Judge Victor M. Campilongo, retired, on July 25, 1991, at the JAMS office in San Francisco. The

1 conference commenced at 10:00 a.m. and settlement was achieved
2 late that evening.

3 3. The terms and conditions of the settlement are set
4 forth in the written "Settlement Agreement" which was signed by 5 all the parties, including Mr. Osijo, at the conclusion of the 6 July 25, 1991 conference. (A true and correct copy of
7 the fully-executed "Settlement Agreement" is attached
8 hereto and marked as Exhibit 1; the original "Settlement
9 Agreement" will be produced at the hearing of this
10 motion.)

11 4. Prior to the voluntary settlement conference, I
12 spent an enormous amount of time the previous six months
13 negotiating with Mr. Osijo's attorney, Georgia Ann Michell, in 14 an attempt to settle the case. An impasse occurred in early 15 July, 1991, when Ms. Michell informed me that she would 16 recommend to Mr. Osijo a settlement of no less than 17 $250,000.00. At that time, I believed (and still believe)
18 that the case had a reasonable settlement value falling
19 into a range of $175,000.00 to $225,000.00. Although I
20 did not communicate to Ms. Michell my actual evaluation
21 of the settlement value of the case, I gave her every 22 indication that the range mentioned above was where I
23 thought the case should settle. Ms. Michell suggested
24 that we attend a voluntary settlement conference at JAMS
25 so that the gap in the monies being demanded and offered 26

would be bridged.

5. As noted above, the voluntary settlement conference was presided over by Judge Campilongo. He spent nearly twelve hours helping us to agree on the $250,000.00 settlement figure and helping us to resolve the problems relating to the outstanding liens in the case.

6. Mr. Osijo actively participated in the settlement process through numerous discussions with Ms. Michell. He was fully apprised of and agreed to the terms that were negotiated. The terms and conditions of the settlement were explained to him prior to the drafting of the "Settlement Agreement."

7. Ms. Michell herself prepared the written "Settlement Agreement." One of the conditions of the settlement was that the parties further agreed and stipulated that the agreement would satisfy the requirements of a settlement made pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure, section 664. Mr. Osijo was informed of this provision and its ramifications by Ms. Michell prior to the drafting of the "Settlement Agreement."

8. After the "Settlement Agreement" was prepared, Mr. Osijo, in the presence of all the attorneys and Judge Campilongo (save and except for Mr. Van Dam, who had to leave the conference prior to its conclusion), discussed the merits

1 of the agreement and displayed his injuries. Mr. Osijo then
2 openly indicated acceptance of the agreement. Thereafter, Mr.
3 Osijo read the agreement, discussed it at length with all
4 present and then signed it.

5 9. Mr. Osijo was not coerced or harassed into signing
6 the agreement. He knew of and fully understood and agreed to 7 the terms of the settlement prior to executing the agreement.
8 He appeared to be extremely satisfied with the agreement
9 and appeared very happy that the case had been resolved.
10 Indeed, following the conference, he requested me to 11 accompany him to a restaurant to celebrate the resolution of 12 the case.

13 10. I in fact invited Mr. Osijo and his attorney, Ms.
14 Michell, and David Kizer, the attorney who represented the 15 Intervenor, to dinner at the Huntington Hotel in San Francisco.
16 During the course of our dinner, which lasted approximately two
17 and one-half hours, Mr. Osijo expressed to me his great
18 satisfaction with the settlement and his relief that he could 19 put the litigation behind him. At no point in time, either at 20 the settlement conference when he agreed to the terms of the 21 "Settlement Agreement" or at dinner did Mr. Osijo express any 22 reservations regarding the settlement. To say the least, I was 23 quite shocked when I learned that Mr. Osijo wished to breach
24 the agreement.

25 ///

26 ///

1 11. Following the settlement conference, I have had
2 several discussions with Mr. Osijo's attorney regarding the
3 terms and conditions of the agreement and the fairness of the 4 settlement. Ms. Michell is in total agreement with me that the
5 settlement achieved was extremely fair to Mr. Osijo and, in
6 fact, an outright victory for him. As I stated above, although 7 I believed that the case had a settlement value of no more than 8 $225,000.00, I nevertheless recommended to my principal to 9 agree to the $250,000.00 figure because it was in the 10 "ballpark."

11 12. In sum, it is my opinion that the settlement
12 agreement achieved was extremely reasonable for Mr. Osijo.
13 More importantly, and despite what Mr. Osijo may feel at 14 this time, he completely endorsed the terms of the "Settlement
15 Agreement" at the time he executed the written "Settlement
16 Agreement." There was absolutely no hesitation on his part
17 nor did he communicate misgivings when he signed the 18 Agreement.

 conference commenced at 10:00 a.m. and settlement was achieved
 late that evening.

1 conference commenced at 10:00 a.m. and settlement was achieved
2 late that evening.

3 3. The terms and conditions of the settlement are set
4 forth in the written "Settlement Agreement" which was signed by
5 all the parties, including Mr. Osijo, at the conclusion of the
6 July 25, 1991 conference. (A true and correct copy of
7 the fully-executed "Settlement Agreement" is attached
8 hereto and marked as Exhibit 1; the original "Settlement
9 Agreement" will be produced at the hearing of this
10 motion.)

11 4. Prior to the voluntary settlement conference, I
12 spent an enormous amount of time the previous six months
13 negotiating with Mr. Osijo's attorney, Georgia Ann Michell, in 14 an attempt to settle the case. An impasse occurred in early
15 July, 1991, when Ms. Michell informed me that she would 16 recommend to Mr. Osijo a settlement of no less than 17 $250,000.00. At that time, I believed (and still believe)
18 that the case had a reasonable settlement value falling
19 into a range of $175,000.00 to $225,000.00. Although I
20 did not communicate to Ms. Michell my actual evaluation
21 of the settlement value of the case, I gave her every
22 indication that the range mentioned above was where I
23 thought the case should settle. Ms. Michell suggested
24 that we attend a voluntary settlement conference at JAMS
25 so that the gap in the monies being demanded and offered
26

1 would be bridged.

2 5. As noted above, the voluntary settlement
3 conference was presided over by Judge Campilongo. He 4 spent nearly twelve hours helping us to agree on the 5 $250,000.00 settlement figure and helping us to resolve 6 the problems relating to the outstanding liens in 7 the case.

8 6. Mr. Osijo actively participated in the 9 settlement process through numerous discussions with 10 Ms. Michell. He was fully apprised of and agreed to 11 the terms that were negotiated. The terms and conditions 12 of the settlement were explained to him prior to the 13 drafting of the "Settlement Agreement."

14 7. Ms. Michell herself prepared the written 15 "Settlement Agreement." One of the conditions of the 16 settlement was that the parties further agreed and 17 stipulated that the agreement would satisfy the requirements
18 of a settlement made pursuant to California Code of Civil 19 Procedure, section 664. Mr. Osijo was informed of this 20 provision and its ramifications by Ms. Michell prior 21 to the drafting of the "Settlement Agreement."

22 8. After the "Settlement Agreement" was prepared,
23 Mr. Osijo, in the presence of all the attorneys and Judge
24 Campilongo (save and except for Mr. Van Dam, who had to leave 25 the conference prior to its conclusion), discussed the merits
26

1 of the agreement and displayed his injuries. Mr. Osijo then
2 openly indicated acceptance of the agreement. Thereafter, Mr.
3 Osijo read the agreement, discussed it at length with all
4 present and then signed it.

5 9. Mr. Osijo was not coerced or harassed into signing
6 the agreement. He knew of and fully understood and agreed to 7 the terms of the settlement prior to executing the agreement.
8 He appeared to be extremely satisfied with the agreement,
9 and appeared very happy that the case had been resolved.
10 Indeed, following the conference, he requested me to 11 accompany him to a restaurant to celebrate the resolution of 12 the case.

13 10. I in fact invited Mr. Osijo and his attorney, Ms.
14 Michell, and David Kizer, the attorney who represented the 15 Intervenor, to dinner at the Huntington Hotel in San Francisco.
16 During the course of our dinner, which lasted approximately two
17 and one-half hours, Mr. Osijo expressed to me his great
18 satisfaction with the settlement and his relief that he could 19 put the litigation behind him. At no point in time, either at 20 the settlement conference when he agreed to the terms of the 21 "Settlement Agreement" or at dinner did Mr. Osijo express any 22 reservations regarding the settlement. To say the least, I was 23 quite shocked when I learned that Mr. Osijo wished to breach
24 the agreement.

25 ///

26 ///

113

1 11. Following the settlement conference, I have had
 2 several discussions with Mr. Osijo's attorney regarding the
 3 terms and conditions of the agreement and the fairness of the 4 settlement. Ms. Michell is in total agreement with me that the
 5 settlement achieved was extremely fair to Mr. Osijo and, in
 6 fact, an outright victory for him. As I stated above, although 7 I believed that the case had a settlement value of no more than 8 $225,000.00, I nevertheless recommended to my principal to 9 agree to the $250,000.00 figure because it was in the 10 "ballpark."

11 12. In sum, it is my opinion that the settlement
 12 agreement achieved was extremely reasonable for Mr. Osijo.
 13 More importantly, and despite what Mr. Osijo may feel at 14 this time, he completely endorsed the terms of the "Settlement
 15 Agreement" at the time he executed the written "Settlement
 16 Agreement." There was absolutely no hesitation on his part
 17 nor did he communicate misgivings when he signed the 18 Agreement.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR ENFORCEMENT OF JUDGMENT

I. FACTS

In October 1988, plaintiff sustained gunshot wounds while employed as a security guard at the Acorn Apartment complex located in Oakland, California. At the time of the incident, plaintiff was employed as a security guard by Prostaff Security Services. The apartment complex where plaintiff was injured was owned by Filbert I and Filbert II, and managed by Housing Resources Management.

Plaintiff subsequently filed suit against Prostaff, Filbert I and Filbert II, and Housing Resources Management.

("HRM"). Substantial written discovery took place, as well as the deposition of the plaintiff.

Settlement discussions began between David R. Pinelli, attorney for Filbert I and Filbert II and HRM, and plaintiff's attorney. Numerous discussion took place between January 1991 and July 1991.

As of July 1991, it was apparent that the discussions had reached an impasse. It was agreed that the parties could benefit from a settlement conference. Plaintiff's attorney arranged for a settlement conference through the Judicial Arbitration and Mediation Services, Inc. ("JAMS") on July 25, 1991.

The conference took place on that date before Honorable Judge Victor M. Campilongo, retired. Attorneys for all of the parties, as well as the plaintiff, began the conference at approximately 10:00 a.m. A settlement was achieved later in the evening.

During the conference, plaintiff had numerous discussions with his attorney. He was fully informed of all of the terms of the settlement which were negotiated on his behalf. Near the end of the conference, his attorney prepared a written document entitled "Settlement Agreement." It was stipulated among the parties that this agreement would satisfy the requirements of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to judicially supervised settlements.

After the "settlement agreement" was prepared, plaintiff, in the presence of all the attorneys, and Judge Campilongo, discussed the merits of the agreement. Plaintiff also displayed his injuries to all those present. Plaintiff then openly indicated his acceptance of the agreement. Plaintiff then read the agreement, discussed it again at length with all present, and then signed the same in front of all the parties and Judge Campilongo.

Plaintiff reviewed the completed document, and signed the same in front of all of the parties and Judge Campilongo.

The plaintiff was aware of, fully comprehended and agreed to the terms of the settlement prior to signing the document. In fact, plaintiff appeared very satisfied with the agreement, and invited the parties to join him at a restaurant to celebrate the resolution of the case.

During the course of this dinner, plaintiff repeatedly expressed his satisfaction with the agreement. At no point during the conference or during the celebration dinner, did plaintiff express any reservations regarding the settlement.

On July 26, 1991, plaintiff prepared a letter, which was sent to all counsel. In this letter he claims he did not agree with settlement, and felt that he was "tricked" into signing the agreement. Since receiving that letter, plaintiff's counsel has consulted with her client, who has reiterated his refusal to sign the standard release agreement, as specified in the "settlement agreement."

II. LEGAL AUTHORITIES

A. California Code of Civil Procedure
Authorizes The Court To Enter Judgment
Pursuant To The Terms Of A Settlement
Agreement.

Code of Civil Procedure section 664.6 states

If parties to pending litigation stipulate, in writing or orally before the court, for settlement of the case, or part thereof, the court, upon motion, may enter judgment pursuant to the terms of the settlement.

Numerous cases have interpreted section 664.6 to enforce settlements when a party has later attempted to rescind.

The litigants in Corkland v. Bosco (1984) 156 Cal.App.3d 989, submitted a written settlement agreement to the court. One of the parties subsequently filed a motion to compel enforcement of the agreement. The court noted the intent of the legislature in enacting Code of Civil Procedure section 664.6, and stated that the right to bring the motion to enforce is applicable not only to judicially supervised settlement conferences, but to stipulations as settlement in writing or orally before the court intending litigation. Id. at 994.

It is the duty of the court in deciding upon a section 664.6 motion to determine that the parties entered into a valid and binding settlement of all or part of the case. In making this determination, the court, in the sound exercise of discretion, may consider oral testimony or may determine the motion upon declarations alone. Corkland at 994.

The courts have enforced the agreement, even if the settlement is not manifested by a writing. For example, in Richardson v. Richardson (1986) 180 Cal.App.3d 91, a husband and wife attended a mandatory settlement conference to settle the financial terms of their dissolution. They reached an oral settlement before the judge, who presided over the conference. When the wife later attempted to reduce the agreement to writing, the husband disputed several material terms of the agreement. The wife brought a motion, which was granted by the court.

The court in Richardson noted that, while there was no written agreement, the court could rely on the recollections of the settlement conference judge regarding the terms of the settlement. The facts in Richardson indicated that there was a mutual consent to the oral settlement, despite the later protestation of the husband.

In the instant case, it is clear from the supporting declarations submitted by David R. Pinelli and Judge Campilongo that a settlement was reached at the JAMS conference on July 25, 1991. Plaintiff was actively involved in all of the negotiations, and conferred frequently with his attorney. His attorney explained all of the terms of the settlement, which were later reduced to the "settlement agreement," and signed by all parties including plaintiff. All of these negotiations took place in front of Judge Campilongo, who presided over the entire conference. Judge Campilongo also explained the provisions to the plaintiff, to ensure that he had full knowledge of what he was signing.

Plaintiff clearly assented to the settlement agreement at the JAMS conference. Further, after the conference, he repeatedly expressed his satisfaction with the settlement. At no time during the entire conference or dinner did plaintiff indicate that he felt pressured or coerced into signing the document. In fact, he appeared to be relieved that the litigation was behind him.

It was not until the next day that he notified all of the parties by letter, claiming he had been "tricked" into the settlement.

Thus, it is clear from of the evidence presented that there was a "meeting of the minds" as to the terms of the settlement. The written agreement reflected the culmination of the oral negotiations, and was drafted in accordance with Code of Civil Procedure section 664.

B. Public Policy Supports The Enforcement Of This Motion.

There is a strong public policy in California towards favoring settlements because they diminish the expense and persistence of litigation. Hastings v. Matlocks (1985) 171 Cal.App.3d 826, 837. In the instant action, all of the parties agree to attend a JAMS conference, in order to facilitate settlement.

No party was coerced into attending the conference. In fact, it was agreed that, given previous six months of negotiations, that the parties were close enough in their respective terms that all interested parties could benefit from

Claimant's Motion For Clarification

Claimant, Adebowale O. Osijo, MBA, respectfully motions the Court for clarification of the followings:

1. On What Date Was The Settlement Check Cashed?

Claimant respectfully asks the Referee and the Liquidator, in his response to this motion, to please state the date that the settlement check was cashed by Attorney Michell-Langsam. A copy of the canceled settlement check was provided to the Court by the Liquidator in his Section 15 Submission, as Exhibit H, titled as: "Copy of the settlement draft, number 51990219, Issued by the Home Insurance Companies, dated July 26, 1991, in the amount of $250,000."

The back of the canceled check stated that it was cashed by Attorney Michell-Langsam, on July 30, 1991. Honorable Referee Gehris and/or the Honorable Liquidator, by and through his attorney of record, Mr. Eric Smith, please state affirmatively if both or either of you saw a different date on the back of the cancelled settlement check.

The "Order On The Merits," filed on November 5, 2009, did not state the date the settlement check was cashed. This is the gravamen of the Claimant's cause in this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding

2. Where Is A Copy Of Attorney Michell-Langsam's Noticed Motion For Permission To Cash Check & Dispose Of Settlement Funds To Herself?

Claimant does not have, and, has never had a copy of Attorney Michell-Langsam's noticed Motion for Permission to cash the settlement check on July 30, 1991, and immediately dispose of the settlement proceed to herself, for her own use and purposes, without the Claimant's knowledge or consent. It is not in the record of this Insurance Liquidation Proceeding, nor is it in the record of the personal injury action in the Superior Court of California, Alameda County. The Defendants in the personal injury action motioned the Court to enforce settlement on August 15, 1991.

Claimant respectfully ask the Referee or the Liquidator to provide him with, or refer him to where he can obtain a copy of the motion filed by Attorney Michell-Langsam in the Superior Court of California, Alameda County, in the matter of Osijo v Housing Resources Management, Inc., Prostaff Security Services, Inc., Acorn I, Ltd., and Acorn II, Ltd., Case No. C-649881, for permission "... to proceed with the actions necessary to complete the settlement, including cashing the settlement check and distributing the settlement funds. By doing so, she was following the Court's Order. It was based on that Order that Attorney Michell-Langsam had authority to carry out the settlement" as stated on page 2, second to the last paragraph, last three sentences, of the Referee's Order, filed on November 5, 2009?

Please bear in mind that no Court in the entire United States of America can issue any order, without a noticed motion, and with an opportunity to be fully and fairly heard, in a reasonable manner, under the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of The United States of America, and the California Constitution.

3. Where Exactly Did The Order On The Defendants' Motion To Enforce Settlement, Of October 10, 1991, Authorized Attorney Mitchell-Langsam To Settle Claimant's Personal Injury Action On July 30, 1991?

Claimant respectfully ask the Referee or the Liquidator to refer him to where exactly in the one page "Order On Defendants' Motion To Enforce Settlement," of October 10, 1991, (Liquidator's Exhibit I), or in the Transcript of Hearing of September 5, 1991, that it "... Required Attorney Mitchell-Langsam to proceed with the actions necessary to complete the settlement, including cashing the settlement check and distributing the settlement funds," either by Implication or expression?, as stated by the Referee in the November 5, 2009, Order, page 2, second to the last paragraph, last three sentences.

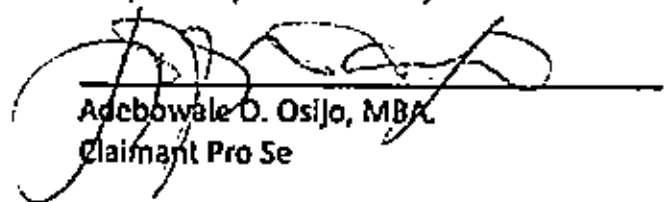

Claimant has read the "Order on Defendants' Motion to Enforce Settlement," and the Transcript of Hearing, over and over again, to which he cannot find such statement, either by Implication or expression in the one page order. Please help!

4. Conclusion

Claimant respectfully asks the Honorable Gehrts and the Liquidator, through his attorney to provide the foregoing clarification, to avoid prejudice, bias, unfairness and due process violation by this Insurance Liquidation Court.

Dated this 8th day of November, in the year 2009.

LIQUIDATOR'S OPPOSITION TO CLAIMANT'S MOTION FOR CLARIFICATION

Roger A. Sevigny, Insurance Commissioner, as Liquidator ("Liquidator") of The Home Insurance Company ("Home"), hereby opposes the motion for clarification filed by Claimant Adebowale O. Osijo, MBA ("Claimant"). As reasons therefor, the Liquidator states:

1. In the motion for clarification, Claimant asks questions concerning the date the settlement check was cashed, a motion for "permission" to cash the check, and language authorizing action on July 30, 1991. These questions only seek to reargue matters addressed by the Liquidator and decided adversely to Claimant in the Referee's Order on the Merits.

2. In his Section 15 Submission, the Liquidator explained why the final judgment in the HRM Action and the final order denying the motion to reopen preclude the Claimant from attacking the settlement, whether based on new or previously advanced arguments. Liquidator's Section 15 Submission at 9-16. The questions raised in the motion are merely examples of arguments that are precluded by the final judgment.

3. In the Order on the Merits, the Referee held that the California Superior Court's final order enforcing the settlement authorized Attorney Mitchell-Langsam to carry out the settlement, and that res judicata precludes Claimant from relitigating his claims here. Order on the Merits at 2-3. The Referee thus rejected Claimant's arguments. There is no reason to respond to particularized questions that seek to raise those arguments in slightly varied form.

WHEREFORE, the Referee should deny Claimant's Motion for Clarification.
